

THE NAME OF WILSON.

Wilson means the son of William. The family are said to have descended from a prince of Denmark, and were established at a very remote period in the Orkney islands, intermarrying with the clans of Monro, and others. After a long continuance in the north, alliances taking place with some of the principal lowland families, Wilsons moved southward.

The old Norse vili, and the corresponding old Saxon wiljo, Anglo-Saxon willo, denote not only inclination, "voluntas and votum," but also "Impetus and spiritus," the power that sets the will in motion.

From the personification of the will this title of Odin, like that before referred to of the wish, comes probably Wilo, as an ancient German; and Wille, Willing, as modern German family names.

Our name Wills, with its patronymics, Wilson and Willing (ingson or descendant) corresponds with the German, the "s" being the more euphonic addition.

The motto of the family is Wilsone Will.

THE FIRST OF THE NAME OF WILSON IN AMERICA.

One of the first settlers of New England was Benjamin Wilson, who came to Charlestown, Mass., in 1657.

There was an Edward Wilson of Salem, Mass., who bequeathed his estate to his brothers, Thomas and William.

Henry Wilson was a proprietor of Dedham, Mass., in 1640.

Lambert Wilson was engaged by the Massachusetts Bay Company as a chief surgeon in 1629.

Rev. John Wilson was engaged as a minister to come to New England. He began to preach at Charlestown in 1630; and helped to organize a church and was made its teacher. He soon afterward became a minister. He bequeathed his estate to his children and grandchildren.

Nathaniel Wilson was an early planter of Roxbury, Mass. He made John Wilson his attorney. He had five sons, Nathaniel, Joseph, Benjamin, Isaac and Samuel.

Theophilus Wilson was a proprietor of Ipswich, Mass., in 1637.

Thomas Wilson arrived in New England in 1633, and settled at Roxbury as a miller. In his will he bequeathed his estate of his wife and children.

William Wilson, joiner and planter of Boston, Mass., was a keeper of a prison in Boston. In his will his estate was bequeathed to his wife, who left it to be divided between her children at her death.

THE WILSONS IN AMERICA.

A thorough perusal of the following life sketches of noted Wilsons, eminent in all walks of life, will reveal the fact that the Wilsons have been actively and intimately associated with ecclesiastical, civil, industrial and commercial affairs of America; and to become conversant with their history will naturally create in our children a source of pride in the name of Wilson heretofore unappreciated.

As builders and merchants they have built cities and illumined the marts of trade; in the field of science and medicine they have obtained great prominence; in the arena of statesmanship they have produced men of thought and men of action; while at the bar and in the administration of justice they have shown erudition and wisdom. As clergymen, educators and lecturers they have occupied high places; as musicians, composers and artists they have contributed profusely to social life; and as authors and poets they are worthy to be crowned with a laurel wreath of fame. Also as heroes of colonial, Revolutionary and later wars they have rendered patriotic service, each one of whom has added luster to the name of Wilson.

WILSON, ADAIR, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Nov. 16, 1841, in Saline county, Mo. He served four years as a member of the Colorado state senate; and in 1875-76 was president of council in the last legislature of Colorado territory. He is now president judge of the Colorado state court of appeals.

His first patent bears the date of Nov. 12, 1850, and is the fifteenth on the patent office record for an improved sewing-machine. The first machine, completed early in 1851, was sold for one hundred and twenty-five dollars; and for a time this output was limited to eight or ten machines a week. The demand soon increased, and they removed to Bridgeport; there they established the largest factory of its kind in the world, making six hundred machines a day. He died April 29, 1888, in Woodmont, Conn.

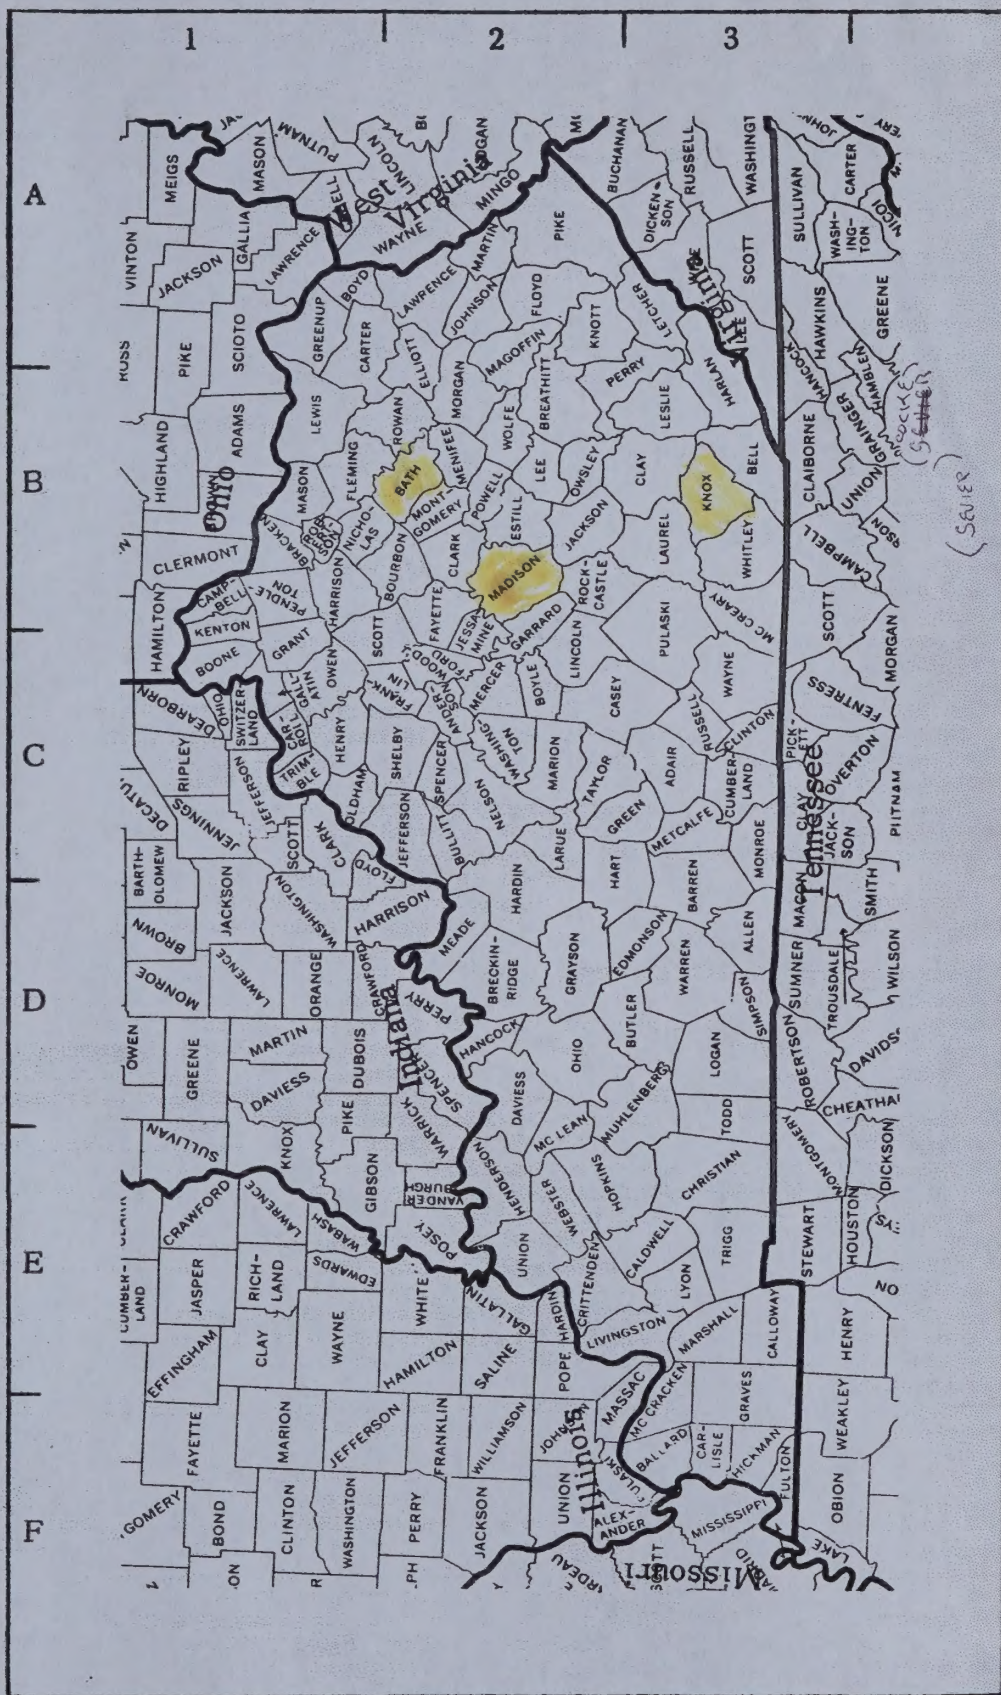

WILSON, ASA C., physician, surgeon, was born Nov. 17, 1847, in Shalersville, Ohio. In 1882 he graduated from the University of Wooster at Cleveland, Ohio. Canton, Spoutown, Farmington largest cities on this map - not a few very small communities.

Another installment of the popular Spoon River Scenic Drive will get underway Saturday. The drive will be held throughout Fulton and part of Knox county all this weekend and Oct. 10-11. This map shows the main drive of the drive. Canton, also not on the main part of the drive, is participating both weekends.

Scenic Drive to begin

The Spoon River Scenic Drive Fall Festival opens this weekend with more than 300 vendors and displays along the Fulton County segment of Spoon River Valley.

The festival will continue for the first two weekends of October. There will be four entry points — Farmington, London Mills, Ipava and Waterloo (Dickson Mounds).

Edgar Lee Masters' Lewistown will feature three areas — the Presbyterian Church, the Rasmussen Blacksmith Shop and the Fulton County

Fairgrounds. The Episcopal Church, which is on the National Register of Historic Sites, will be open for the festival.

Willard Sheets, Lewistown chairman and Spoon River Associates president, reported a large number of displays will be at the Fulton County Fairgrounds and there will be a new wheelchair entry at the Rasmussen Blacksmith Shop.

Ipava will feature a quilt and needlework display at the Presbyterian Church where there will also be a silent auction of a handmade quilt. In the downtown area there will be vendors and the New Hope Cluster, a group of seven churches of the Disciples of Christ from seven towns, will have breakfast, lunch and take-home meats. Smoked turkey and sausages will be featured.

Smithfield plans for crafts, collection and refurbished antiques and there will be a wide variety of foods and produce to eat at the site or take home. A visit to the old "calaboose" will serve to remind visitors of the short shirt given lawbreakers of the past. Dickson Mounds Museum will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. displaying archaeology of the Illinois Indian.

Some 10,000 programs give a full listing of sites and vendors, as well as activities and a historical guide. They will be available at major points along the Scenic Drive. All vendor sites are free and most will have free entertainment.

For more festival information, persons may call 309-293-2143.

Country doctor

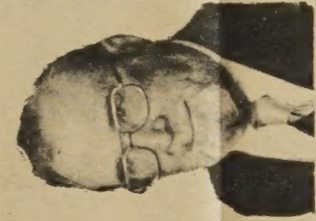

Scenic Drive a tradition offering much to many

By J. K. WELCH, M.D.

Nine years ago we had just come back from a month's stay in London and a long ride on the great ship, Queen Elizabeth II. It was quite a trip for two dwellers from the woods and cornfields. We had only caught our breath and gotten back into the problems of a country medical practice when it was time for the Spoon River Scenic Drive.

There was a site that year on my sister's farm near Bernadotte. They had a large tent put up in a flat field at the foot of a great hill. Nearly 20 years before my brother-in-law and I had planted some 25,000 pine trees on that bare hill. It was now a beautiful, cool, green woods. In those woods my sister, during the drive, put on one of the best enactments of Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology" that I have ever seen.

We decided to have an exhibit on organic gardening. We hauled out everything from plant lights to straw bales and garden tractors. During the weekends I talked to hundreds of interested people. Some came for a argument and we had it. There weren't as many people interested in organic gardening and farming, ecology, conservation and a poison-free environment then as there are now.

This year we are going to try it again. Our location will be on the west side of the village square in Cuba, in front of and in the Masonic Lodge. This site does not have the natural beauty of the open country, but I believe we have more interesting articles to display. Most importantly we shall have more local people to discuss organic ideas and their ecological relationships. That is what the whole thing is ultimately about — people.

On both Sundays there will be a German Band playing around the park, a real Herr Looie, Umpah-Tweede Dee, breakdown Hungry Five — or more. I will be contributing my share of the noise on my old and somewhat rusty clarinet. I am glad to report also that my wife will at long last be publicly displaying what a racket and uproar she can create if she's a mind to. The leader, in real life, a really fine bandman and musician, lately come to grief in this endeavor, is Bill Herink of Wee-Ma-Tuk. We may at times play only one flat when there are actually three but what we lack in skill and pure tones we try to make up with stubborn enthusiasm.

I believe the Spoon River Drive has become a fine tradition. We should all support it. It is a glimpse into other times and at our ancestors who forged the iron and steel of our values that are still there, covered up though they may be with other things. The Spoon River

WILSON

It is estimated that in Ireland the name Wilson is the most numerous of all English surnames on record. In England the name is also one of the most common and records of the name can be traced as far back as 1324 when the name of Robert Willeeson is recorded.

The personal name William, from which Wilson is derived, reached great heights of popularity in England after the Norman Conquest. As a natural result, many surnames developed from this personal name. Among the various patronymic surnames with this origin, all of which mean "son or descendant of William" we find Williams, Williamson, Wilcox, Wilkins, and Wilson.

Adam Wyllson was listed as a resident of Yorkshire in 1379 and records further indicate that Wilsons resided at Broomhead from the time of Edward I until the 18th century. In northern Scotland the Wilsons were considered a sept of the Clan Gunn.

Wilson's were among the earliest settlers in the New World and the Rev. John Wilson from Wellsbourne in Lincolnshire, England, settled in Boston in 1635, and Dr. Robert Wilson was a resident of Charleston, S.C. in 1755.

History also tells us that a Wilson was responsible for the nickname "Uncle Sam" which is frequently applied to the United States. The nickname has been traced back to Samuel "Uncle Sam" Wilson, a meat inspector for a government contractor in the War of 1812, who stamped the barrels of meat he inspected with the initials "U.S."

Other noteworthy Wilsons include Harold Wilson, the British Prime Minister; Charles Wilson, U.S. Secretary of Defense during the Eisenhower Administration; and Woodrow Wilson, 28th President of the United States, who received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1919 for his efforts towards world peace.

on 1789 Day List Madison Co. Ky

government included the ship and captain's names, ports of departure and arrival, date of arrival, and passengers' name, age, gender, occupation and nationality. To help you determine if the John Brown you're looking at is the one who belongs in your family tree, look at the names of other passengers who traveled with him. Are any of them family members or other names you recognize from family records? Also review occupation, ages and other details. Lastly, compare information about the journey and the ship to records that were created after coming to America. A naturalization record or a family story may mention the ship name or the exact arrival date.

I'm certain my ancestor's passenger list is missing.

Be persistent. There's a chance your ancestor's passenger list is not part of the passenger list collection YET. But it could also turn out that a foreign name, pre-Americanized spelling, maiden name or other details are making the search more difficult. Try other search techniques, including searching by criteria (remove the name and search based on arrival date, port of departure, country of origin and other facts). Or put your passenger-list search aside for a while as you search for other details about your family. Then, when you search again, you may be armed with just the information and tricks you need to quickly uncover the passenger list you've been looking for.

Ancestry Census Form 004

COX AND HUTCHENS (HUTCHINS) OF
VIRGINIA & NORTH CAROLINA

William Cox, b. 1598, d. before 1656, came to America in the "Goodspeed", 1610, and is believed to be the immigrant ancestor in Virginia. Descendants of this family concur in this statement. Mrs. Ella Foy O'Gorman, Washington, D. C., a descendant of Richard Cox through his son Henry, after years of patient investigation, agrees. So also does Judge Edwin P. Cox, of Richmond, Va., a student of the family records, who descends through George Cox, son of John Cox.

WILLIAM COX was granted 100 acres in Elizabeth City County on 9/20/1628. He had a grand of 150 acres in Henrico Co., on the James River, 11/29/1636, two and a half miles above Harroe Addocks, with wife Elizabeth. On 9/1/1642, he bought 250 acres in partnership with Isaac Hutchins, at the mouth of Falling Creek, along the James River. On 8/5/1665 Thomas Cox, son and heir of William Cox, sold half of this 250 acres. Harroe Addocks, or Arrohateck, was five or six miles above Dutch Gap. The grant in 1636 was possibly not far from the mouth of Falling Creek. William Cox was the father of JOHN COX, who was the father of RICHARD COX. John Cox's will, dated 2/10/1691, Henrico Co., named as his heirs his six sons: John, William, Bartholomew, Richard, Henry, George, and wife Mary. One 4/1/1685, John Cox., of Harroe Addocks, had made a deed to his son William. (Ref: "Four Generations of Strangeman Hutchins and his wife Elizabeth Cox", by Mrs. E.C. Crider.)

RICHARD COX, son of John Cox, m. Mary Trent, dau. of Henry Trent and his wife Elizabeth. Elizabeth Trent, b. ca. 1657, was the dau. of Henry and Cisly Sherman. Cisly Sherman was previously married to Isaac Hutchins, whose will made in Henrico Co. 2/23/1656, named as his heirs his minor son Robert Hutchins and his wife Cisly, (Sisely). Henry Trent, in his will made in Henrico Co. 1/8/1700, named as his heirs Alexander Trent, Henry Trent, John Trent, William Trent, Mary Cox, wife of Richard Cox, Rebecca Trent,

Bonus clue: Additional notes

Read everything on a passenger list, even the scribbles between the lines. These could be details about health or medical conditions, relationships, special inquiries and more. The following list has an interesting note on it: Diaferia. Further research uncovered that Diaferia was the passenger's maiden name – a bonus discovery!

Vertes Edwin, and a daughter, Hope. I'll try not to bore you with anymore of my family, because a few of these aforementioned are unknowns even to me.

I am simply aware that they are Anderson relations...thought you might have gone to school with some of them.

You have sort of awakened areas to my brain that have been sleeping for decades. I've been attempting to remember which Christian minister it was that so often ministered to the family. Ben Merold or Lanis ?? Kinneman ??.

I know my mother loved them both. Unfortunately, I was raised with so many revivals as a child...that it has been pleasure to forget some of these preachers that kept me awake for a week at a time on school nights.

I, too, receive the Weekly Times. One of my high school buddies and a former rural neighbor at Crossville is the editor, Barry Cleveland. Sometimes I connect with him for genealogy as he is reminded of these old families and their descendants daily. Charlene Shields writes the genealogy column and is my former high school teacher and a lifelong family friend. She, too, was a Cleveland and has connections to the Hunsingers. Have you ever visited the White County Genealogical or Historical Society? I haven't been there for several years, but I would think it would be a good source for information, and the site to learn the names of others in the community that are researching a particular family.

Thank you for all the information and your willingness to share. It has been a bit disconcerting that in the few days of our communication...and thinking of people that I hadn't thought of for years...one is on the front page of the paper (appearing non too well) and two others have had their obituaries written. Do you think there is some form of prescience occurring here? Your days at the cottage seem idyllic...it is interesting how life has its seasons...and how in the end we 'carry on'. I hope you're having a mild winter...Anderson winters always seemed so unpredictable. Keep in touch.

Peace! Joy! Happiness!

Oct. 3, 1844, to Adeline Atheran, a daughter of one of the old settlers of Deerfield tp. Mr. W. was engaged in cooperage and farming until 1846, when he moved to his present location one mile south of Canton, where he has a fine farm. He has been a member of the Baptist Church at Canton for 25 years, and Deacon for 24 years. His wife has borne him 9 children, 8 of whom are living: Mary E. married James Tallman and lives in Ohio; Wm. H. lives in Canton tp. Miranda E. and Benjamin live in Kokomo, Ind.; Sarah J., Addie G., Elmer T. and John M. live with their parents; Frank was killed by accident at the age of 14. Esther Mary Wilson, a sister of J. B., came to this county in 1835 and married Orrin Turner and died Feb. 9m 1846, leaving 2 children, Mary and John, both of whom were raised by Mr. W. (History of Fulton County, C. C. Thomas W. Wilson, a man universally popular, and one who has achieved great success in life, furnishes the subject for the present sketch, and we are pleased to represent such a public-spirited and courteous gentleman in our ALBUM. Many years ago David Wilson was born in the State of Tennessee, and after a prosperous period of farming in his native place, moved to the Blue Grass State, settling in Knox County, afterward removing to Harrison County, Ind., where he died. He was the grandfather of our subject, and a man well calculated to give noble principles to the younger members of his household. At the time he removed to Kentucky, his son, Joseph, father of our subject, was a lad of ten summers, and there he continued to reside up to the time he reached his twentieth year. He then went with the family to Harrison County, Ind., making the trip by wagon through a wild country, and being numbered among the pioneers at that place. He purchased land in the woods, where he built a rude log cabin, and commenced to clear the land preparatory to cultivating the soil. He soon had his one hundred and sixty acres under good cultivation, and continued to make that his home until 1855, at which date he sold his estate and removed to Fulton County, making this trip by way of the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, and in this county he died after attaining his eighty-third year. He was married in 1833, to Miss Mary Rogers, a native of Virginia, and to them were born two children, viz: Thomas, our subject, and Margaret, who is now Mrs. Amos Kinzer, and resides in Sedgwick, Kan.

Mr. Wilson at an early age attended school, and received all the educational advantages possible in those days when the schoolhouses were rude, and the information imparted in them was meagre indeed. Indiana at that time possessed none of the advanced ideas that at the present time make it a popular place for educational matters. He worked on a farm through the summer, thus becoming familiar with the duties of agricultural life, and when twenty years of age, he moved to Fulton County, where he bought one hundred and twenty acres of land on section 6, Kerton Township. The land was not cultivated, and nature ran riot, so he had a great deal of hard work to clear the ground, and bring his property to its present value. He built a log cabin 18x20 feet in dimensions, and has continued from time to time, both to improve and add to his farm. He purchased fifty-eight acres of river-bottom land on section 4, in 1888. Besides farming he is interested in stock-raising, and is regarded as a most progressive and energetic farmer.

Our subject on the 15th of February, 1855, married Miss Martha A. Deweese, of Harrison County, Ind., whose birth occurred December 11, 1839, and who is a daughter of John Deweese. Her father was a native of Kentucky, removed to Indiana at an early date, and at the present writing is making his home in Kansas with his son. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are the happy parents of eighteen children, viz.: Sarah P., Joseph W., John W., Mary S., Margaret E., Charles S., Amos L., Lafayette, Nandora, Emmett C., Laura B., Louis E., Mattie, Hayes, Thomas J., Gertrude, Abbie G., and Roscoe C.

Mrs. Wilson has been a faithful member of the Methodist Church since girlhood, and is a lovely Christian woman, and one very popular with all who know her. Mr. Wilson is a member of the Republican party. He has held many offices of public trust, having served as Road Commissioner, School Trustee, and Collector for this township. Indeed, his popularity is great, and extends throughout great deal of the time. I loved her dearly as she served as my surrogate maternal grandmother. She was a little over the top when it came to religion and politics...the Pope and Democrats received her wrath...I sometimes wondered if she voted for 'Bill'.

My grandmother Hodge was called Marthie. She was a teacher, but I don't remember the schools at which she taught...I think she was still teaching at one room country schools into the '30's. She may have taught your husband.

I did not realize that 'Charlie' was named Charles Hon. I thought it was actually his half brother that my mother told me had been named Charles Hon...but I don't know if he took the Atteberry surname. Originally, I thought it was Jesse that had a child, a son, by Mother's cousin, Gayle Taylor, a daughter to John and Anna Hodge Taylor. Once again this was a child of the woods. The child may have gone by the name Taylor, but I remember that Mother was a bit surprised that he was referred to as Charlie Hon...as the name left no question as to his parentage...this really has me confused...now I am wondering if the child was a first cousin to Duby and Charlie...and would actually have been a nephew of Nora. Do you know the names of her siblings...did she have a brother, Charles? I believe that Gayle raised this child...at some point she married a Palmer. She lived in either Washington State or Oregon...and that may be where her husband was from. Did you ever know Nora Hon Atteberry? I used to go to her home to visit her granddaughters, Boo and Pam. She seemed like the perfect grandmother. I'm guessing that you know of the deaths of Edna and Jeanie.

My Joseph Carter was a son of Benjamin Ford Carter and Rachel Catherine Williams, also traceable to another Joseph Carter somewhere along the way. They were from Virginia and married into or were French Huguenots. One of his ancestors was Dr. Pierre Chastain that fled France for Switzerland, then the Netherlands to England...arriving in America in 1700 and settling Manakin. I am not aware of any Maurice's in my Carter family...so perhaps there is no relationship to the other Carters.

I am aware that Betty Lawler has researched the Simpson family extensively, although I have been concerned about her memory lately. She didn't seem to have a recollection that we had Duckworth ancestry. Perhaps the stress of Bill's health and concerns for her own played a role in her having forgotten.

The name Jesse Merritt sure rings a bell...but like Betty...I can't remember which bell it is ringing. LOL! There were some Spencer descendants that married into Burnt Praire or Wayne County Merritts. My mother had a Jamerson cousin, Betty, that married an Everett Savage...she lived in Anderson for many years...they had two sons, Laddie Joe and Dannie. Paddy Paul Jamerson, your former Chief of Police in Anderson many years ago was another cousin you might remember. I forget Bill Lawler's age, but he was probably close in age to Betty's brother, Newt Simpson (a holy terror) and June Simpson that married an Earl Alger. June's son, David, is an attorney in Anderson. Another cousin was a Clara 'Sis' Bixenstine that had a son, William Wilson, M. D., the oldest physician in London Mills, has been of great assistance to the community in building up the town. He has been interested in real estate, has built a score of houses and still owns village property. He has filled nearly every office in the township, taken a part in the workings of the social orders, and in addition to all this, has had a large practice in his profession. His mind has been well developed, his memory stored with facts and principles pertaining to the science of medicine, and with all the strength of an energetic nature he has made use of his knowledge.

Dr. Wilson is the eldest of the four children born to Dr. Samuel and Mahala (McFarland) Wilson. The parental history will be found in the sketch of his brother, Dr. H. L. Wilson, [page 601] in this ALBUM. Our subject was reared in the village of Hermon, Knox County, where his eyes had opened to the light July 8, 1848. During his youth he attended the common schools and Abingdon College and in 1864, enlisted in Company K, Seventh Illinois Cavalry, was mustered in at Peoria and served until July, 1865. Soon after the war he began studying medicine, his father being his preceptor. He removed with his parents to Iowa and entered the medical department of the University of Iowa City, and was graduated from that institution in 1875, as physician and surgeon. He at once located at London Mills, being the first physician to open an office here. He worked up a fine practice and has been very successful in his efforts to ameliorate suffering and preserve life.

The lady whom Dr. Wilson won for his wife and with whom he was united in marriage in Iowa, in 1872, bore the maiden name of Jennie A. Hall. She was born in Oskaloosa, Iowa, in 1852; she is a lady of culture and stands side by side with her husband in her knowledge of medicine. She studied that profession in the University at Iowa City, taking a special course the same year as her husband. She was Postmistress in London Mills from 1887 to 1889, and is a popular member of the society here. Doctor and Mrs. Wilson have one child, a son, Samuel A.

Dr. Wilson belongs to the independent Order of Odd-Fellows in this place and to Joe Mower Post, No. 107, G. A. R.; he is also identified with the Masonic fraternity at Abingdon. In politics he is a Democrat of the Jacksonian order. (Portrait & Biographical Album of Fulton County, 1890, pages 356-357, submitted by Danni Hopkins)

W. H. Wilson, son of John B. Wilson, an early settler, is a native of Buckheart tp., this county, and was born in 1847. He is now farming on sec. 36, Canton tp. He married in Dec., 1868, Miss Mary Shriner, daughter of John Shriner, deceased. His widow is living with W. H. Wilson, her son-in-law, on the old homestead. W. H. enlisted in the 7th Ill. Cav. In 1864, then being only 17 years old, and served 18 months. (History of Fulton County, C. C. Chapman, 1879, page 579, Canton Township section, submitted by Danni Hopkins)

Dear Sherry

I know you were young but many years ago I was doing my student teaching in Carmel, Illinois and I was interested in genealogy even then. My father had a dissonant that would wait each summer from California (a Doctor or Doctor). During that stay I would drive her to all the cemeteries and court houses while she recorded the records. People like her were the pioneers in which we really have to be grateful. Unfortunately most of her work was for my paternal grandmother's families. Grimes, Han, Elliott, Napier, Higgs, Cook, Jennings and Callin families. The Grimes alone married into almost every family in the Grimesville and Carmel communities. The lady was kind of hearing people and had a love for only understanding about her of what she told me, and the first time she asked me to drive her to the 'house' I had a clue as to what she was talking about. Except I thought she was being a bit coarser. She

I don't know what Mother did say regarding the Harbord family, but I assure you it was nothing negative. Because I do remember the couple of families that she may have painted negatively with the sweep of the brush.

It seems that I may have found the name Tom Caspeler. I do remember Mother being a good friend. Mother Caspeler. I think Mother's maiden name had been Purkey. I believe Mother had a daughter, Young (which the husband's name have been Harbord). That lived between Butts Plains and Grayville on the old Butts Plains Road. Mother's granddaughter, Barbara Young never married and lives in Mother's old home in Carmel. I believe the home is at the cross streets of Webb and Walnut. Mother and Tom both spoke of other Caspeler in the Butts Plains area, but I do not remember them.

Helien Holmes had 3 or 4 sons. She was abandoned by her husband in the late 1890s or very early 1900s. I was surprised that William's son had a child in 1990. I don't remember ever meeting him, but I think he was a lot older than I figure that he is well into his 60s.

Mother often spoke of the Gwaltney's. There was some relation. Her second cousin, Guss Gwaltney married an Edward Gwaltney. She spoke less of the Potton family. I know she knew the family, but I don't think they lived in as great proximity as some of the other families we have mentioned. And I do sort of remember a Potton-Vanhook connection.

Dear Shirley:

I know your were joking, but thirty years ago I was doing my student teaching in Carmi, Illinois, and I was interested in genealogy even then. My father had a distant cousin that would visit each summer from California (a Dozier or Doshier). During her stay I would drive her to all the cemeteries and court houses while she recorded the history. People like her were the pioneers to which we really have to be grateful. Unfortunately, most of her work was for my paternal grandmother's families...Graves, Hart, Elliott, Napier, Riggs, Cook, Jernigan and Catlin families. The Graves alone married into almost every family in the Crossville and Carmi communities. The lady was hard of hearing, feeble and had a hare lip. I only understood about half of what she told me, and the first time she asked me to drive her to the 'or'ouse...I hadn't a clue as to what she was talking about...except I thought she was being a bit coarse. Ha!

I don't know what Mother did say regarding the Hannaford family, but I assure you it was nothing negative...because I do remember the couple of families that she may have painted negatively with one sweep of the brush.

It seems that I may have heard the name Tobe Casebier. I do remember Mother being a good friend, Mattie Casebier. I think Mattie's maiden name had been Puntney. I believe Mattie had a daughter, ? Young (would the husband's name have been Herschel), that lived between Burnt Prairie and Grayville on the old Burnt Praire Road. Mattie's granddaughter, Barbara Young, never married and lives in Mattie's old house in Carmi. I believe the home is at the cross streets of Webb and Walnut. Mother and Dad both spoke of other Casebiers in the Burnt Prairie area, but I do not recollect them.

Helen Holmes had 3 or 4 sons. She was abandoned by her husband in the late fifties or very early sixties. I was surprised that Wilma's son had a child in 1999. I don't remember ever meeting him, but I think he was a lot older than I. I figure that he is well into his 60's.

Mother often spoke of the Gwaltneys...there was some relation...her second cousin, Oma Garrett, married an Elwood Gwaltney...she spoke less of the Pottorf family...I know she knew the family, but I don't think they lived in as near proximity as some of the other families we have mentioned. And I do sort of remember a Pottorf-Vaught connection.

You tell your sister-in-law that I said 'thank you'. I, too, thought my mother was extraordinarily beautiful. She and Aunt Ruby were complete opposites in some aspects. Ruby was 16 years older than Mom and didn't have the effervescence or sense of style that Mother had. Ruby had been saddled with eight children and was very maternal...and the family was very poor a

Sevier County Facts

Located in East Tennessee, Sevier County has the distinction of having three birthdays: in 1785 under the State of Franklin, in 1794 under the Southwest Territory, and in 1796 from Jefferson County under the State of Tennessee. Sevierville, the county seat, and the county were named in honor of John Sevier (1745-1815), governor of the State of Franklin, territorial militia officer, U. S. congressman from North Carolina and Tennessee, state senator and first governor of Tennessee.

The first court of Sevier County, State of Franklin, was held at Samuel Newell's Station on Boyds Creek in March 1785. The first court of Sevier County, Southwest Territory, was held at the home of Isaac Thomas on November 8, 1794. Magistrates present were Samuel Newell, Joseph Willson, Joshua Gist, Peter Bryant, Joseph Vance, and Andrew Evans. Absent were Mordecai Lewis and Robert Pollock. On January 11, 1796, Spencer Clack, John Clack, Samuel Wear, Peter Bryant, and Thomas Buckingham were sent to help prepare a state constitution at the convention in Knoxville. John Clack was elected to the Senate and Spencer Clack and Samuel Wear to the House of Representatives.

Surveyors who prepared the plats for the State of Tennessee to issue land grants from 1807 to 1894 included Robert Wear, Thomas Price, Mark Moore, Guilford Cannon, Daniel Kerr, John Mullendore, G. W. Layman, Wellington McMahan, John A. Trotter, G. W. J. Hill, and Jesse Atchley.

Sevierville, originally the Forks of Little Pigeon community settled by the Isaac Thomas, Spencer Clack, and James McMahon families in the 1780s, became the county seat in 1795. The present courthouse, noted for its majestic tower, was built in 1896. Incorporated in 1901 with A. M. Paine as mayor, Sevierville had 7,178 residents in 1990.

Newspapers were published in Gatlinburg and Sevierville. Scattered early issues are available from 1882, and a complete run begins in 1909. See Extended History for More information. There was a fire at the Sevier County courthouse in 1856, nearly all records were destroyed.

Sevier County is bordered by Jefferson County (north), Cocke County (east), Haywood County, North Carolina (southeast), Swain County, North Carolina (south), Blount County (west) and Knox County (northwest). Sevier County Military RecordsSee Also Military Records in Tennessee

Click Here to Search Tennessee Military Records! - Military and civil service records provide unique facts and insights into the lives of men and women who have served their country at home and abroad.

The uses and value of military records in genealogical research for ancestors who were veterans are obvious, but military records can also be important to re-searchers whose direct ancestors were not soldiers in any war. The fathers, grandfathers, brothers, and other close relatives of an ancestor may have served in a war, and their service or pension records could contain information that will assist in further identifying the family of primary interest. Due to the amount of genealogical information contained in some military pension files, they should never be overlooked during the research process. Those records not containing specific genealogical information are of historic value and should be included in any overall research design.

Tennessee tax lists can be used to locate families, document historic properties and study community history. Early tax lists generally include all white males over 21 and indicate whether they owned land or slaves. They usually do not provide other personal information.

The tax lists enumerated for Sevier County for the years: 1837, 1838, 1864-1867, 1869-1872 ; are available on microfilm at the Tennessee State Library and Archives. They are generally filed with each county's records, but some early lists are in a separate collection. To order a search of the records by mail, follow this link [\[EMAIL\]](#)

The 1796 Constitution levied taxes on "every freeman of the age of twenty-one years and upward possessing a freehold in the county wherein he may vote, and being an inhabitant of this State, and every freeman being an inhabitant of any one county in the State six months immediately preceding the day of the election, shall be entitled to vote...."

Many early surviving tax records were published in an effort to replace the missing federal censuses. Original extant tax records are preserved in the respective county courthouse as well as in the Tennessee State Library and Archives, where a card index exists for tax records in its collection pre-dating 1835, arranged by county, date, and district.

Original tax schedules for most Tennessee counties for 1836 through 1839 are available at the Tennessee State Library and Archives.

The 1891 tax lists of male inhabitant voters in each county were recently found. Sevier County Genealogical Addresses (See Also Tennessee Genealogical Addresses) - The Repositories in this section are Archives, Libraries, Museums, Genealogical and Historical Societies. Many County Historical and Genealogical Societies publish magazines and/or news letters on a monthly, quarterly, bi-annual or annual basis. Contacting the local societies should not be overlooked. State Archives and Societies are usually much larger and better organized with much larger archived materials than their smaller county cousins but they can be more generalized and over look the smaller details that local societies tend to have. Libraries can also be a good place to look for local information. Some libraries have a genealogy section and may have some resources that are not located at archives or societies. Also, take a special look at any museums in the area. They sometimes have photos and items from years gone by as well as information of a genealogical interest. All these places are vitally important to the family genealogist and must not be passed over.

Obituaries can vary in the amount of information they contain, but many of them are genealogical goldmines, including information such as names, dates, places of birth and death, marriage information, and family relationships.

Although few histories for Tennessee churches have been published, there are church records for almost every county in the state. Baptist, Presbyterian, and Methodist were the principal religions of early settlers in the state, and documents from these groups make up the largest number of records available. Other representative religions include Lutheran, Church of Christ, Episcopal, Roman Catholic, and Jewish. Most early Tennessee churches only kept minutes and membership records. Church records could, however, include records of baptism, marriage, burial, membership, or removal, but it is rare to find all or several of these categories maintained by one church.

As with cemetery records, the DAR has collected church records for Tennessee, available at the DAR Library in Washington, D.C., and through the FHL. Many compilations of church records have been compiled and/or published for the state. The Tennessee State Library and Archives has records of over one hundred churches that pre-date 1900.

The land area of 592.3 square miles has a varied topography which consists of fertile lowlands along the French Broad and Little Pigeon Rivers, the hilly portion drained by the Forks of Little Pigeon River, and the majestic peaks of the Great Smoky Mountains, including Clingman's Dome, the highest mountain peak in Tennessee.

The two branches of the Great Indian War Path which crossed the county became the chief migratory route for the early settlers in the 1780s. The signing of the Dumplin Treaty at Major Hugh Henry's Station in 1785 opened the area south of the French Broad for settlement.

Pigeon Forge, originally the Fanshiers community, was settled by the Wear, Fancher, and Lovelady families in the 1780s. The Pigeon Forge post office opened in 1841 with William K. Love as postmaster. Incorporated in 1961 with Xan Davenport as mayor, the city had a population of 3,027 in 1990.

Gatlinburg, originally the White Oak Flats community settled by the Richard Reagan and Martha Ogle families ca. 1806, was the name given to the post office in Radford Gatlin's store in 1856. Incorporated in 1945 with Dick Whaley as mayor, the city had a population of 3,417 in 1990.

Pittman Center, named for Reverend Eli Pittman of Elmira, New York, was established by Reverend E. O. Burnett as a Methodist settlement school and health center in 1921 and closed with the retirement of Dr. Robert F. Thomas in 1964. The Pittman Center community, incorporated in 1974 with Conley Huskey as mayor, had a population of 478 in 1990.

Manufacturing in the county before the Civil War included cottage industries, the Sevierville Pottery, mills, the bloomery forge at Pigeon Forge established by Isaac Love in 1817, and Sweden furnace. From the 1870s to the 1920s flatboat transportation from Sevierville to the steamboats on the French Broad River increased trade. The construction of the Knoxville, Sevierville, and Eastern Railroad (KS&E) and the extension to McCookville in 1920 enhanced manufacturing. The railroad ceased operation in 1961.

The logging industry flourished from 1900 to 1930 in the Great Smoky Mountains. The establishment of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in 1930 and the construction of Highway 441 through the center of the valley in the 1950s opened the area for the development of tourism.

In 1996 the county had a population of 51,043, and the labor force was predominantly employed in trade and finance due to the large number of retail establishments associated with the tourism industry. Manufacturing is the second largest industry.

Nancy Academy (1811-97) and Murphy College (1892-1936) were historic educational institutions. In 1996 Sevier County had three high schools, four middle schools, one intermediate school, nine elementary schools, and a vocational center. A branch of Walters State Community College is in Sevierville. The Sevier County Library, founded by Fred P. Rawlings, opened in 1920 in the Masonic Temple.

Sevierville's African Americans have contributed to Tennessee history. Many brick buildings in Sevierville today attest to the skill of brick making, masonry, and carpentry of Isaac Dockery, Samuel Coleman, the P. Witt McMahan family, and S. H. Burden and son. The furniture of Lewis Buckner is a prized possession. Mary Bond McMahan and James Chandler were educators.

Preston B. Love published the first newspaper, the Enterprise, in 1882. Subsequent newspapers include the Republican, Sevier County Republican, Star, Vindicator, Volunteer, Sevier County Republican and Sevier County Record, Gatlinburg Press, News-Record, and Mountain Press. The Bank of Sevierville opened in 1888.

Ray L. Reagan, the elected county judge from 1956 until his death in 1978, led the campaign to attract new industry to broaden the county's agricultural and tourist-oriented economy. He was instrumental in the remodeling of the courthouse and the development of the Sevier County Industrial Park, the Sevier County Medical Center, and the Pigeon Forge-Gatlinburg Airport. Dollywood, located in Pigeon Forge, is the largest amusement park in Tennessee.

Between 1990 and 2000 Sevier County grew by 39 percent to a total population of 71,170.

The Goodspeed Publishing Co., History of Tennessee, 1887

Sevier County lies east of Blount County, and adjoins North Carolina on the south. It is one of the largest counties in the State, having an area of about 660 square miles. A considerable part of the land is broken and untillable, but along the streams, and in the coves and valleys it is exceedingly fertile. The French Broad River flows through the northern portion, and receives the waters of Little Pigeon River, formed by the junction of two forks which take their rise in the Great Smoky Mountains. Boyd's Creek flows through the eastern portion of the county, and also empties its waters into the French Broad.

The settlement of the territory now embraced in Sevier County was begun about 1788, although the several years previous it had been traversed by traders and military bodies operating against the Cherokees.

In 1775 two traders from Virginia, Boyd and Doggett, while returning from a trip into the Indian nation, were killed by a band of savages, who threw their bodies into the stream which has since been known as Boyd's Creek. In 1780 one of the best fought of the early Indian battles took place on this creek, near what is now known as Rocky Springs.

In 1783 a number of settlers, who had recently located in the vicinity, assembled at Maj. [Major] Henry's, near the mouth of Dumplin Creek, and there built a fort. At about the same time, a friendly conference with the Indians was held at the house of a Mr. Gist. It was attended by Maj. James Hubbard, who had settled on the north bank of the French Broad River just above Bryant's Ferry, and who became notorious for his enmity toward the Indians. His father's family in Virginia had been cruelly murdered by the Shawnees, and he had sworn vengeance against the whole race. He spared no pains to create Indian disturbances in order to afford opportunity to gratify his revenge, and this occasion was no exception. He attempted to frighten the Cherokees in attendance upon the conference into some hasty action which might furnish a pretext for violating the truce, but in this he was prevented by Capt. James White, and for a time peace was secured. After this the settlements south of the French Broad increased quite rapidly. In November, 1783, Thomas Stockton began the erection of the first gristmill in the county. It was located at Christian's Ford on the French Broad. During the following year the pioneers built their cabins and cleared fields along Little Pigeon River and Boyd's Creek. On the later stream, two strong forts were erected: One was at Samuel Newell's, near the head of the creek, and the other at Samuel McGaughey's lower down.

In 1784, the State of Franklin was organized, and in March of 1785, the first legislature of the new State met. Among the acts passed was one for the division of Greene County into three separate counties, one of which was named Sevier. It embraced the greater part of the territory south of the French Broad extending from the Big Pigeon River to the ridge dividing the waters of Little River and Little Tennessee. The courts were held at Newell's Station, and Samuel Wear became clerk of the county court. At the next election Samuel Newell and John Clark were chosen to represent the county in the Legislature.

In 1785 a treaty was concluded with the Cherokees at Henry's Station, known as the treaty Dumplin [Treaty of Dumplin], by the terms of which the Indians relinquished their right and title to the land embraced within Sevier County. After this treaty, the occupation of the county south of the French Broad went on rapidly. Prominent among the early settlers beside those already mentioned were Isaac Thomas, who lived on the west bank of the Pigeon opposite Sevierville, William Cannon located opposite Catlettsburg, where his grandson later lived. Jacob Huff lived on the site of Catlettsburg, where he built a mill. Samuel Blair also located in the same neighborhood and Josiah Rogers still further down the river. North of the French Broad were Peter and Allen Bryant, Joshua Gist, the Cates and Underwoods. Eight miles below Sevierville was the residence of Thomas Buckingham, who, it is said, built the first brick house in the county. The Brabsons, Chandlers, Crewells and Capt. Nathaniel Evans located on Boyd's Creek, and Thomas Sharp in the neighborhood of Trundle's Cross Roads. Randall Hill lived three miles east of Catlettsburg and Thomas Evans about five miles from the same place of the French Broad. Benjamin Atchley also located in the same neighborhood. The upper end of the county in the vicinity of Bird's Cross Roads a colony of Germans from Virginia was located: among them were Jacob Bird, Jacob Derrick, Adam Fox and James Baker. Frederick Emert and Martin Shultz settled in what is now known as Emert's Cove. Andrew Wells and John Baughman lived in the area of Jones Cove. George Bush settled the place where Mrs. Hoddsden lived in _____. William Henderson, John Jenkins and Robert Duggan also lived east of Sevierville. Among others of the early settlers were Shields, Calverts, Richardsons, Creswells and Keelers.

In 1788 the Franklin government came to an end, and the government of North Carolina, ignoring the acts of the former, among which was the treaty of Dumplin, still recognized the French Broad, Houston and Big Pigeon Rivers, as a part of the Indian boundary line, leaving the inhabitants to the south of these streams in the position of trespassers upon the Cherokee lands. Realizing their exposed condition, these people adopted articles of association by which they proposed to be governed. The constitution and laws of North Carolina were adopted, and all civil and military officers of Sevier County, elected under the government of Franklin, were continued in office. For the general supervision of affairs, a committee, composed of two members from each militia company, was provided for. Who composed the committee is not known, but their place of meeting is supposed to have been Newell's Station. This remained practically the condition of Sevier County until after the conclusion of the treaty of Holston in 1791, and the organization of Jefferson County in July of the following year [1792]. The latter included the present Sevier County, and Samuel Wear was one of the representatives in the first territorial assembly. During the first session an act to divide Jefferson County into two distinct counties was passed, and Joseph Wilson, Robert Polk, Samuel McGaughey, Samuel Newell and Thomas Buckingham were appointed to locate the seat of justice, the courts to be held for the time at the house of Isaac Thomas. The first court met on November 8, 1794. Samuel Newell, Joseph, Joshua Gist, Peter Bryant, Joseph Vance and Andrew Evans were the magistrates present, while Mordecai Lewis and Robert Pollock were absent. Samuel Newell was chosen chairman; Samuel Wear, clerk; Jesse Byrd, register; Thomas Buckingham, sheriff; Mordecai Lewis, coroner, and Alexander Montgomery, surveyor.

In October, 1795, Sevierville was laid out at the confluence of the east and west forks of the Little Pigeon River. Tradition has it that the first courts, after the town was established, were held in a building previously occupied as a stable, and that owing to the great number of fleas infesting it, the lawyers accomplished its destruction through as Irishman and a bottle of whisky. A courthouse and jail, both probably built of logs, were then erected.

On July 4, 1796, the first court for Sevier County was held under the State constitution. The justices present were Samuel Newell, Joshua Gist, Joseph Wilson, Andrew Cowan, Joseph Vance, James Riggins, Alexander Montgomery, Jesse Griffin and Isom Green. The county officers, who had served under the territorial government, with the exception of the register and coroner, were retained. James McMahan was elected register and James D. Puckett, coroner.

At the time and for more than thirty years afterward, the people south of the French Broad, and Holston, who had occupied their lands under treaties made by the Franklin government, were harassed by law of both the United States and the States attempting to compel them to purchase their land at the rate of $1 per acre. The settlers denied the right and justice of these laws, and obstinately refused to comply with them. An act was finally passed in 1829, allowing occupants to enter a tract of not more than 200 acres, including their improvements.

As has been stated Sevierville was laid out in 1795, but previous to that time, September 29, 1789, a Baptist Church had been organized in the vicinity. Among the first settlers of the town were Alexander Preston and M. C. Rogers, merchants; Benjamin Catlett, tavern-keeper; Richard Catlett, hatter; John Catlett, carpenter; Spencer Clack, who had a mill on the right bank of the East Fork, just above town; James McMahan, the county register, and Isaac Thomas, who lived on the left bank of Pigeon, and owned and operated a mill there. Hugh Blair was the first blacksmith, but resided below town.

"The Lost State of Franklin" Petition of the Inhabitants of the Western Country

The Honourable, The General Assembly of North Carolina now sitting:

The Inhabitants of the Western Country humbly sheweth:

That it is with sincere concern we lament the unhappy disputes that have long subsisted between us and our brethren on the Eastern side of the Mountains, respecting the erecting of a new Government. We beg leave to represent to your Honourable body, that from Acts passed in June 1784, ceding to Congress your Western territory, with reservations and conditions therein contained; also from a clause in your wise and mild Constitution, setting forth that there might be a State or States, erected in the West whenever your Legislature should give consent for same; and from our local situation, there are numberless advantages, bountifully given to us by nature to propagate and promote a Government with us. Being influenced by your Acts and Constitution and at the same time considering that it is our undeniable right to obtain for ourselves and posterity a proportionable and adequate share of the blessings, rights, privileges, and immunities allotted with the rest of mankind, have thought that the erecting of a new Government would greatly contribute to our welfare and convenience and that the same could not militate against your interest and future welfare as a Government. Hoping that mutual and reciprocal advantages would attend each party, and that cordiality and unanimity would permanently subsist between us ever after, we earnestly request that an impartial view of our remoteness be taken into consideration; that great inconvenience attending your seat of Government, and also the great difficulty in ruling well and giving protection to so remote a people, to say nothing of the almost impassable mountains Nature has placed between, which renders it impracticable for us to furnish ourselves with a bare load of the necessities of life, except we in the first instance travel from one to two hundred and more miles through another State ere we can reach your Government.

Every tax paid you from this country would render us that sum the poorer, as it is impossible from the nature of our situation, that any part could return into circulation, having nothing that could bear the carriage, or encourage purchasers to come so great a distance; for which reasons were we to continue under your Government a few years, the people here must pay a greater sum than the whole of the medium now in circulation for the exigencies and support of your Government which would be a sum impossible for us to secure, would we be willing to give you our all; and or course we must be beholden to other States for any part we could raise; and by these means our property would gradually diminish, and we at last be reduced to mere poverty and want by not being able equally to participate with the benefits and advantages of your Government. We hope that having settled West of the Appalachian mountains ought not to deprive us of the natural advantages designed by the bountiful Providence for the convenience and comfort of all those who have spirit and sagacity enough to seek after them. When we reflect on our past and indefatigable struggles, both with savages and our other enemies during our late war, and the great difficulty we had to obtain and with-hold this Country from those enemies at the expense of the lives and fortunes of many of our dearest friends and relations; and the happy conclusion of peace having arrived, North Carolina has derived great advantages from our alertness in taking and securing a County, from which she has been able to draw into her Treasury, immense sums of money, and thereby become enabled to pay off, if not wholly, yet a great part, and sink her national debt. We therefore humbly conceive you will liberally think that it will be nothing more than paying a debt in full to us for only to grant what God, Nature, and our locality entitles us to receive. Trusting that your magnanimity will not consider it a crime in any people to pray their rights and privileges, we call the world to testify our conduct and exertion in behalf of American independence; and the same to judge whether we ask more than free people ought to claim, agreeable to Republican principles, the great foundation whereon our American fabric now stands. Impressed with the hope of your great goodness and benevolent disposition that you will utterly abhor and disclaim all ideas of involving into innumerable, disagreeable and irksome contentions, a people who have so faithfully aided and supported in the time of imminent and perilous dangers; that you will be graciously pleased to consent to a separation; that from you paternal tenderness and greatness of mind, you will let your stipulations and conditions be consistent with honour, equity and reason, all of which will be cheerfully submitted to; and we, your petitioners, shall always feel an interest in whatsoever may concern your honour and prosperity. Lastly, we hope to be enabled by the concurrence of your State to participate in the fruits of the Revolution; and to enjoy the essential benefits of Civil Society under a form of Government which ourselves alone can only calculate for such a purpose. It will be a subject of regret that so much blood and treasure have been lavished away for no purpose to us; that so many sufferings have been encountered without compensation, we hope what hath been mentioned will be sufficient for our purpose, adding only that Congress hath, from time to time, explained their ideas so fully and with so much dignity and energy that if their arguments and requisitions will not produce conviction, we know of nothing that will have a greater influence, especially when we recollect that the system referred to is the result of the collected wisdom of the United States, and , should it not be considered as perfect, must be esteemed at the least objectionable.

5 Clues Hiding in Passenger Lists

Connect with Your Immigrant Roots

Looking for your family member's first moments in America? Arm yourself with these quick tips and start searching the Ancestry.com Immigration and Travel collection, where you'll find passenger lists from America's ports, plus naturalization records, passports and more.

Step 1. Do your homework.

Before you search immigration records, you'll need some basic identifying information on your ancestor. Include name and an estimated birth year and know that additional clues—like approximate arrival year, names and ages of other family members, country of origin, occupation and other details—can help, too. Many of these details can be found in other records on Ancestry.com. Use census records, draft registration cards, birth or death records, newspaper articles, naturalization records and other documents created in the U.S. after your immigrant family member's arrival to provide the clues you'll need.

Step 2. Start your search directly in the passenger list collection.

To limit results solely to passenger lists on Ancestry.com, go directly to the passenger list collection. You'll find a link to it in the box on the right side of the Immigration & Travel collection page.

Use details you've already discovered, including dates, but be flexible. An immigration year from a census record may have been misreported, or a country of origin may not be the same as a country of birth. Also note that a country's name or borders may have changed, and your ancestor may have reported the former or new name. So searching for Austria-Hungary may not help you find an ancestor from Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia or modern-day Slovenia.

Step 3. Determine if you've found the right passenger list.

Review your search results, paying careful attention to clues such as birthplace, age and family members. Always view the original image so you can see the full passenger list, too. Later passenger lists are more detailed and may contain a second page of information; the arrow keys at the top of the viewer will help you advance a page to see if there's more.

Step 4. Save it.

Positive you've found the right passenger list? Save it to your family tree. Passenger lists can contain tremendous amounts of detail, so you'll want to review them again to pick up even more clues. Not sure it's the right list? Save it to your shoebox for later review. You may discover additional details in future searches that will help you determine if this really is the passenger list for your ancestor.

TROUBLESHOOTINGI'm typing in my ancestor's name, but I still can't find him.

If your ancestors are from a non-English-speaking country, learn the ethnic equivalent of their given names in their native language. Manifests were created at the port of departure, and emigrants typically gave the ethnic version of their name.

Do a little research on the surname as well. Are there variants that may have been used? Look into surname customs and pronunciation in the country your ancestor emigrated from. Trying saying your ancestor's surname out loud, and think about all of the ways it may have been spelled.

I know my ancestor's name but not how he or she spelled it.

Try a wildcard search when you're not sure how to spell a name. Replace tricky letters or letter combinations with an asterisk, which can be matched to any letter in your search. For example, Br*n will pull up Brown, Braun, Bron, Brann and other combinations.

My ancestor's census record said he arrived in 1913, but when I search through passenger lists from that year, he seems to be missing.

Use immigration years listed in a census record as guidelines. If your ancestor supposedly arrived in 1913, check from 1910 through 1915—and don't ignore search results that are even slightly outside that range. It's possible your family member came to America a few times before settling in or that a census taker inadvertently noted the wrong year of immigration.

I have no idea when my family member arrived. How can I search?

Use details you uncover about the family in records created in America to develop a timeline chronicling family events. Include birth years and places of siblings and children, marriage dates and locations, and any other details that may give you a range during which your family likely immigrated.

My family came through Ellis Island, but I can't find them in the records there.

Family stories hold amazing clues but they may not be entirely accurate, so be flexible when searching. Check search results from various ports of arrival. Be open to the possibility that your ancestor may have sailed to Canada or Mexico and crossed into America—often a thrifter way to travel—and check border crossing records, too.

There's virtually no information on the passenger list I'm looking at.

Prior to 1820, no laws required captains to maintain lists of passengers. To find immigration information for this era, you may have to turn to alternate resources. Check biographical materials for references to early immigrants or their relatives. During these early years, immigrants often traveled in groups, so you may find references to your ancestor's immigration as part of a group in a local history publication. Beginning in 1820 passenger lists required by the U.S.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES.

1862, to Miss Jennie, daughter of Dr. Eads, of Harrison County; she died, and Dr. Eads married a second wife, Miss Anna, daughter of Frank Adair, of this County, who died in 1876, leaving a son, Dr. James Brindley Eads, now eleven years of age.

RUDDEL'S MILLS PRECINCT

H. C. BOWEN, farmer and distiller; P. O. Ruddel's Mills. Among the early settlers of Bourbon County was the Bowen family, which came here from near Baltimore, Md., and settled upon wild land, following farming. One of the sons of the first Bowen, Benjamin by name, was born Oct. 8, 1794, whose father dying, was bound out to the carpenter's trade in Lexington; but the war of 1812 coming on he enlisted in the service; but, in consequence of Kentucky's quota being complete, he was not mustered in. He afterward became a contractor, during which time he erected many buildings, including three churches in Ruddel's Mills. He also farmed and kept a hotel; he was also engaged in distilling. He married Miss Mary Current, of this County, by whom he had six children, H. C., our subject, being next to the youngest of these children. Benjamin died Oct. 7, 1881, having held the office of Constable for many years. Our subject was born Feb. 11, 1842, and since the age of fifteen years has "paddled his own shoe," having by industry and perseverance placed himself in independent circumstances. May 16, 1865, he was married to Anna E., only child of Benjamin F. and Minerva H. Howard, of Bourbon County. She was born April 30, 1849, and died July 31, 1878, leaving five children: Lida, Benjamin, Joseph W., Nannie K. and Hattie. Mr. Bowen has been engaged in distilling and farming since he arrived at manhood, and owns a farm of 364 acres, and a copper distillery. He is a Democrat.

WILLIS D. COLLINS, farmer; P. O. Ruddel's Mills; was born in Bourbon County, Ky., March 13, 1810; son of Foster and Elizabeth (Matheny) Collins; he being a son of William Collins, and a native of Virginia; she a daughter of David Matheny, of Bourbon County, and after whom the Matheny Church is named. Foster Collins came to Kentucky in 1797, with his mother and three sisters; being a farmer, but a man of more than ordinary ability, serving as Constable for ten years, as Magistrate for several years, and as Sheriff two years. He died Feb. 22, 1847; his wife, June 27, 1835. They raised ten children. Our subject was married Oct. 2, 1834, to Sally Ann, daughter of Robert and Nancy (Fretwell) Palmer, old settlers of this county, which union has been blessed with three children: Wm. L. and Elizabeth living, and Lucinda, dead. Mr. Collins and wife are members of the Christian church; he has held several offices, being Deputy Sheriff under his father, a Constable for ten years, and a Magistrate for twelve years; he was at one time guardian for twenty-one children, with all of whom he has settled fully and honorably except four, who are not yet of age; has settled thirty-three different estates, and done more business of that character than any man in the county. He is and has been a Republican since the formation of that party.

JOHN CURRENT, farmer and distiller; P. O. Ruddel's Mills; was born in Bourbon County, Ky., in 1833, son of Jesse Current, who raised a family of nine children, five sons and four daughters, John being the second son. Four of these brothers entered the service of the Confederate States, and served under General Morgan. John, our subject, was reared on his father's farm, and has through life been engaged in the same business as his father—farming and distilling—paying special attention to the latter business, and making nothing but the straightest copper-distilled goods, the demand for which he has been scarcely able to supply. Feb. 5, 1861, he was married to Miss Mary Catharine, daughter of Thos. McCarney, of Bourbon County. She died Oct. 24, 1875, leaving three children: Anna Lee, Lizzie T., and John McIlvain. Mr. Current was again married, Nov. 26, 1878, to Miss Betty Turney, daughter of Amos Turney, of this County. He owns 184 acres of land, is a member of the ancient and honorable fraternity of Freemasons, and is a Democrat.

DARWIN D. EADS, physician, Ruddel's Mills; was born in Harrison County, Ky., May 11, 1836, son of John and Ellen (McMillan) Eads; he is a native of Spottsylvania County, Va., coming to Kentucky about 1810, but having been married in Virginia, and his wife dying previous to his leaving that State. Mr. John Eads was a farmer, and passed the best part of his life in Harrison County, where he died in 1836, his wife surviving him and marrying, in 1842, Wm. W. Bowman, of Bourbon County, afterward moving to Illinois, where she is still residing. Our subject remained on the farm until sixteen years of age, when he entered the Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware, Ohio, which he left while in his junior year. In the fall of 1857 he entered Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, from which institution he graduated in 1859, and located at Ruddel's Mills, where he has since had a lucrative practice. Dr. Eads was first married in in 1828. Dr. Steele was married Nov. 17, 1846, to Miss Julia F. Wood, daughter of Nimrod Wood, of Nicholas County, Ky., by which union there have been born six children: Anna J. (Mrs. Marsh); Ida (Mrs. Piper); Ella (Mrs. Norvill); John, Julia F., and Maggie W. The doctor practiced his profession in his early years in Springfield, Ohio, but retired from active practice 30 years ago. He owns 172 acres of land, his place being known as "Warblers's Glen," and himself, wife and family, with one exception, are Presbyterians.

JOHN P. TALBOTT, physician; P. O. Hutchinson; the grandfather of our subject, Aquila Talbott, came to Kentucky at an early day, and located in Paris, where he carried on carpentering and building, during which time he built the court house there, the cupola of which was a piece of architecture greatly admired, even by foreigners. His son, August Talbott, was born in Paris, and has been a farmer all his life. He at present resides in Franklin County. The mother of Dr. Talbott, and wife of August, was Fanny Pryor, daughter of Dr. John Pryor, of this county. Our subject was born June 8, 1836, in Bourbon County, where he received his early education; he attended Transylvania University, where he took course in medicine, graduating from that institution in 1858. He spent a year additional at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, after which he began practice at Blue Licks, Nicholas County, where he remained until the war, when he entered the Confederate service as Surgeon of the First Kentucky Mounted Riflemen, and remained four years; returning at the close of the war he located at Hutchinson, where he has a fine practice, and is highly respected.

THOS. H. WILSON, farmer; P. O. Paris; is descended from an old and honored English family, and traces his genealogy back to his grandfather, Isaac Wilson, a native of England. The courtesy and chivalry of a Southerner and the honest pride of an Englishman are still to be traced in his descendants. Thos. H., the subject of this sketch, was born in Fayette County, Ky., Aug. 13, 1823, and is the son of Samuel and Rebecca (Layton) Wilson, daughter of Thos. Layton. The earlier years of his life were spent in acquiring an education and in assisting his father. Being possessed of a high sense of honor, and natural financiering ability, he rapidly acquired a financial standing in the community. He now owns 580 acres of fine blue grass land, on which he has resided for many years. He has given much attention to the growing of hemp, in which all his theories put in practice have proved a success. He has handled and bred some fine short horns, though not classed among the extensive breeders. He was formerly a member of the old Whig party, but since the war he has been a Democrat. He was married in 1849 to Miss Margaret, daughter of Geo. McLeod, of Bourbon County; they have four children—Fyette, now wife of Dr. Wm. Warren, of Versailles, Delia, Anna and Kate. He is almost sixty years old. Mr. Wilson is still a man of vigorous mind and clear judgment.

I. FRANK WILLMOTT, farmer; P. O. Hutchinson; was born Sept. 20, 1834, in Bourbon County, Ky.; son of Fletcher and Harriett (Skillman) Willmott, daughter of Isaac Skillman, of Bourbon County, but formerly of Virginia. The grandfather of our subject was Robert Willmott, who was Colonel of Artillery during the Revolutionary war, having been born Dec. 25, 1757, in Maryland, and coming to Kentucky in 1792, settling in Bourbon, which county he represented in the General Assembly of the State seven years, and being one of the framers of the second constitution of Kentucky; dying Aug. 5, 1839. The father of Mr. Willmott was born Jan. 13, 1806, and died Aug. 11, 1855. Mr. I. Frank Willmott was married in September, 1855, to Miss Nancy J. Tanner, daughter of William Tanner, of Bourbon County, she dying in 1870, leaving two children: J. Smith, born April 29, 1858, and William T., born March 19, 1861. Jan. 25, 1872, he married Miss Eliza A. Boone, daughter of Noah Boone, by whom he has had four children: Kate E., born June 7, 1873; Noah Boone, born May 28, 1875; Ashby Carlisle, born April 16, 1877; Laura E., Aug. 31, 1879. He owns a farm of 200 acres of good land, is a member of the Christian Church, as well as his wife, and an Odd Fellow and a Democrat.

CARLTON WILLETT; P. O. Hutchinson; was born Jan. 20, 1801, in Maryland; son of Edward and Ellen (Fisher) Willett; she a daughter of Martin Fisher, of Virginia, and grand-daughter of one of the Shackelfords, of the Old Dominion. The parents of our subject came to Kentucky, by way of the Ohio river on a flat, and settled first at Maysville, then bought a place near Millersburg in Bourbon County, where the father died in 1842, and the mother in 1848. Mr. Willett was married in 1829 to Miss Nancy Coons, daughter of James Coons, of Bourbon County, which union has been blessed with thirteen children, three of whom are dead; those living are—Mary (Mrs. Larvell), Aquila, John, Ninian, Electa V. (Mrs. Craig), W. H. Harrison, A. Hamilton, Horatio Fisher, Scott, Josephine (Mrs. Bagg). Mr. Willett owns 185 acres of land ten miles from Paris, which he rents. He and wife are members of the Christian Church; he is a Democrat.

Note: Most of these suits are practically illegible. They were covered with water in the 1937 flood.

In the early 1790's, John Wilson and family moved from Eastern Pennsylv-vania to Lewis County (then Mason County) and settled on a huge, valuable tract of land, which was granted for military service. This large tract of land, still known as Wilson's Bottoms, was just below the famous Three Islands in the Ohio River. The Beal family later started litigation with the Wilsons over this land because they claimed they had been granted this tract through an earlier patent. For several years many law suits were filed in the Lewis County Court between the heirs of John Wilson and the Beal heirs. These suits give valuable genealogical information to anyone doing research on the Wilson family. The following records are abstracts of some of these suits. (Legal information other than that which gives genealogical help is omitted).

Copied and contributed by Dr. William M. Talley, of Montreal, Quebec, and Vanceburg, Kentucky.

File 174: Samuel Swearingen vs the heirs of John Wilson. Filed Oct.
1810.

Swearingen files suit against George Wilson, Drusilla Wilson, and Amos Evans, husband to Elizabeth, late Wilson, acting executors of John Wilson, deceased, and against George, Samuel, William, Elizabeth, Sarah, John, Mary Ann, Andrew, Ralph, and Thomas Wilson, heirs of the will of John Wilson, dec.

Swearingen claims that John Wilson, dec., became indebted to him on June 27, 1797, in Lewis Co. for $416.75. Also for $300, 90 French crowns, one French quinea weighing 5 dwt. and 3 grains; 2 pieces of gold weighing each 7 dwt. and 14 grains. John Wilson allegedly failed to repay this money and in his will made no provision for it.

Included is a copy of the will of John Wilson, made in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, Mar. 4, 1793, and probated in Mason Co., Ky., Dec. 23, 1799.
To wife, Drusilla "the plantation"; children: George, Samuel, William, Elizabeth, Sarah, John, Mary Ann, Andrew, Ralph, and Thomas; "eldest son, George"; mentions that his plantation is in Fayette Co., Pa., in the Forks of Cheat and that he has lands in Kentucky. Witnesses: (Note states -
"Two Dutchmen. I can't make out their names.")

Samuel Swearingen was a resident of Adams Co., Ohio, at the time of this suit.

File 579: Norban B. Beal and others vs. George Wilson and others, Suit filed April, 1817.

Norban B. Beal; Wm. C. Gault and wife, Matilda, late Beal, heirs of Samuel Beal, dec.; Matilda A. Maupin (under 21), daughter of Harriett

THE WILSON FAMILY

Maupin, late Beal, one of the heirs of Samuel Beal, dec., and Richard A. Maupin, father of said Matilda and husband of Harriett Maupin, state that Samuel Beal, in April, 1780, made this entry: "Samuel Beal, assignee of William Fennie, who was assignee of Charles Scott, enters 2450 acres by virtue of Military Warrants, on the Ohio at the head of the first bottom below Three Islands, below the mouth of Scioto ..." The tract was surveyed May 27, 1785. Samuel Beal died in 1793 and the land descended to his children. "A certain Wm. George Wilson Sr., George Wilson Jr., Samuel Wilson, William Wilson, John Wilson, Ralph Wilson, Robert Wilson, Amos Evans and wife, late Wilson, Robert Snodgrass and wife, Anna, late Wilson, William Hendrickson and wife, Phebe, late Wilson, Cynthia Wilson, Nancy Wilson, Andrew Wilson, Thomas Wilson, and Drusilla Wilson, relict of John Wilson dec. (all except George Wilson Sr. being heirs of John Wilson dec.), and John Boyd, late the husband of Sarah Boyd, late Sarah Wilson, dec., and Wilson Boyd, James Boyd, and Thomas Boyd, children and heirs of the said Sarah Boyd, who was also one of the heirs of John Wilson dec., and James Boyd, are made defendants in this suit for an illegal claim under the vague entry in the name of John Smith."

An amended bill states that Isaac Lewis, Betsy Lewis, and Wm. Greathouse and wife, Jane, late Lewis, heirs of George Lewis, dec., also hold an uncertain title.

Deposition of George Stockton, taken at the house of John Faris, Flemingsburg, Mar. 3, 1817, (aged 70) states that he was acquainted with the Three Islands on the Ohio below the mouth of Scioto as early as 1776.

Deposition of Samuel Strode, taken Mar. , 1817, says he passed the Three Islands as early as 1776.

Deposition of Ellis Palmer, taken at the house of Samuel Wilson, Aug. 11, 1817, (aged about 53), says that in April, 1785, he came with John Waller up the Ohio River from Limestone and made a survey for one Beal. About 3 or 4 weeks after he was first up, he was up again with said Waller and others and made a survey a little below the mouth of Crooked Creek, then called Harbour Creek. Question: Was not the Three Islands a place of notoriety at that time? Answer: It was ever since I came to this country in 1784 and I heard them spoken of two years before I came.

File - - -: Samuel L. Blain vs. Myers, Fry, and others. Filed July, 1840.

(Note: This suit involves a conflict of lands claimed by both the heirs of Jesse Ewell and the heirs of Ephraim Blaine. John Wilson had once owned a portion of the land in controversy and his heirs were involved in the conflicting land claims.)

Jesse Ewell sold a portion of the grant in question to Capt. John Wilson. The said Wilson then sold a part of the land to Henry Myers on June 30, 1798. This tract of land interfered with Blaine's patent.

A notice of ejectment was sent to the Wilsons. The following are listed as the children, heirs-at-law, and legal representatives of Capt. John Wilson, dec.:

THE WILSON FAMILY

In a counter-suit, filed March, 1838, between John and Hugh Wilson vs. Richard Nash, these variations are noted in the listing of John Wilson's heirs (as heretofore given in the previous suit):

1. Samuel Wilson's heirs: John G. Wilson is not listed. Eliza Wilson had married Mr. Burns. Amos Evans and wife, Eliza, are listed as heirs as well as Andrew Wilson and wife, Amanda, Ralph Wilson and wife, Martha; and Wm. Henderson and wife, Phebe. 3. John Wilson's unknown heirs are listed as: Sally Anne, Maria, Joseph and others unknown.

File ---- : The executors of Samuel Wilson's will vs. William Herbert, June, 1839.

After the death of Samuel Wilson, several persons to whom he had sold land, sued his estate because of conflicting land claims. This suit was an attempt of his executors and heirs to come to terms with persons who were losing titles to their lands because of the previous litigation with the Ewells, Blaines, and Beals.

Included is a copy of the will of Samuel Wilson, made in Lewis County, Ky., Feb. 3, 1832, and probated Nov. 18, 1833. To wife, Susanna, the plantation "whereon I now live for a term of 12 years, but if she marries it is to fall into the hands of executors"; Heirs: James Wilson, Andrew Wilson, Mary Wilson, Eliza Wilson, George Wilson, Susan Wilson, Samuel Wilson, Mason Wilson, Amos Wilson, and Lucinda Wilson. At the end of 12 years the plantation to be divided among four sons: George, Samuel, Mason, and Amos. To son, Andrew, $800 in perishable property. To son, Joseph, now deceased, and his heirs, and my daughter, Nancy, "I have to give them no more, James having the amount of his dividend". To John Gay, "my son by my first wife", I give $100. Mentions lands in Indiana and Kentucky. Executors: sons, James and Andrew. Witnesses: Wm. G. Wilson, Curtis Lantz, Charles Hymes, and James Stephenson. (A note on the back of the will says: Nancy Wilson married William Herbert, of Manchester, Ohio.)

Petition in equity.

Barton Wilson claims that George Wilson, late of Lewis County, deceased, made his will on Mar. 29, 1821, and in Feb., 1828, departed this life.

THE WILSON FAMILY

The said Eliza Gunyon and Adaline Lane are the only children and heirs at law of sd. John Wilson, dec., who died intestate.

Hugh Wilson, one of the children of the said George Wilson dec., and devisee under the will, died, leaving a will which has been admitted to record in the Lewis County Court. He left a widow, Sally Ann Wilson and two children, to wit, Susan J. and Mary, the former having intermarried with Joseph Stapleton. Mary is an infant.

Mary Wilson, one of the devisees of sd. George Wilson dec., intermarried with Daniel W. Thomas, and afterward departed this life, leaving, William M. Thomas, her only child and heir at law.

Drusilla Wilson, another of sd. devisees, intermarried with Michael Doyal and afterwards departed this life without child or children, never having had issue, leaving her brothers and sisters her devisees.

McKellup, now deceased; Cary Wilson; Herbert Wilson, and the plaintiff, Barton Wilson.

The devisees under the will(except the widow Sophia) were children of the testator and were his only children.

Other information given in the suit shows that:

1. Drusilla (Wilson) Doyal died in the spring or summer of 1843.
2. Granville S. Dye stated that he was told by Drusilla Doyal's husband in Aug., 1844, that Drusilla Doyal was dead and that she was buried in Platte County, Missouri. Dye says he married Drusilla's cousin.

"Sir: We give you assurance that nothing shall be wanting to render you assistance to make this institution respectable. Therefore permit us to enumerate some of the dangerous ills which is to command your attention as well without the Seminary as within, viz: the wilful breach of the Sabbath Day, lying, cursing, swearing, quarreling, frequenting taverns or still houses by night or by day and in particular the infamous ills of gaming, together with all other ills not enumerated. Living in the formative period of Western Virginia, no other family, perhaps, has left, in so marked degree, the impress of their lives and influence upon the region now embraced in the state of West Virginia. During the active period of his life no other individual in Randolph wielded a greater influence than James D. Wilson. With more than ordinary ability and with a peculiar fitness for clerical work, Mr. Wilson for eighteen years discharged the duties of county clerk with entire satisfaction to his constituents. In the true sense of the word, he was not a politician as he was open and fearless, following his convictions and opposing or espousing a cause in utter disregard of the consequences to himself. The county has not produced a more unique or noted personage.

Colonel Ben. Wilson, who for many years represented the Clarksburg District in Congress was a son of Josiah Wilson and a grandson of the first Benjamin Wilson.

William Woodrow, an ancestor of the Woodrow family, a member of which was the mother of President Wilson, in an early day entered land on Wilson Creek, this county, but it is not known whether he ever resided on his possessions.

William H. Wilson, son of John Q. and Harriet (Wood) Wilson, was born in 1840; married Rachael, daughter of Abram and Catherine (McNeal) Crouch. Mr. Wilson was justice of the peace, deputy sheriff and clerk of the Circuit Court in 1884-96.

THE WOOLWINE FAMILY.

The Woolwine Family. This family is of German ancestry and the name was originally spelled Eolvine. Orlando Woolwine was born about 1805. He lived in Valley Bend District. He had two sisters, Peggy, who married Isom Channel, and Elizabeth, who married William Pritt. Orlando Woolwine married Sallie Clark. Children were Judson E., William, Columbia, Lucinda and Edmonia.

William Woolwine died in a Federal prison during the Civil War. Edmonia Woolwine married Laban, son of William Dolebear Currence. Lucinda married Carper Ward, Edmonia married Holman Pritt.

precinct, and served four years, refusing a re-election. He is a member of the Chapter (Masonic) Lodge at Carlisle, was also elected President of the Grange Council during its existence. He is a sterling Democrat, and with his wife is in communion with the Christian Church at Mt. Zion.

JOSEPH B. WOODS, farmer; P. O. Moorefield; was born in Nicholas County, Dec. 6, 1825; his great grandfather probably came from Ireland to Virginia, thence to Kentucky, before the Revolutionary war, and entered land in Mercer and Jessamine Counties; returned to Virginia and died. Thomas Woods, grandfather of Joseph B., came to Kentucky in 1784, and settled in Jessamine County, living for a time in Wilson's Station. He served as an independent scout in the Revolution for five years; died in 1845, aged eighty-four. Joseph Woods, father of our subject, was born in Wilson's Station, July 7, 1784; moved to Nicholas County in 1815; married, the second time, Dorcas Buckhanan, daughter of George Buckhanan; he left nine children, three of whom are living. Joseph B. Woods, of whom we write, was raised a farmer. On Sept. 12, 1868, he married Margaret, daughter of L. A. and Elizabeth (Huddleson) Brown, of Bath County; has no children; he served during the late war as an independent skirmisher, principally to suppress horse thieving; is a member of the Presbyterian Church at Moorfield, in which he has served as Elder since 1870; has been President of the Moorfield and Upper Blue Licks Turnpike Company since its organization in 1866. In politics he was an old-line Whig till the Rebellion, since which time he has been in sympathy with the Republican party.

DAVID WILSON, farmer; P. O. Davidson; born near Lexington, Ky., Nov. 19, 1790. His father, Jeremiah Wilson, and his mother, Katie Cooper, were both from the State of New Jersey. They were among the first to brave the dangers of the Western wilderness, taking their share of the hardships common to the early pioneers of this land of cane. David Wilson was reared on a farm. He suffered in his youth an attack of the white swelling, which made him a cripple for life. His education, like that of most of his contemporaries, was of a very limited character. He married, in Bourbon County, in 1815, Sarah, daughter of William and Cassander (Tippet) Newman; has eight living children: William, Matilda, Abbie, Ephraim, Sophia, Joseph, David and Kitty Ann. Mr. Wilson is now the oldest man in this precinct, and has for many years filled the eldership of Mt. Zion Christian Church. His political suffrage is exercised in behalf of the Democratic party.

Ellis Kelly, picture at right, was a long time Grayson County resident although he was born in Breckinridge county, Kentucky February 22, 1829. He was son of William S. Kelly and Caroline (Wilson) Kelly.

Ellis was about 13 years of age when his father moved the family from the Falls of Rough area in Breckinridge County to Grayson County about a mile South of Spring Lick, on Caney Creek.

Ellis lived, grew to manhood, married, raised a family and died in the Spring Lick area on October 2, 1904.

For a time, Ellis worked with Stephen W. Bond in the dry goods business in Caneyville but he disliked the confining inside work and so took up farming, sawmilling and for a time ran a flour mill in Spring Lick.

Ellis married Mrs. Minerva (Green) Herrell in March of 1853. They became the parents of three children; Priscilla, born on January 31, 1854; George Douglas born on September 29, 1856 and died on August 10, 1858, and then a son, William Thomas, the youngest, was born on August 21, 1859. He died on April 2, 1931. Mrs. Minerva Kelly, wife of Ellis, died in 1872. Ellis remained a widower for nine years then he married his second wife, Miss Elizabeth Shain on December 4, 1881. Elizabeth Ann was the daughter of Fletcher Shain and Anna Mariah (Porter) Shain. Elizabeth who became known to all of the neighborhood as Aunt Betty, died on September 19, 1919. She and Ellis had no children.

Ellis Kelly served many offices in the county, serving the Eighty-seventh Kentucky Regiment as a Major and later when the office of Colonel became vacant he was elected by his regiment to fill that office. He received his commission from Governor L.W. Powell. He served as Justice of The Peace and was nominated for a seat in the Legislature, but lost over local issues.

Ellis and his wife were members of the Regular Baptist Church and Ellis served as a clerk for the Little Flock Organization from the time it was organized. Ellis traveled much among the churches of Kentucky and Indiana.

Taking a look backward from Ellis, on his paternal side, the Kellys were Irish and among the first settlers of North Carolina. Ellis's grandfather moved from North Carolina about the year 1814 and settled in the southwestern part of Breckinridge County. The grandfather died about the year 1832.

Ellis's father, William S. Kelly was born in North Carolina on August 17, 1802 and was but 12 years old when the family moved to and settled on Rough Creek. After moving to Caney Creek near Spring Lick, William S. died there on his farm on July 22, 1875. He was the seventh son of his family all of whom lived to be old men. Three of William's brothers, George W. Kelly, of Floyd County, Virginia; Jeremiah Lewis Kelly, of Ohio County, Kentucky; and John Kelly of Trigg County, Kentucky were very prominent Baptist Ministers. William S. Kelly also had three sisters. Nothing is know of them at this time.

William S. Kelly and Caroline Wilson, Ellis's parents were married on February 8, 1827, and lived in Breckinridge County until after their five children were born, then they moved to Grayson County, Ky. near Rough Creek, living there a short while before moving on to the Spring Lick area in February of 1842.

Caroline Kelly, wife of William S. was the daughter of George Wilson, a native of Virginia and a lineal descendent of James Wilson, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence and was of Scotch descent. George Wilson came to Kentucky from Stafford County, Virginia with his father William Wilson, in the year 1785, age three years. He was born on December 30, 1782. The family first settled in Scott County, Kentucky, where they lived a few years; then moved on to the Falls of Rough area in what is now Grayson County but before Grayson county was formed. William Wilson died on April 4, 1821, age 73, being born about 1748. His wife and eight of his children were living at the time of his death. The names of his children were: James, William, Hannah, John, Thomas, George, Charles, Elizabeth, Mary, Joseph and Benjamin. Joseph and Benjamin were twins. Which of the three children were dead at the time William died is not known.

George Wilson, married Miss Eleanor Collins Crask, daughter of Vincent Crask of Breckinridge County, Ky. The couple were married on September 1, 1808 by William Anderson, Baptist Minister of Caneyville. Eleanor C. Wilson was born on September 30, 1786. Eleanor died on July 9, 1849. She and George Wilson had had eight children, six sons and two daughters, Caroline, Franklin, Felix Grundy, Eliza, Joseph, Benjamin, Vincent and William.

Vincent Crask, father of Eleanor was born April 4, 1776 and died Nov. 6, 1803 three years before Eleanor and George Wilson were married. It is not known in what state he was born. We do not know who he married, where nor when or whether Eleanor had brothers or sisters. He died when he was 29 years old.

William S. Kelly and Caroline (Wilson) Kelly had five children named as follows: Emmaline died an Infant; Almedia grew up and married Russell King, son of Alexander and Mary Watts King. Almedia died before 1885; Eliza grew up to marry John B. Jones of Spencer County, Indiana, she had one daughter named Eliza and died at the birth of her child; Joseph, the youngest son went to Florida to live and only Ellis remained on the farm with his parents. Ellis improved his education so that he became a teacher and taught school for one session, as well as serving his country as mentioned on foregoing page.

Mrs. Caroline (Wilson) Kelly was born on January 20, 1809 and died in Spencer County Indiana on November 24, 1877 at the home of her granddaughte Eliza Jones. Caroline was buried in a cemetery near Enterprise, Ind.

John Wilson and Elizabeth and Joshua Wilson and Phoebe left Woodford County KY circa 1824-26. The only child of Joshua Wilson and Phoebe Lansberry that I know of is my great grandfather Levi Buchanan Wilson b 12NOV1822 Woodford County KY md 4 NOV1852 Carroll Co KY Nancy Guthrie King. They moved to Crawford Co ~~KY~~ ILLINOIS soon after the Civil War.

Levi turns up in Carroll Co KY in 1850 - he is the Census Taker! There is a Levi Wilson in Pulaski County KY in the 1840 Census. In 1830 there is a Joshua Wilson in Pulaski County KY. However, I can't find out anything about these Wilsons. The wills tell me nothing. I am very curious!

Well I do have Wilsons and Armstrongs in Woodford County KY, do you?

Thank you for your letter and all that information.

Sarah Wilson was living with Wilkins and Elenor

Devees was probably a d/o Joseph & Sarah Wilson.
Wilkins and Elenor Devees are also buried there.

This just drives me up the wall. Was Sarah Wil (w/o Joseph) a sister to John Kelly? Was Elenor (Wilson)
Devees named for Elenor Collins (Crask) Wilson?

Was Elizabeth Kelly (b. 1793) a sister to Jennie (Crask) Atteberry? Or could she have been a sister to Stout Atteberry. (Since she was born in Va, I lean toward her having been a Crask.)

Wm E. and Martha Mattheson are buried in

Oh, boy! Don't you just love someone who asks a lot of questions and no answers. How about Joseph Wilson (b. 1775, buried in Tyler Cem.) being a brother to Sarah (Wilson) Crask - w/o Vincent?

'Will 1759.

trains on the C., O. & S. W. R. R. for several years. He still keeps the hotel, which he runs in connection with the family grocery and milling business, having the only mill in the town. Mr. Wells has done much toward building up the interests of Millwood, and its present reputation of being one of the best trading points on the road is largely due to his efforts. Mr. Wells has been twice married; his first wife, Miss Kittie Crawford, daughter of John and Lydia (Harned) Crawford, of Nelson County, bore him ten children as follows: Mary E., John H., the present clerk of the Hardin County Court; William H., Lydia S., wife of Charles Bunch; Benjamin, Charley, Franklin, Sallie, Kittie and Starling, the last four being deceased. Mrs. Wells died in Bullitt County in 1863. Mr. Wells' second marriage was solemnized September 22, 1863, with Miss Charlotte G. McGill, of Hardin County. Two children have been born to the last union: James T. and Kittie. Mr. Wells is a member of the Masonic fraternity, and was originally a Whig, but now votes the Democratic ticket.

HARDIN WILSON is numbered among the active business men of Grayson County. His paternal ancestors were of Scotch-Irish descent and among the early settlers of Virginia, where his grandfather, George Wilson, was born. George Wilson left his native State many years ago; came to Kentucky and settled in the northern part of Grayson County near Rough Creek, where he engaged in farming and teaching. He was a man of fine attainments and for a number of years was one of the most successful instructors in the county. His death occurred in 1855. Felix Wilson, subject's father, was born in Grayson County about 1814 and resided in the county all his life, following farming, in which he was very successful. He died in 1879, aged sixty-five years. Harriet (Porter) Wilson, his wife, was a daughter of Elias Porter, one of the early residents of Grayson. She was born in 1824, and departed this life about 1876. Felix and Harriet Wilson were the parents of the following children: Hardin, Cicero, Amanda C., Artie, Sudie and W. J. (deceased). Hardin Wilson was born March 25, 1848, in Grayson County, and he lived with his parents until his twentieth year. He obtained a fair education in the common schools of the county, and at the age of eighteen began teaching, which profession he followed for six years in the counties of Grayson, Breckinridge and Ohio. In 1871 he formed a partnership with his brother, W. J. Wilson, in the mercantile business at Caneyville, under the firm name of Wilson &

Bro., which continued for two years, at the end of which time he became a member of the business firm of Porter, Eskridge & Co., general merchandise, which firm continued for two years. In 1875 he and his brother J. W. Wilson, again effected a co-partnership in the goods business, which they carried on extensively for about seven years, in the meantime building up one of the largest and most successful goods houses in the county. His brother died at the end of seven years; Mr. Wilson succeeded him, and at once took full control of the business which he conducted singly until March, 1882, at which time he disposed of his interest and retired for two years. In March, 1885, he again engaged in business and the same year effected a co-partnership with C. A. Young and — Bratcher, which still continues. Mr. Wilson is in every respect a self-made man. He began life with little or no capital, but by untiring energy and diligent attention to business soon succeeded in establishing a house second to none in the county. His stock at Caneyville represents a capital of $12,000, besides which he has branch stores at Fordsville, Ohio County, Philpot's Station and Owensboro, Daviess County, his entire investment aggregating about $30,000. Mr. Wilson married, November 1, 1874, Miss Laura Wilson, daughter of F. M. and Mary Wilson, of Ohio County. To this union have been born four children, viz.: Olla, Edna, Bertha and Wayne. Mr. Wilson is a member of Caneyville Baptist Church, as is also his wife, and in politics acts with the Democratic party.

THOMAS BENTON WILSON, county superintendent of schools, was born in Grayson County, October 22, 1854. He is the thirteenth of fourteen children born to Christopher C. and Ursula (Wilkerson) Wilson. Christopher C. Wilson was born in Grayson County in 1811, was reared on the homestead farm, and educated at the subscription schools of his neighborhood. When quite young he married, and settled on a farm in Ohio County, and after his father's death returned to Grayson County and settled on the old homestead, where he remained several years, and then moved to a farm on Caney Creek, where he at present resides, a successful farmer. His wife was born in Breckinridge County in 1813. Thomas Benton Wilson was reared on the homestead farm on Caney Creek, and received a good education in the schools of his neighborhood. At the age of twenty he entered the Cloverport Academy in Breckinridge County, where he remained about eight months. In the fall of 1875 he was engaged as teacher of the schools of Spring Lick, and taught two terms. In the spring of the following year he attended school at Hartford, Ohio County, and during the ensuing five years taught and attended school, but afterward devoted his time entirely to teaching. Prominent among the places he taught at are Hodgenville, New Haven, Vine Grove, one term in Texas, and one as assistant teacher of the Leitchfield schools. In August, 1884, he was elected county superintendent of schools for Grayson County, and is the present incumbent. By his energy and ability he has greatly improved the condition of the schools throughout the county. For several years Mr. Wilson had also been engaged in the study of law, and in February, 1884, was admitted to the bar, and has since coupled the practice of his profession with his duties as county superintendent.

HIRAM S. WOODS, M. D., was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, September 13, 1838, and is the seventh of ten children born to Robert M. and Sarah (Myers) Woods, natives of Virginia and Cincinnati, respectively. He was reared in Hamilton County, where Sharon now stands, and at the age of seventeen went to Rockport, Ind., and entered the employ of Dr. H. L. Turner, a druggist, with whom he remained two years. He then went on his father's farm near Rockport, assisted in the farm duties, and attended school during the three following winters at Rockport, Grand View and Centreville. In the winter of 1860 he took up the study of medicine under Dr. George W. Ewing, with whom he remained until August, 1862. He then enlisted in the Fourth Indiana Cavalry, under Col. I. P. Grey, present governor of Indiana, and served three years, at the end of which time he received an honorable discharge and returned to his home in Spencer County, Ind. In the fall of 1865 he entered the Cincinnati Medical College, from which he graduated March 4, 1867. He immediately entered on the practice of his profession at Makanda, Ill., where he remained one year, going thence to Knox County, Ind., where he continued to practice until the fall of 1870. He then entered the Ohio School of Dental Surgery at Cincinnati, and remained one term. In the following March he located at Cannelton, Ind., and engaged in the practice of medicine and dentistry until the fall of 1876. He then came to Leitchfield, where he has since followed his profession with success, being the first and only dentist in Grayson County. He was united in marriage, May 25, 1874, by Rev. R. G. Gardner, at Union Star, Brockinridge County, with Dowee Basham, second daughter of Henry D. and Cassey (Hardin) Basham, and granddaughter of "Indian Bill" Hardin, the pioneer of western Kentucky. Dr. and Mrs. Woods are the parents of three children: Walter W., Annie and Bertha. Mrs. Woods is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Doctor of the Christian Church. He is one of Grayson County's most prominent Republicans, and has done much toward the organization of his party in the county. He is also the highest officer in the G. A. R. in the State, and is aid-de-camp to Gen. Counts, ex-commander-in-chief of the order.

JAMES S. WORTHAM, a prominent member of the Grayson County bar, was born on the old homestead farm, near Leitchfield, August 17, 1849. He is the eldest of three children born to James H. and Sarah W. (Vertrees) Wortham, of English and German extraction, respectively. He was reared on the homestead farm, and attended the district schools of his neighborhood until nine years of age, when (his father having died two years previously) the family removed to Leitchfield. Here James S. attended the public schools until his sixteenth year, when he entered Bethel College, at Russellville, Ky., and remained three years. He then entered the law department of the State University at Lexington, Ky., from which he graduated and delivered the class oration in June, 1869. He returned to Leitchfield and taught the public school for one year, when he was admitted to the bar. In August, 1878, he was elected county attorney, and is at present serving out his second term. He is a prominent Democrat and a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee from the Fourth Congressional District. He has also served with credit as chairman of the Democratic Committee, and two terms as town trustee. September 17, 1873, Mr. Wortham was united in marriage at Russellville, Ky., by Rev. David Morton, with Lizzie Ely, eldest daughter of Eli and Susan V. (Robertson) Ely, both natives of Kentucky. Their union has been blessed with four daughters: Jakie E., Linnie W., Daisy W. and Bessie C. Mr. and Mrs. Wortham are consistent members of the Christian Church. Mr. Wortham devotes his time to his profession, and has a large and lucrative practice.

His second wife was Mrs. Nancy Welch, nee Warden, whose memory is greatly revered by her step-children. After her death Richard T. married Victoria Spillman, to whom was born one child, Robert F. In the commencement of his business career Sidney F. had to rely upon his own strong arm, and by industry and good management has attained to comfortable circumstances. He married, November 22, 1866, Elizabeth H., daughter of Hiram and Parthena (Williams) Ashley, of Allen County (born May 24, 1845), and to them have been born Richard H. (deceased), Emily S. Williams in early life attended such schools as were afforded in his home district, where he laid the foundation for a fair English education, and his contact with the affairs of life has made him conversant with the literature of the day, and disciplined him in business. At the age of twenty-four he married Luella Duncan, daughter of Sanford and Kittie A. Duncan, of Allen County; she was born April 19, 1860, and their marriage took place in 1880. She departed this life April 10, 1882; her only son, Robert B., died February 11, 1882, in infancy. After his marriage Mr. Williams and his brother, William B. N., took charge of their father's farm, which they have operated successfully since. The farm contains 200 acres; 125 acres are in cultivation and well improved with fences, buildings and orchards. The water privileges are very good and the land is admirably adapted to grass, and supports some of the best stock in the county. Socially Mr. Williams commands the respect and esteem of all who know him; he is a member of the Baptist Church. He is a Democrat, but not a political aspirant, and lends a willing hand to the assistance of his friends and the improvement of the community. Robert B. He was for eight terms assessor of Allen County, during which time he received a premium for having the best-kept assessor's books in the State. He was a magistrate and member of the court of claims of Allen County for three terms, and was, besides, for four years county judge of his native county. In 1830 he was converted and joined the Methodist Church, in which he was, in 1831, licensed to exhort, and in 1837 was licensed to preach, and afterward was ordained, in 1847, as a deacon, by Bishop Janes, and as elder by Bishop Paine, in 1854. From 1837 up to within a short time of his death, which took place April 25, 1877, he labored constantly and earnestly as a minister of the Gospel, meeting with very great success. He had seven children, of whom George Y. is the youngest. He was possessed in his youth of fair opportunities and has obtained a fair English education; he is a moral man, not at present a member of any church organization, but is a Methodist in belief, and in politics is a Democrat.

He and wife are members of the Baptist Church; he was a member of the Grange, and is a Democrat in politics; his first presidential vote was given in 1870, for the Sage of Gramercy, Samuel J. Tilden.

ALLISON NALLEY, McLean County, was born January 31, 1825, one mile north of where he now resides, on Green River, and is the fourth of seven children of John and Ruth (Taylor) Nalley, the former a native of Maryland, and the latter of this county.

John Nalley's parents died when he was very young, and he was brought to Nelson County, Ky., by an uncle, in 1787; he was born in May, 1786; married in October, 1808, and died in March, 1863; his wife was born in June, 1793, and died in November, 1875. He first moved to Perry County, Ind.; thence to McLean County, Ky., about 1815, where he purchased a farm on Buck Creek and at the time of his death owned some 165 acres of land. The mother of subject was a daughter of Philip Taylor, who came from Pennsylvania to Louisville, Ky., and there in the fort married Hannah Atherton; some years later he moved to Fort Hartford, Ohio County, and finally to McLean County; he was a Revolutionary soldier and is said to have been the first man to leave Fort Hartford for a residence beyond its protecting walls. Allison Nalley was brought up on the farm, receiving but meager educational advantages. He was married in December, 1852, to Charlotte E., a daughter of Richard and Diana (Leach) Wooley, natives of Ohio County; he was a son of Levi and Margaret (Turnbaugh) Wooley, of Maryland, who came to Ohio County in a very early day; his wife, Margaret Turnbaugh, was a daughter of ————Turnbaugh. They were among the pioneers of Fort Hartford. Mr. and Mrs. Nalley have had five children, three of whom are living: Finley, Hardin T., and Alonzo. Ellura E., and Lowery are dead. Mr. Nalley located where he now lives in 1850, and at present owns 488 acres of land on the river, well improved and upon which he has a fine residence. His wife is member of the Methodist Church and in politics he is a Democrat.

WILLIAM B. NOE, McLean County, was born July 24, 1848, in Washington County, Ky. He is the second of three boys and four girls, all living, born to James G. and Eliza A. (Wilson) Noe, who were born respectively in Boyle and Washington Counties, Ky. James G. Noe and family came to McLean County, in 1863, and located near Sacramento. He was the son of Samuel Noe, who married Mary Hughes. They were natives of Boyle County, Ky. Samuel Noe was the son of James Noe, who located in Bourbon County, Ky., in an early day, and was the son of Aquilla Noe, of Scotland, who came to the United States and settled in Maryland. His sons, James, John and Aquilla, immigrated to the Southern States. They were all farmers. The mother of William B. Noe was a daughter of John H. Wilson, who was a soldier of 1812, and fought in the battle of New Orleans. He married Harriet Pettit from Virginia, and of Scotch and family are Catholics. He owns a farm of ninety-six acres of land.

P. D. Wilson, M. D., Gatewood, was born in Harrison County, Va., June 29, 1815, and is a son of Colonel Benjamin Wilson. He has been married three times and is the father of eleven children. He lived in Posey County, Ind., many years, and came to Daviess County in April, 1879, locating in Gatewood, where he has a store and is also Postmaster. His father, Colonel Benjamin Wilson, was born Nov. 30, 1747, east of the mountains in Virginia, and on reaching manhood, in 1768, removed west of the mountains. In 1773 he removed west of the Laurel Mountains and settled in what is now Harrison County, W. Va., which was his home till his death, Dec. 2, 1826. Colonel Wilson represented a large territory during our colonial existence. He commanded the military escort of Governor Dunmore in his campaign and treaty with the Indian chief, Cornstalk, held where Chillicothe, Ohio, now stands. He commanded the State militia on the northwestern border of Virginia during the Revolution, under General Washington. After the war he was Clerk of the Circuit Court, representing the large district west of the mountains twenty-eight years. Although he was a soldier seven years, he nor his heirs ever received a pension or a foot of public land for his services. He was twice married, and was the father of twenty-nine children, twenty-eight of whom were reared to maturity, and twenty-seven married. There are now two sons and four daughters living, their ages ranging from sixty to eighty years. They are residents of Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and Minnesota. His grandchildren and great-grandchildren are scattered from the Allegheny to the Rocky mountains.

Joseph F. Winkler, born in Knottsville Precinct, June 6, 1841, is a son of William Winkler, a resident of this precinct. He was reared on a farm and early learned the science of farming, and having put his knowledge into practice has developed into a model farmer. He owns 158 acres of good land. He also owns and runs a horse mill, the burrs of which are the oldest in the county, having been brought from Evansville in a row-boat by William Mason, before Owensboro was platted. His father used them many years, and they still do good work, Mr. Winkler doing his own grinding and much custom work for his neighbors. He enlisted in the late war, in Company E, Twelfth Kentucky Cavalry, U. S. A.; was in forty-two raids and skirmishes. A part of his company helped capture Jeff. Davis. December, 1859, he married Amanda descent. He (John H.) was a son of Josiah Wilson, who was a soldier in the Revolution. The Wilsons were among the first settlers of Kentucky. The Noe family settled in Boyle County, Ky., between 1775 and 1785. William B. Noe was reared on a farm, received a good English education, attended Bethel College two years, and taught school. In 1860 he went to Owensboro, where he commenced the study of law with Sweeney & Stuart; was admitted to the bar February 14, 1870, by Judges Cofer and Stites. In April of the same year he located in Calhoun, where he has since practiced his profession with success. In 1877 he was elected to fill an unexpired term as county judge. In 1884, was appointed by the governor a member of the State Board of Equalization; the first Board organized under the law. He is popular in his county and commands the respect of all that know him. He was married June 2, 1870, to Mary A. Bender, of McLean County, a daughter of John and Ann (Vickers) Bender, who were natives of Bavaria, Germany, and Muhlenburgh County, Ky., respectively. Ann Vickers was a daughter of John Vickers, formerly of North Carolina and of Welsh descent. He represented Muhlenburgh County in the Kentucky legislature in 1848. To Mr. and Mrs. Noe were born three children, but one living—Ora; they are members of the Baptist Church.

NEVERSON N. NUCKOLS, McLean County, was born June 22, 1843, near Richmond, Va., and is the eldest of five children of Lafayette P. and Lucy (Wilhoite) Nuckols; he is a native of Virginia, and a merchant by occupation; later a farmer, a soldier of the Mexican war, and a son of Joseph Nuckols, who married a Miss Duke; she was a daughter of Evan Wilhoite, who married a Miss Ailer, both natives of Virginia. Neverson N. was brought up on a farm, with limited educational advantages; his parents having died while he was quite young—his mother in August, 1854, and his father in October, 1857; they had immigrated to Oldham County, Ky., about 1850. After their death he lived with his grandparents, and at the age of sixteen wandered to Missouri. In October, 1861, he enlisted in Company A, First Missouri (Confederate) Cavalry, and took part in the battles of Booneville, Carthage, Dry Wood, Lexington and Springfield. After a cavalry service of six months he joined the First Missouri Battery, and was in the battles of Pea Ridge, Farmington, Iuka, Corinth, Chickamauga, Mission Ridge, and was in the Atlanta campaign; was wounded at Resaca; was also with Hood at Franklin and Nashville, in May, 1865; he surrendered at Savannah, Ga., and returned to his home in Missouri; in June of the same year he came back to Oldham County, Ky., where he engaged in farming. In 1870 he came to McLean County, and after wandering around considerably, located in 1862 upon the farm where he now lives, comprised of 430 acres in a good state of cultivation and well improved. He devotes a good deal of attention to breeding Jacks and Jennies, and has a large number of these animals. He was married March 25, 1860, to Helen M. Scoggan, a native of Jefferson County, and a daughter of Charles and Elizabeth (Jones) Scoggan. Two children have been born to them—Hiram C. and Charlie B. Mr. and Mrs. Nuckols are members of the Baptist Church. He is a member of the Democratic party, and gave his first presidential vote to S. J. Tilden.

MARK OWEN, McLean County, was born October 9, 1820, in Tennessee, and is the eldest of a family of twelve children, eight boys and four girls, born to Henry and Eliza (Howard) Owen, natives of North Carolina. He came from Tennessee with his parents in 1823, and the year following they located on the place where Mark Owen now resides. Some years later his father bought 125 acres of land, which he improved, and at his death owned about 900 acres. He died in 1839, at the age of forty-five, and his widow died in 1862, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mark received a limited education; he was married in April, 1869, to Laura C. Lockett, a daughter of Abner and Caroline (Barker) Lockett, of Henderson and Union Counties, respectively. Six children have resulted from this union, four of whom are living, viz.: Felix, Caroline B., Sarah M. and Mabel. Mr. and Mrs. Owen are members of the Baptist Church; he is a Democrat, and gave his first national vote in 1844, for James K. Polk. Mr. Owen's grandfather, William Owen, married Charlotte Montague; both were born and reared in North Carolina. They immigrated to Breckinridge County, Ky., about 1800, and a little later moved to Tennessee and settled at Wolf River; the maternal grandfather was Mark Howard, who married Rachel Webb, also natives of North Carolina, and among the pioneers of Ohio County, Ky.

FELIX A. OWEN, McLean County, was born December, 1828, in Ohio County, Ky., (now McLean County), and on adjoining farm to where he now lives, seven miles north of Livermore, and is a son of Henry and Eliza (Howard) Owen (see biography of Mack Owen). Felix A. was brought up

-164 dusky's Station. The first house was built of logs, facing East. It stood for about 50 years before it was destroyed by fire.

The second meeting house on Pleasant Run was a frame structure. It is said this house was one of the largest ever constructed for use by a country congregation. Pleasant Run had a large membership then, and the place was the scene of many large gatherings, familiarly known as camp meeting, when people came on horseback and in wagons for as many as 30 or 40 miles. This second meeting house burned in 1897, and in 1898 the present house, of brick, was built.

The Old Cemetery

In front of the Pleasant Run meeting house which now faces South is the cemetery. Browsing through the burying-ground one comes upon such names as Brand, Clark, Lynch, Daugherty, Cregor, Bigger, Land, Goode, Canary, Lannum, Leachman, Rinehart, Funk, Bosley, Barbour, Whitecotton, Swan, Logan, Pearce, McElroy, Askren, Drain, Baggeley, Wilson, Sandusky and many others.

As I looked upon the graves of R. Y. McElroy, his wife, Fannie C., and their children, Zana, Joseph F. and Harvey, I thought, how fortunate they had not been buried with their kinfolk in the family burying-ground now erased.

Old Barbour Home

I was particularly interested in the grave-stones of Philip Barbour and his wife, Jane, and their son, James P. Barbour. The old Barbour homestead stood just across the road South from the cemetery. They were the "aristocrats" of the Pleasant Run Country. Philip Barbour was born in Virginia, June 26, 1774. He came to Kentucky and settled near Sandusky's Station and there he died Sept. 18, 1835. His wife, Jane, was born in 1778, and she died in 1845. Their home of logs had four or five rooms on the first floor, and it was much larger than the other homes in the neighborhood. It was surrounded by a large number of slave cabins.

James P. Barbour was one of the early graduates of Centre College. When he was 20 years of age he came home from college and opened a school for boys at his father's house. He was a remarkable Latin and Greek scholar, and even when he had passed his 70th birthday, he could pick up his Latin and Greek readers and read with rapidity. After Marion County was formed from Washington in 1834, James P. Barbour represented the new county in the State Legislature, being a member of the upper house.

We View The Fort!

From the meeting house and cemetery, the road runs down a short hill, makes a bend to the left and crosses Pleasant Run. From the bridge we looked upon the site of the once notorious Sandusky's Station. The fort stood very near to the edge of the stream on the West side. The stockade of logs was built around a spring, a most ideal arrangement for the occupants of the fort and the settlers thereabout in the event of an attack by Indians.

Nothing now remains of the stockade or the several cabins that stood within the enclosure. The spring is still there, with a spring-house of rocks. A few old trees stand about like sentinels put there to guard the spot. The home of the present owner of the land stands on a knoll Westward from the fort site.

One of Oldest Stations

Sandusky's Station was one of the oldest forts in the wilderness of Kentucky. While we know that some member of the Sandusky clan built the Station, there is some question as to what his given-name was. As has been previously stated in this department, the earlier historians gave the credit to James Sandusky, a member of the company of pioneers who founded Harrodsburg. James Sandusky, they said, tiring of the life at Harrodsburg, moved further into the wilderness in search of solitude and game, found a delightful spot on Pleasant Run and built himself a fort. That was in 1776.

After spending several years on Pleasant Run, according to the earlier writers, James Sandusky felt the urge to move again. This time he traveled Northward, passing his old home at Harrodsburg, and on up to Bourbon County where he built a fort on Cane Run that became known as Sandusky's Station.

Among the members of the Sandusky clan who came into the wilderness of Kentucky we find in addition to James, such others as Jacob Sandusky, Anthony Sandusky, John Sandusky, and Samuel Sandusky. John and Samuel were brothers and sons of Anthony. What relation Anthony and his sons bore to James and Jacob is not known. Anthony was probably a brother of James and Jacob. All the aforementioned are known to have lived at Harrod's Fort and at Wilson's Station before the migration to the Pleasant Run Country. Josiah Wilson, for whom Wilson's Station near Harrodsburg was named, married Hannah Sandusky, a sister of James, Jacob and Anthony. Wilson removed to the Pleasant Run Country and settled very near to Sandusky's Station at or about the time the fort was built.

Early Statements Refuted

An examination of old records in Washington and Nelson Counties has brought to light some interesting data which tends to contradict the statements of the early writers with reference to the establishment of Sandusky's Station. The writer has found an old deposition made very early in the 19th century by one John Isaacs, in which that gentleman in answer to the question, "Who founded Sandusky's Station on Pleasant Run?" replied, "Anthony Sandusky and his sons and Thomas Pierce."

In a deposition made by Anthony Sandusky before Jesse Head and A. E. Gibbins, two Justices of the Peace for Washington County in 1805, to be read in evidence in a suit depending in the Bardstown Circuit Court, we find the following data:

Anthony Sandusky became acquainted with the Beech Fork of Salt River and Pleasant Run in the summer of the year 1780. He was "frequently upon the said fork and run from the summer of 1780 until the spring of 1783 at which time he commenced a settlement where he now lives on Pleasant run." Said it was common knowledge at Harrod's fort in 1779 that there was a branch of the Beech fork called pleasant run.

In another deposition made before

Andrew Cunningham and Jesse Head in June, 1808, Anthony Sandusky in substance:

"I moved with my family to place in the spring of 1782 and turned the same spring to Harrodsburg Station, and continued there until at which time I again moved my family back & have resided here since."

Anthony Sandusky died in 1810 will is of record in the office of Clerk of the Washington County Court. He had at least two sons, James and Samuel. Whether the son was the same of whom I have written earlier in this sketch I do not know. Samuel Sandusky lived and died in Springfield. Anthony Sandusky at least two daughters. One married Andrew Mason and the other James Blackford.

Cartwright's Next

From the site of Sandusky's Station we proceeded along the road that runs a little South to West and crossed a dividing ridge to come upon the forks of one of the forks of Cartwright's Creek. The road then follows the fork for some distance to the point where the other fork joins to form the main body of Cartwright's Creek. At the junction of the forks the road makes an abrupt turn to the Southward and follows the creek some distance. The old road, I told, wove in and out of the creek following the creek bed a greater part of the time.

Our next point of interest was the site of Cartwright's Church. Of the history of this church I have been able to learn practically nothing. Mr. Bosley says it stood on a hill to the left of the road and not far from the junction of the forks of Cartwright's Creek. It is not a great way from the church site to the supposed site of Cartwright's Station. Mr. Bosley says that the statement of the pioneer and Indian fighter, Phileas Waters, that Cartwright's Station was located about five miles above the mouth of Shepherd's Run, would tend to place the station and church very close together. Perhaps the arrangement there was similar to that on Pleasant Run. The church and cemetery located on a hill and the station in the valley on the edge of the creek.

THOMAS WARING of Virginia, representative from Mason County, made his settlement one and a half miles west of Maysville, 1785. He was justice, 1789; sheriff, 1790, when he was instrumental in securing a new stone jail for Mason County. He was probably one and the same as the Thomas Waring who was born in Prince George County, Va., 1752; married Lydia Walton (1759-1831); lieutenant in the Virginia Line during the Revolution; who died in Greenup County, Ky., January 18, 1818.

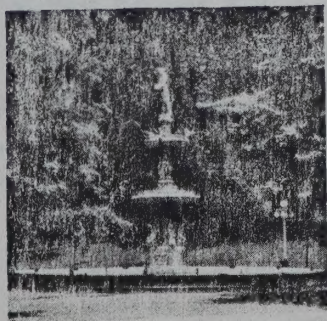

JOHN WATKINS, who with Colonel Young, General Calmes and Major Lee founded the town of Versailles, was a native of Virginia. Before coming to Kentucky he married Mary Hudson, the sister of Elizabeth (Hudson) Clay, mother of Henry Clay, who as a widow married Henry Watkins, his brother. Besides being a member of the First Constitutional Convention at Danville, he represented Woodford County in the first Legislature. He died in Woodford County prior to 1812 leaving a will.

JOHN WILSON, member from Mason County, was one of those who signed the petition to the Virginia Assembly requesting a division of the County of Bourbon. It is possible he was the John Wilson who served under Col. James Harrod in his company of Kentucky pioneers. He died in Mason County about 1798-1800, where his will is a matter of record.

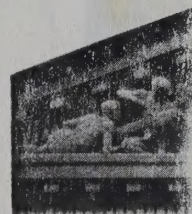

RICHARD YOUNG came to Kentucky territory from Fauquier County, Va., and was one of the founders of the town of Versailles. He had served in the Revolution as quartermaster at Fredericksburg as is shown in the pension claim of a Fayette County applicant. His wife was Mary Moore and his farm was located near the town of Versailles. Besides being a member of the First Constitutional Convention of Kentucky, he served in the legislature until the year 1803. He died, 1815, leaving issue.

HENRY TODD WILSON, farmer; P. O. Cane Ridge; proprietor of Snow Hill farm; is a son of Joseph, he of Henry Wilson, who came at a very early date from near Culpepper Court House, Va., to Boonesborough, where he took an active part in the building of that place. Was also one of the company who built the block-house and established the fort at "Bryant's Station." At an early age he married a Miss Faulkner, who was a daughter of one of the first settlers at Bryant's Station, and afterwards one of the most prominent and wealthy families of Fayette County. Soon after marriage he removed to the neighborhood of Flat Rock, where he subsequently purchased a 5,000 acre tract of land which (to induce a settlement), he gave to numerous families. Being impressed by a strong belief that a salt well could be secured upon his farm, he determined to make the effort, which required a great amount of time, labor, and the exhausting of all his means. His efforts, however (to the surprise of all the settlers), were crowned with success, which made him the first proprietor of a salt well in Kentucky. The only salt manufactured in the State before that at his works, was by Daniel Boone, at the Blue Licks. Joseph Wilson was the seventh child of a family of eleven children—four sons and two daughters older than himself. He was born in the year 1800, near Flat Rock, when the country was yet in its infancy. He received a limited education, engaging, at an early age, in the capacity of drover, taking to the eastern markets numerous herds of all kinds of stock, and after the advent of railroads continued in the business as an extensive shipper. At twenty-seven years of age he was married to Nancy McCoy, daughter of Thomas McCoy, who resided near Chillicothe, Ohio, by whom he had five sons and three daughters, the subject of this sketch being the second son. The Wilson family have been noted as a long-lived people, of Scotch-Irish descent, the great-grandfather coming with his parents, when an infant, to the city of Philadelphia, in which, without relatives, he was, at the age of seven years, left an orphan by the death of both parents. The subject of this sketch attended school at Flat Rock, becoming quite proficient in the common branches and the Latin language, under the instruction of Prof. Milligan. After eighteen years of age he engaged in the stock business with his father. He was married on the 15th of May, 1855 (at twenty-seven years of age), to Miss A. E. Young, daughter of Johnson A. Young, a prominent stock dealer and farmer near Mt. Sterling, Montgomery County. By this marriage there are four children: William, a law student at Mt. Sterling;

Sallie H., Lizzie B. and Mary M. Mr. Wilson spent eight years in Congress lobbying upon bills for the remuneration of his neighbors and himself for the loss of stock during the war. He is a man of honor and integrity and business ability, and, with his family, belong to the Christian church.

BENJ. F. WALLS, farmer; P. O. Cane Ridge; proprietor of Maple Grove Farm, was born Aug. 12, 1840, to Zachariah and Tempa (Osborn) Walls; she a daughter of William and Keziah Osbourn, who emigrated from Germany to Clark County, Kentucky, settling on Red River, where he raised a large family by two wives. Zachariah was a son of Thos. Walls, who removed with his family from Richmond, Va., to Bath County, Ky., at an early date, he being the youngest of two sons and four daughters; was born in Kentucky. Thos. Walls was a soldier, and was badly wounded in the Revolutionary War. The parents of our subject had ten sons and seven daughters, viz.: Oimstead, died in the Mexican war; Betsy Ann, a Mrs. Myers, died in Illinois, whither she had gone; William married Eliza Alexander and resides in Bates County, Mo.; Reuben, also in Missouri; Isaac married Mary Simms, and died in Bates County, Mo., where his widow now resides; Thomas married Sally Fulton, and resides in Bates County, Mo.; James married Sarah Markwell and resides in Illinois; Kittie A., now a Mrs. Anderson, residing in Cass County, Mo.; Benjamin F., George, deceased; John, married first, Mary Sharp; second, Annie Fletcher, and resides in Bates County, Mo.; Malvina, now a Mrs. Mark Kimes, also in Bates County, Mo.; Violina, a Mrs. Cummins Kilbe, living in Fleming County, Ky.; Tempa, a Mrs. William Williams, residing in the State of Illinois; Keziah, a Mrs. Johnson, in Colorado, and Edgar in Missouri; Malvina and Violina and Keziah and deceased infant were twins. The parents of our subject both died while he was yet young, and being thrown upon his own resources at eighteen years of age, he came to Bourbon County and worked on a farm one year at $15 per month; then went to Richmond, Va., where he engaged in the mule trade for Green & Walker, at $25 per month, continuing for about two years; he then came to the farm which is now his present home, where he worked for his mother-in-law at $15 per month until his marriage, Aug. 21, 1862, to Maria L. Wasson, daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Martin) Wasson; he a native of Pennsylvania, she of North Carolina. Maria L. is the youngest of seven children, two only of whom are now living, the above and Mrs. Elizabeth Summers, of Nicholas. By this marriage Mr. Walls had three children: a son, died in infancy;

Immediately after the first settlement on Stotts Creek, others began to appear and locate in the neighborhood and farther up on the same stream and branches. Early settlers in those times always sought the streams ~~streams~~ which were the great commercial highways as well as the sources of water, water power and fresh springs. Among the earliest settlers were James Stotts, Andrew Stotts, H.T. Craig, William Offield, two or three families of Laughlins, Zachariah Davee, James Ennis, who had several large sons, Thomas Stockton, Samuel Speaks and his sons, Thomas and James, William Perry, Andrew Stevens, John Pierce, the cooper, John Pierce, the blacksmith, Elisha Hamden, Thomas Irons, Jonathan Williams, James Shields, Abe Hammons, Jacob Hammons, Jacob Case, John Dyer, John Marker, Edward Jones, Peter King, Aaron Holdman and a little later H.W. Another Sketch of David Shelton Born Sept. 15, 1812, Buncombe Co. N. Carolina.

Ralph Shelton, known as Black Ralph, on account of his daring deeds on horseback against the rule of the crown, was a Virginia gentleman rich in land and blooded horses. He was the great grandfather of David and Elizabeth Shelton. He came to America in 1620.

They are the Sheltons of Shelton Abbey in Wales. There was also an estate in Ireland and England.

David Shelton's father, Lewis Shelton was born in Virginia in 1785 and died in 1850 in Mo. His mother Nancy Gladden was born in Tenn. in 1790 and died in Polk Co. Ore. in 1860, having come there in 1852 with two of her sons. She was the mother 14 children, all of whom lived to man and womanhood. David Shelton's elder sister, Elizabeth Shelton Standley was a pioneer of Calif. coming across the plains in covered wagons in 1852 and settled in Mendocino Co., where her husband amassed quite a fortune. She died at the age of 97. Her grandson is W. H. Standley of the navy.

David Shelton married Francis Wilson May 30, 1837. She was born Mar. 16, 1817 in Whitley Co. Kentucky, and died April 15, 1887 in Shelton, Mason Co. Wash. and is buried in the Masonic Cemetery, Olympia, Wash. She was the daughter of David and Joycie Sears Wilson, who were both born in Va. David Wilson's parents came to America in 1680 from England. Joyce Sears Wilson's ancestors were Huguenot French of the nobility who were driven into Switerland sometime in 1600 and later found their way to England. There they embarked for America, with a Welsh family by the name of Owens. The countess' name was Joyce Sears. The last name is not correct, but after being anglicized was called Sears. (I have a snuff box which belonged to her). Joycie Sears Wilson was a relative of Samuel Washington, brother to George. She also was related on her maternal side to Col. Abraham Owens, founder of Owensboro, Kentucky, who was born in Va. in 1769, moved to Ken. in 1785, served in several Indian Wars and was killed Nov. 5, 1811 in the Battle of Tippecanoe.

David Wilson died on his plantation in Kent. in 1834. His wife Joyce Wilson freed her slaves and with her four children, Francis, Adaline, Mary and Speed, left for Mo. and took up a claim near St. Joe in 1835, where two years later her daughter Francis married David Shelton. IN 1847 she started across the plains. The trip I describe in David Shelton's life and trip. A month before she started she layed away a baby girl, and having been raised in refinement and plenty this seemed hard. She was one of the bravest throughout the long struggle and in the years to follow was never known to complain.

David Shelton died Feb. 15, 1897 in Shelton, Wash. and is buried in the Masonic Cemetery, Olympia, Wash. He was a pioneer of Ore. and Wash. and crossed the plains in 1847. In 1819 he moved with his parents Lewis Shelton and Nancy Gladden Shelton

Dear OWEN cousins -- each and all,

(However far you may have strayed from old Virginia and Kentucky, whatever your name may now be, if you have a drop of OWEN blood in your veins you are Cousin to those who live near the "old Kentucky home" of our fore-fathers. To those warm-hearted southern cousins and to the descendants of their emigrating kin who have scattered east, north and west, GREETINGS from Ina, daughter of Nancy H. (Nan), daughter of Johnson M., son of James, son of John, son of David, of Virginia.)

For some time I have been trying to trace the history of the family and for the benefit of all of you, am making copies of the information I have so far gathered. Much of what I have concerning the ancestors is copied from a book written by my mother. This information was gathered by Mother, her cousin, Retta, and her uncle, William Matthew Owen, on their much talked of, lovingly remembered trip to Kentucky in November, 1894. To this I am adding, for the benefit of the present generation, bits of interest in the home life of my grand-parents--Johnson Monroe & Mary Ann (Potter) Owen--and their family, also a very incomplete genealogy of their descendants. I am ashamed to have forgotten so much that I should know of my mother's brothers and sisters and their children. But if each of you will send me information of your immediate family, I hope to fill the blanks. Some of my information may not be correct. If you find anything you KNOW to be wrong, don't hesitate to let me know. If each of you will give me the dates of the birth, marriage and death of your parents, their children and grandchildren, (yes and great-grandchildren, if any) with the full name of the one marrying into the family with date of birth, in time the Tribe can have a very complete history of the Sons & Daughters of David of Virginia. Give the present location and vocation and anything of your home life that you think will be of interest to all. Remember, this is for the benefit of all but, more especially, of the rising generation.

Can any of you give me the date of the birth and death of David of Virginia? Who was his wife? Had she died before his visit to the daughter Elizabeth who had married Joe Martin and lived in Kentucky? Did Elizabeth marry Joe in Virginia or Kentucky? Had David or his wife any brothers or sisters in Halifax Co., Virginia when he made his visit? Was he born in this Country? Do you know anything of his parents or grand-parents? Who was the English ancestor of David and where in England did he live? Give anything that you can of the early days of the Owen family both in Kentucky, Virginia (and I think North Carolina) and in old England. Someone once asked me if our FAMILY had a coat-of-arms and I replied that if they did it must have born a plow-share, for, so far as I knew, they were all farmers, planters, -- connected with the soil.

If I seem to oft repeat, remember it is to make as plain as I may the lineage and relationship.

From May Owen of Fairfield, Illinois, (daughter of William Matthew Owen), I have gotten my earliest date, August 15, 1784, the birth of her mother's grandfather, Richard Owen, the fifth son of David of Virginia. May, I hope to get from your family the date of the birth of John Owen, your father's grandfather, and oldest son of David of Virginia. Also, give any other information you possibly can.

Bud Owen, whom Charlie took us to see one night when I was at Fairfield, must have some record of a part of the Tribe, and Luther Owen of Fairfield, son of the best beloved of grandfather's children, (William Matthew--named for his father's brother and always called William, while the Uncle was called Matthy in his younger days) give me any information you can. I, unfortunately, have none of the old family Bibles. Who has the one belonging to my grandfather, Johnson Monroe Owen, and grandmother, Mary Ann (Potter) Owen? It should be one of Uncle David & Aunt Susannah (Owen) Lewis' family or one of Uncle Bob's & Aunt Jennie (Owen) Wilsey's family, or it may be lost or destroyed.

THE OWEN FAMILY

Revised August 1958 by Marjorie Dallas Ralls Brannon

In 1587 Sir Walter Raleigh sent 150 men and women to Roanoke Colony, Virginia. Among these men was John White Owen. Apparently this English ancestor of ours was in the service of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth I, as he did not remain in Virginia but returned to England and was killed in the great battle between the Spanish Armada and the English Fleet.

Twenty years later, May 1607, Walter Owen, son of John White Owen, arrived, with other English settlers, at the mouth of Chesapeake Bay. They landed on a low marshy peninsula, 35 miles above the mouth of the James River. A fort was built and cannons were mounted to protect the colony, not only from the Indians, but also from the Spaniards, who were vital enemies to all Englishmen. Poor food, contaminated water and the hot climate killed half these settlers before Fall. By Spring 1610, only 60 of the original 500 settlers were alive. They started to leave Jamestown, but as they sailed down the James River, three well-stocked vessels in the command of Lord Delaware arrived and Jamestown was reoccupied.

In 1611 Walter Owen was given a plot of land by the Governor of Virginia, Sir Thomas Dale, and this was the beginning of the Owen plantation along the James River. Walter Owen cultivated tobacco on his plantation.

Walter Owen's wife died sometime before 1619. It may be presumed she did not live through the first Autumn of 1607 as there is no record of any children by this union. In 1619 a shipload of maidens were sent from England to wed the lonely bachelors in Virginia. Walter Owen came from his plantation and chose as his wife Elizabeth Bland, a maiden "young, handsome and chaste." This same year the first slaves were brought to Jamestown by a Dutch vessel. In Virginia the soil, climate and leading occupation of raising tobacco on vast plantations caused slavery to be favorable.

Revised By Marjorie Dallas Ralls Brannon

By 1624 four sons had been born to Walter and Elizabeth Bland Owen. That year Walter Owen lost his young wife when the Indians killed and scalped 400 settlers scores of miles up and down the James River. The colored Mammy who held Walter Owen's infant son was also killed in the attack and although Walter Owen and other settlers took terrible revenge and pursued the Indians deep into the forests, the baby was not found. 1632 the eldest son, George Bland Owen, was sent by his Father to England for his education. It is presumed that young George Bland Owen was educated in the Court of Charles I as he became one of the King's Cavaliers and did not return to Virginia until about 1650, after Cromwell and the English Puritans had beheaded Charles I.

George Bland Owen married the daughter of a Dutch Trader, her name lost to time, and she died in childbirth, but his son, William Berkeley Owen (named after the Governor of Virginia) lived.

In 1676, George Bland Owen was killed near Jamestown when, with Governor Berkeley and a collection of soldiers, he attempted to stop Bacon's Rebellion. Bacon was victorious and burned Jamestown. Governor Berkeley was called back to England by Charles II and William Berkeley Owen lived on his Grandfather Walter Owen's plantation. He was educated by a private tutor.

In 1693, by his third wife, a son, John Owen was born to William Berkeley Owen. John Owen was educated in the new College of William and Mary, in the new Capitol, Williamsburg. John Owen became a lawyer and possibly studied at Harvard also for he married a Puritan maiden in Boston. His Father, George Bland Owen, must have turned over in his grave when this marriage occurred, for George Bland Owen had detested the Puritans and had died fighting against them. But the old order changes and gives way to the new, and John Owen was the new generation and in love with his Puritan wife. They returned to the Owen plantation in Virginia and attended the Governor's Reception at Williamsburg and John Owen became a member of the House of Burgesses in Virginia. The Puritan wife could not resist the silks, satins and velvets from London and attired like the grand lady that she was, she rode beside her husband in the great coach, which was decorated with the Owen's Coat of Arms and drawn by fine horses. Before them rode uniformed negro servants and behind them came others, all proud to belong to such a master.

The original house built by Walter Owen was made of logs, notched so that the ends would fit together. The spaces between the logs were filled or chinked with mud to keep out the rain. The roof was made of clapboard split out of logs. chimney, placed at one end of the cabin, on the outside was made of sticks and mud. The floor was the bare earth.

By 1700 the house on the Owen plantation was spacious with large halls, many windows and large verandas. They danced to the stately movements of the Virginia Reel and the "square" and "round" dances. Fox-hunting was a great sport on the plantation. Early in the morning, as the last stars faded, men and women gathered on horseback from all the plantations to the musical call of the conch shells and horn. They raced at breakneck speed when the hounds were on the trail. John Owen kept open house and treated all guests in a hearty way. There was excellent food on bountiful tables, good beds, good books in the Library.

David Owen was born on this Virginia Plantation in 1741 (died 1841). In 1754 John Owen was killed at Fort Necessity in a skirmish with the French, who were attempting to possess the land around the headwaters of the Ohio River. John Owen with other Virginia planter, had received from the Ohio Company and the King of England 500,000 acres near the headwater of the Ohio.

THE OWEN FAMILY

Revised by Marjorie Dallas Ralls Brannon

David Owen married Elizabeth Dance and their descendants were John (1762-1852), Walter 1764, James 1766 (called Spider-legged Jimmie), William 1770, Richard 1773, Joseph 1776, David born 1778 and Elizabeth (Betty) born 1781.

During the Revolutionary War, David Owen was a Loyalist as were many men in each of the Colonies. However, he did not fight for King George II so he was permitted to remain at home. Again the new generation disagreed with the old, for John and Walter Owen joined the Virginia Militia and fought until Cornwallis' Surrender, October 19, 1781, brought victory for the United States.

After the Revolution, John Owen and his young wife, Nancy Martin, crossed the mountains into Kentucky by way of Cumberland Gap and Daniel Boone's Wilderness Road. Nancy Martin Owen died at the birth of her son, James Owen, 1783 (died 1862), before the young travelers were settled in the new Virginia County of Kentucky; and John Owen turned Eastward, crossed the mountains to Pittsburgh on the Ohio River and married a Quaker Maiden, Obedience Legend. With his new bride, John Owen returned to Kentucky to his land grant. Their children were James Johnson, Lucy, Elizabeth.

James Johnson Owen hated slavery. His attitude caused a break between him and his people and with his wife, Susannah Monroe (daughter of Johnson Monroe and Amelia Hooper Monroe). He migrated to Illinois in 1810. Their children were Johnson Monroe born 1811, John, Amelia, Nancy, James Legend, David, William Matthew, Obediah Hooper, Jefferson (named after Thomas Jefferson out of James Johnson Owen's respect for that President's - 1800-08 - anti-slavery ideas) and Elizabeth.

THE OWEN FAMILY

Revised by Marjorie Dallas Ralls Brannon

Johnson Monroe Owen married Mary Ann Potter in 1834 and their descendants were Daniel James born 1835, William born 1836, Peter Crews born 1838, Felix born 1840, Susannah born 1841, Hiram Potter born 1843, Nancy Haynes born 1845, Amelia Jefferson born 1846, Alexander born 1848, Albert born October 15, 1854, Mary Ellen born 1856, Matilda Jane born 1860.

In the Civil War, Johnson Monroe Owen, with the blood of his patriot Uncle, James Monroe (Consul to France under President Jefferson), warm in his veins, and his father's anti-slavery opinions planted firmly in his heart, though old enough to be exempt, volunteered with his sons and this grand old gentleman, fighting under General Grant at Fort Donelson, fell, at this victorious spot of the Union Army. His eldest son, Daniel James Owen, was killed April 6, 1862 in the Battle of Shiloh. His three brothers, William Owen, Peter Crews Owen, and Felix Owen, returned safely home.

In 1873 Albert Owen was employed on the Illinois farm of Rev. Lewis Hon. Albert Owen and Nancy Emma (or Emmer) Hon were married Nov. 5, 1874 in White County, Illinois. This marriage was opposed by Rev. Lewis Hon, who disapproved of his daughter marrying one of his "hired hands." If young Albert Owen had presented his credentials of lineage from one of the first families in America, he might have been better received by his father-in-law.

settlement or improvement on south side of south fork of Licking opposite the place afterwards called Hingston's station by some and by others Ruddell's station. Deponent was frequently in the year of 1779 at Hingston's settlement which was resorted to by a number of adventurers to this country and deponent was frequently, during the spring and summer of said year, at this place, where John Haggin had built a cabin, cleared and located some lands, and resided with his wife and family at the period named. I returned to this country in the year 1785 or 1786, after leaving it in 1776, and was shortly afterwards at this place, and heard it frequently called Haggin's cabin.

p.268, Deposition of DAVID WILSON, aged 63 years (taken at JAMES RUDDLE's in Bourbon County on May 2, 1811, before GEORGE MOUNTJOY and J. L. STEPHENS, Justices of the Peace): Deponent came to this neighborhood after the New Year of the same year that Hingston erected the station below this place, after the Indians took it while under the command of said Ruddell, the year the deponent does not recollect. Deponent assisted in the settlement of said station, and at that time he frequently saw the improvement at this place, and it was unanimously called Haggin's improvement or the place settled by Haggin some years before.

that end of the Town granted to a private individual. It furnished great quantities of saplings, suitable for the making of pipe staves—then a very important industry in the infant colonies, and as Mr. B. was a cooper by trade, it may have been one of the inducements which led him to leave Mass., where the supply was rapidly being exhausted. Fleming County

DAVID WILLSON, proprietor of the Exchange Bank, Flemingsburg, was born October 16, 1820, in Bath County, Ky. His father, Samuel Willson, was born near Philadelphia, Penn., and came to Kentucky about the year 1811, and took an active part in the war of 1812. Mrs. Elizabeth Willson, the mother of our subject, is a native of Bath County, Ky., is a daughter of James Rogers, of Virginia, an early settler of Bath County; she is still living at the age of ninety-two years. David Willson was reared on the farm, but at the age of sixteen went to Sherburne, Fleming County, and clerked in a dry goods store until the death of his father, when he returned to the farm. August 10, 1857, he removed to Flemingsburg, and with T.B. Smith opened a private bank, with a capital of $20,000. Mr. Smith died in September, 1865, since which time Mr. Willson has conducted the business on his own account. The capital is now $100,000, with a surplus of $10,000, and average deposits $150,000. Mr. Willson was married, in 1846, to Miss Mary Herndon, of Bath County, who died in 1849, leaving two children. His second marriage was to Miss Bettie Herndon, in 1854. Mr. Willson is a Republican in politics, served as master commissioner from 1868 until 1884, and for many years has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

of Clarksville, Tennessee, for two years; since which time he has remained in Paducah, conducting a business of his own in leaf tobacco, and now commands the best trade, and is probably the most extensive leaf tobacco broker, in his section. He is a member of the Methodist Church; is a man of strict integrity, and good business habits, which have made all his undertakings successful. He was married, in 1868, to Miss Ella Atkins, daughter of the late H. M. Atkins, a prominent citizen of Clarksville, Tennessee.

WILSON, DAVID, Merchant, Banker, and prominent business man, of Flemingsburg, was born October 16, 1820, in Bath County, Kentucky. His parents were Samuel and Elizabeth (Rogers) Wilson. His father was a native of Pennsylvania; lost his parents when he was an infant; came to Kentucky and settled in Bourbon County; shortly afterward enlisted in the army, and served through the war of 1812; at the close of the war he became a clerk in the office of the County Clerk, at Winchester, filling the position for several years; afterwards removed to Bath County, where he became a farmer and stock-raiser, and where he died, in 1843. He was of Irish-German extraction. His mother, Elizabeth Rogers, was a native of Bath County, and daughter of James Rogers, a farmer and early settler of that county from Virginia, descended from Irish parentage. The subject of this sketch was raised on the farm, and attended the country schools in Winters. At the age of eighteen, he went to clerk in a store at Sherburne, in Fleming County, where he remained until his father's death, when he returned to the farm in Bath. He carried on the farm for several years, and, during a great part of the time so engaged, conducted the business of a store with success. In 1857, he removed to Flemingsburg, and, in connection with Thos. B. Smith and F. W. Allen, started the Exchange Bank of Flemingsburg, a private banking-house. In 1860, Mr. Allen withdrew; and, in 1865, Mr. Smith died. The entire business and management of the bank then passed into his hands, in which he has since continued, with great success and popularity. He has never sought or held a political office of any kind, but has devoted his time and energy to business, and the ordinary demands of Church and society. He has still had some time to devote to farming interests, and yet holds his landed property in Bath County. Mr. Wilson has been twice married. August 25, 1846, he was married to Mary Herndon, a native of Bath County, daughter of Samuel G. Herndon. She died in 1849, leaving two children. In 1854, he was married to Elizabeth Herndon, sister of his first wife. He was a member of the Whig party, and cast his first Presidential vote for Henry Clay. He is now a "Conservative" in politics. During the rebellion, he was a Union man. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He has always been a man of exceptionally fine personal habits; of rare business and executive ability; of great energy and perseverance; of unapproachable integrity of character; and, while largely devoted to his own affairs, has had time and inclination to share largely and honorably in the burthens and responsibilities of society; and has been one of the most successful, useful, and valuable citizens of his section of the State.

WOOD, JUDGE HENRY C., Lawyer, was born November 27, 1821, at Munfordville, Kentucky. He graduated at Centre College, in 1841; chose the profession of law, and entered on the practice in his native town, where he soon took a leading position among the first lawyers of his section; served, for a time, as County Attorney; in 1848, was elected to the Legislature; in 1850, located in Louisville; in 1858, was elected Judge of the Court of Appeals, but died February 11, 1861. Judge Wood was physically delicate, but had a mental and moral organization of the highest grade; and his learning, professional ability, and principles of justice and right, placed him among the most valuable rising men of his day.

LINDSAY, HON. WILLIAM, Chief-Justice of Kentucky, was born September 4, 1835, in Rockbridge County, Virginia. His father, Andrew Lindsay, was also a native of that State, of Scotch parentage, the family having emigrated to America about 1785. His mother's maiden name was Sallie Davidson, of Scotch-Irish descent, her ancestors settling in Virginia before the Revolution. Judge Lindsay received a liberal education in the best schools of his native county. In 1854, he came to Kentucky, and located in Hickman County, where he engaged, temporarily, in teaching; but, being desirous of making his mark in the world, he studied law, and, in 1858, was admitted to the bar, at once entering upon the practice of his profession at Clinton, and continuing, with flattering success, until the commencement of the civil war. His strong political convictions, and the necessities of the times, led him to consider it his duty to take active part in the contest; and his predilections and sense of right led him to take the side of the South; entering the service as a lieutenant, was afterwards Captain in the Twenty-second Tennessee Regular Infantry; served as a staff officer with Generals Buford and Lyon, and Colonels Crossland and Thompson, remaining County Tyrone, Ireland, and married there, immigrated to New Jersey in 1724, and were the founders of six distinct American lines of Stewarts. William Stewart had six sons and four daughters. Four of these sons served in the Revolutionary War and the other two, James and Robert, were frontier guards in 1779-1780. John Stewart, son of Robert Stewart, and grandson of James Stewart, the Virginia guard, was born in Jefferson Township, Washington County, in 1818, and in 1843 married Tamar McClurg. By this marriage they became the parents of six children: Mary Ann, Sarah, Robert J., Rachel, Eliza, and Cynthia, who died when very young.

JOHN RIGGS, of Highland Scotch nativity, was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, November 27, 1709. He married in Scotland and immigrated to Maryland in 1741. He had four sons and two daughters: Samuel, William, Zachariah, Mahlon, Ann, and Elizabeth. This family located in Baltimore County, Maryland, where they lived until 1751. They then removed to Williamsburg, Virginia, and later settled in Sussex County where the children grew to maturity and married. Some of them immigrated to the western limits of the colony. William Riggs, a son of this family, was born in Baltimore County, May 22, 1750, and lived with his parents in Virginia. He was educated in the College at Williamsburg. He married Mary Dodson in 1772 and came to Greene County, but finding the land nearly all taken under the tomahawk claims, he went into the wilds of the territory bordering on the Monongahela River in Washington County in 1773. William Riggs was a school-teacher in 1790-1791. In 1794 he became a Methodist Episcopal minister and held regular charges during the first quarter of the nineteenth century. He and his wife were the parents of thirteen children: Jeremiah, born December 17, 1774; Eleanor, born October 3, 1776; James, born December 14, 1778; Abrillar, born February 11, 1781; Thomas, born February 19, 1783; William, born April 29, 1785; Zachariah, born May 25, 1787; Mary, born June 11, 1789; Lucy, born July 1, 1791; Noah, born August 6, 1793; Elizabeth, born March 4, 1795; Mahlon, born December 25, 1797; and Anne, born September 22, 1799. Rev. William Riggs died in Washington County in 1833. His wife died in the same house in December 1819, at the age of sixty-four years, eight months, and ten days.

JOHN JOHNSON, born in New Jersey in 1746, went with his parents to Maryland and later to Virginia, where he grew up and married Mary Lewis, the daughter of John Lewis. He was also known as Shawnee Johnson. In 1771, he came to Northwest Vir-

- Name: John Wesley WILSON
- Sex: M
- Birth: WFT Est. 1654-1697 in in WALES, emigrated to Wilson Co., NC
- Death: WFT Est. 1694-1778 in see note page 4
- Note:

JOHN WESLEY WILSON was an emigrant from WALES to North Carolina prior to the Revolutionary War, when it was a colony of England. (Many came to avoid religious prosecution). He settled in Wilson County, N.C. (Information is available in 'Book of Harrison County, Iowa'; Harold Spencer, my brother, has a copy.) (Note the autobiography of William Terrel Wilson -- who says his ancestry goes back to Peter Wilson, native of Virginia, but does not state that Peter Wilson served in the Revolutionary War -- Peter was son of John Wesley Wilson.) ...will check with HRS to determine if the Book of Harrison County has more information on this ancestor. 8/6/93: HRS says Lucy is confused: he does not have book.

Aunt Mary Fansler said that Grandfather Milton James said he was Welsh.
Lucy said they emigrated to Holland, then landed near Jamestown.

Reference: Grant #3, Book 7, page 284 in Greene County 1784.

This information is of record for him is on file in Tennessee State Archives, Nashville, Tennessee. This Major David Wilson who was granted 2,000 acres for his service during the Revolutionary War then came into the Western district of Sumner County, North Carolina (now Tennessee) to lay claim to it in 1784. This Major David Wilson has been miss-portrayed, for his nephew David Wilson, the son of his brother Samuel Wilson (Sr.) and Mary Winslow Wilson. The State of Tennessee Archives shows his birth year as 1752, however I estimated to be ca.1749. Have not checked thoroughly the sons of Samuel Wilson (Sr.) and his 1st wife Mary Winslow but this David Wilson was the fourth child and second son born ca.1749 to them who has been portrayed wrongly as the Major David Wilson, his father's brother. This brother Samuel Wilson (Sr.) and his 1st wife Mary Winslow who had this son, David Wilson born ca.1749 goes on to marry Sallie McConnell in Rowan County, North Carolina and never came into Tennessee, in fact he helped handle his own father's estate after his death in March 13, 1778. This David Wilson born ca.1749 who then died there in 1820 was the David Wilson who had been portrayed as Major David Wilson who died December 29, 1803 in Sumner Co, Tennessee.

All this can be seen and verified by records found in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina.

member of the Knox County Court

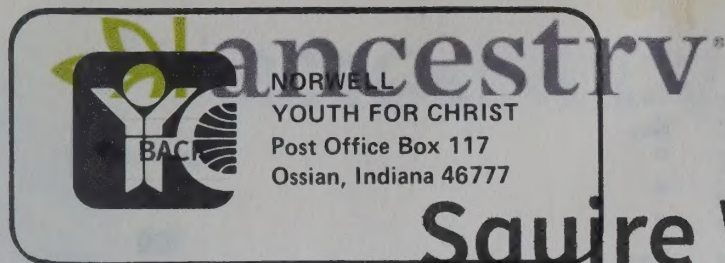

Posted 18 Apr 2008 by cjhopper1

An act, passed by the legislature February 16, 1838, established a new educational system. The school fund was to be apportioned among the different counties in accordance with the number of children of school age. In pursuance of this act the county court July 23, 1838, passed the following order:

"On motion of the school commissioners it is ordered by the court that the following person be appointed to district the County of Knox into a convenient number of school districts in pursuance of an act of the last Legislature of this Commonwealth, to-wit: Frank Ballinger, William Hopper, William L. Ewing, Henry Woodson, James T. Smith, Thomas Dean, A.Y. Anderson, Alfred Tinsley, Robert Hays, Henry S. Pope, Earch S. Brown, Peter G. Wilson, John Trosper, James Word, Elijah Harris, James Parton, Spender Tuggle, Richardson Tuggle, Henry H. Tye, and Benjamin Tuggle (Surveyor), and to ascertain the number of children in each district between the ages of 7 and 17, and that they return the same to the Clerk of this court as soon as may be."

Squire Wilson

Posted 25 Sep 2010 by Allysn27

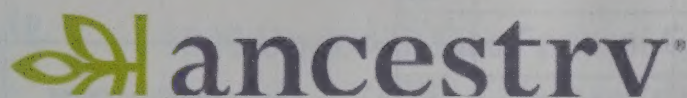

My relative, Elbert Lorenze Cassell 1908- , did the genealogy of the Wilson line through 1 Aug 1981. He wrote that the Wilsons (originally Willsons) were reported to have come from Scotland to the United States, whereupon the second L was dropped.

Uncle Elbert related this account: "An Episcopal farmer, Gilbert Wilson, had two daughters: Agnes, 13, and Margaret, 18. The two daughters became Presbyterian. For this they were condemned to death after James' accession to the throne of England. Agnes was ransomed by her father for 100 pounds sterling. Margaret was bound to stakes on the seashore to be drowned by the tide. After water had passed over her head she was brought out and offered life if she would recant. She refused, so was again placed in the sea and drowned. The place of drowning was in the Water of Blednoch. Date was 11 May, 1684. Her stone in Wigtown (Scotland) bears this inscription: ." At this point the page is cut.

The family referred to John Sears Wilson as 'Squire' Wilson and did not have his dates of birth, marriage, or death, though they believed he had come from Virginia. They knew he had lived in Hopkinsville, Christian County, Kentucky and was Registrar of Deeds there. He had one son named Joseph Shields Wilson, one was Simmion Wilson, and was was John Wilson. Names of the Squire's wife and other children were not ascertained.

BOARDMAN, (diff. forms of spelling Borman, Boreman, Bordman, Boardman).

Boreman

The exhaustive and admirable Boardman Genealogy says that the American family descends from the Boreman's, and that the name Bordman or Boardman was "from the first entirely distinct from Boreman, and has an altogether different derivation * * * Curiously and unaccountably, the descendants both of Thomas Boreman of Ipswich, Mass., and of Samuel Boreman of Weth., having at first generally employed the spelling BORMAN, by inserting, after a few generations, the d, and sometime later the a, gradually changed their name to its present form, and so made it not only different from the one by which their ancestors were called, but identical with that of an entirely distinct family." "This change from Boreman or Borman to Boardman, first appears in the Weth. line in the record of Richard of Newington, 1707, nearly 70 yrs. after the first appearance of Samuel B. in New England. The new form was adopted by most of the family in Weth., till 1780, when the a is first added in the record of Elijah, son of Israel of Newington." The plan adopted by the author of the Genealogy referred to, is to give to the first two generations, the name Boreman, to the third and fourth, Bordman, and Boardman to the remainder.

The Eng. ancestry of Samuel, the Weth. sett., is traced as follows— from (1) William Boreman, of Banbury, Oxfordshire, 1525; (2) Thomas, "the elder," of Claydon, 1546, d. 1579; (3) Thomas, "the younger," of Claydon, m. Dorothy Gregory, 1580; (4) Christopher, of Claydon b. 1581, d. 1640, m. Julian (dau.

WILLIAM T. WILSON

S/o William Hamlin Wilson

History of Harrison County, Iowa. Chicago: National Publishing Co., 1891, pp. 480-481.

William T. Wilson, a highly-respected citizen of St. John's Township, came to the county in 1865, first locating on section 28, where he purchased eight acres of partly-improved land. He remained there one year and then purchased forty acres of his present place on section 21. It was wild land at the time, upon which he has placed many substantial improvements, and to which he has added until he now owns one hundred and sixty acres, all improved but fifteen acres. He makes a specialty of breeding fine horses and hogs.

Mr. Wilson is a native of Knox County, Ky., born August 5, 1820 and traces his ancestry back to Peter Wilson,, a native of Virginia, who married Elizabeth Seers [note: Sears], by whom eight children were born--Enoch; John; David; Peter; William; Peggy, Mrs. Furgeson; America, Mrs. Furgeson; Diana, Mrs. Hamlin. David Hamlin, father of our subject, was born and reared on his father's farm in Kentucky, and married Mary Witt, of Georgia. She was the daughter of Asbro Witt. David Wilson and wife are the parents of twelve children, five of whom still survive--Almeda, Mrs. Claghorn (deceased); Enoch, a resident of Kentucky; Virginia, Mrs. Hart (deceased); Elizabeth, Mrs. Hamlin (deceased); William, our subject; Peter (deceased); Obedience, Mrs. Cox, of Kansas; Susan, Mrs. Brown, (deceased); John, a resident of Indiana; Sampson, of Indiana; and James (deceased).

Mr. Wilson was born in Knox County, Ky., and was reared on his father's farm, and went to farming for himself when he became of age. In 1843 he moved to Putnam County, Ind., bought forty acres of land, and in 1856, moved to Park County, bought a farm which he cultivated four years, and then returned to Putnam County, and remained until the time of his coming to Harrison County, in 1865.

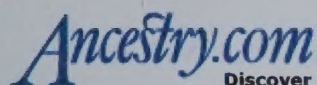

Our subject was united in marriage January 22, 1857, in Indiana, to Lucy A. Cox, the daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Pruett) Cox, of Kentucky. Fourteen children have been born of this union, six of whom still survive--Mary, Mrs. James, of Woodbury County; Senia (deceased); Enoch, (deceased); Maggie, Mrs. Alexander, residing at Long Pine, Neb.; Eliza Ellen, deceased; Thomas S., a resident of Harrison County; Virginia, (deceased); Ardella, and Susan at home; Hattie, Hettie and Harley, (triplets--deceased); William P., (deceased); and Millie, at home.

Politically Mr. Wilson affiliates with the Democratic party. He belongs to the Mutual Protection Society.

Tips on Using the Illinois Statewide Marriage Index

- To avoid text wrapping to multiple lines, it may be necessary to select a smaller text size in your browser depending on your monitor's screen resolution. In most browsers, text size can be changed under the View menu.
- To print the list of marriages from the results screen, set your printer's page orientation to landscape.
- Illinois marriages were not required to be performed in the county of the bride's or groom's residence. If your search does not find a marriage in the county you expected it to occur, try selecting STATEWIDE in the location option box.
- The Illinois Statewide Marriage Index is an on-going project and does not currently include marriage records for all counties in Illinois or complete date spans for some counties. Click here for a list of counties and date spans included in the Illinois Statewide Marriage Index.
- Click here for information about how to obtain copies of original marriage records.

Tips on Using the Illinois Statewide Marriage Index

- To avoid text wrapping to multiple lines, it may be necessary to select a smaller text size in your browser depending on your monitor's screen resolution. In most browsers, text size can be changed under the View menu.
- To print the list of marriages from the results screen, set your printer's page orientation to landscape.
- Illinois marriages were not required to be performed in the county of the bride's or groom's residence. If your search does not find a marriage in the county you expected it to occur, try selecting STATEWIDE in the location option box.
- The Illinois Statewide Marriage Index is an on-going project and does not currently include marriage records for all counties in Illinois or complete date spans for some counties. Click here for a list of counties and date spans included in the Illinois Statewide Marriage Index.
- Click here for information about how to obtain copies of original marriage records.

sports and games with the Indian boys, of their shooting with them for days at a time with bows and arrows. There was no quarrelling or fighting, but quite as much harmony as is now reciprocally felt by the children of the same family or among neighbors children. Whenever a buck was killed it was shared or divided among the whites and the natives. It has been believed and handed down that Joseph Gilpin's philanthropy and patriotism were not surpassed by any in the country. After the second visit of William Penn, emigration increased rapidly. Joseph Gilpin had got his land cleared, and a tolerable habitation so that he became easy and comfortable for a man in the wilderness. From his extensive acquaintance and connection in England he became popular there among the emigrants, who were principally friends, and as he was so well known there, great numbers of families on coming over, came to his house, where they were kindly received and entertained week after week. As an evidence of this the writer knows that he killed upward of thirty hogs and seven or eight beehives in the fall season, and the meat was all duly and frugally consumed by the next harvest. Hannah Gilpin was the best of housewives. The product of the farm being wheat and corn was an easy product after the land was cleaned and put into good order, and during the time the emigrant families were at Joseph Gilpin's house they always had plenty and he cheerfully devoted a good portion of his time for several years to assist the arriving emigrants to find suitable situations and to get their lands properly located and planted. Part of his house is still standing and the last of the property passed out of the family only about thirty years ago. A print of the house can be found in Lossing's "Field Book of the Revolution" as it was used as headquarters by Gen'l Howe, after the battle of Brandywine. One of Joseph's descendants, George, who had settled in Alexandria, and was a friend of Washington's, was made colonel of the Fairfax Militia at the breaking out of the Revolution and was present with the army at the battle of Dorchester Heights. After the war he was interested with Washington in some navigation experiments on the Potomac and was one of Washington's pall bearers. Thomas Gilpin of Philadelphia, who was prevented, by the religious scruples of the Society of Friends, from entering into warfare, was suspected of disaffection to the colonial cause and was sent under arrest, with others, as an exile into Virginia. Before their release by Washington, Thomas had died, at Winchester, from the effects of the trip. Others of the family have played important parts in the development of the country, especially William Gilpin, who was Governor of Colorado. Educated in England, and at West Point, he got his first experience in fighting in the Seminole War. The fever of exploration led him shortly afterwards to undertake the exploration of the then unknown far west. He explored much of the west with Fremont and others, and sought to interest the people in the east in the great resources of that region. Some of his predictions as to the value of certain sections have been fulfilled to a remarkable degree. He was engaged in the Mexican War and was in all its parts, he declined to accept the Bishopric of Carlisle, which was offered to him by the King after the restoration. The same position had formerly been offered to Bernard by Elizabeth; but he also had declined it. Richard purchased Scaleby Castle, which has been in the family ever since, although it is not now owned by a Gilpin, but has gone through the female branch to Mrs. Fawcett. It had been partly reduced to ruins by Cromwell, but was made habitable by Richard after its purchase. The old tower, gateway, walls and moat are still well preserved and additions have been added on one side. Scaleby Castle, near Carlisle, is a most picturesque spot, and well worth a visit from those interested in the family, as it is rich in reminiscences and old family portraits.

Cowper's celebrated poem "John Gilpin," which became known in 1783, after its appearance in THE GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE, was probably suggested to him while a boy at Westminster School, by a tombstone in St. Margaret's Churchyard inscribed "Mr. John Gilpin". This John Gilpin, according to a book published at Croydon, came to London to be bound apprentice to a draper, with whom he served his time in Fleet Street. Then he married, setting up business at a shop in Newgate Street, by the Blue Coat School where he traded forty years. He purchased Collier's Water Farm, near Croydon, and an estate in Kent. Dying in 1750, he left his property to his two daughters, his son having died young. In the poem, Mrs. Gilpin refers to the children three. The house at Croydon was still standing a few years ago, although only partly habitable. The roof is thickly covered with ivy roots and green moss, and on the wall is the date 1590.

Joseph, the first of the family to come to America, was the son of Thomas of Warborough. In an old book the statement is made of Thomas, that "After he grew up in more years and his mother Deceased, he ran into Foolish and Wanton Delights; as Sports and Pastime, Musick and Dancing." Joseph was married in 1691 and had two children when he followed Penn to this country. His wife's uncle gave her 100 acres and Joseph bought 425 acres more for 40 pounds. On their way from New Castle, where they landed, night overtook them and took refuge in an Indian Wigwam. They lived for some time in a cave dug in the side of a hill, until they could build a house. The following account of their early life is given by Isaac, the grandson of Joseph who lived on the home farm. "For several years after their settlement, the family, as well as their neighbors, labored under several serious disabilities. One was to get their grain made into breadstuff; no mill being nearer than the one now owned by Richard Flower, which was twelve miles; and many persons had to carry both the grain and flour on their backs; and such was the press for work that the meal was taken home, both bran and flour together. There were a number of Indian Wigwams on the farm of Joseph Gilpin and the account we have is that they all lived together in perfect harmony. His children give very pleasant and interesting accounts of their

a half lines are illegible at this point] .. from an autograph letter of the Queen's which he carried with him on this mission, in which she speaks of him thus, Having charged Mr. Gilpin, one of our Councillors of State, to deliver this letter, it will not be necessary to authorize him by any other confidence than what is already acquired by a long proof of his capacity, and of his fidelity and sincerity, assuring you you may trust in him as in ourselves." Another son of Edwin's, was Bernard, often called "The Apostle of the North." Although brought up under Catholic influence he became a Protestant and wielded an immense influence in ecclesiastical matters until his death. In the religious upheavals of the times Bernard was tried on thirteen different accusations; but was liberated by his uncle the Bishop of Durham. His enemies, however, had him summoned before Dr. Bonner, Bishop of London, and it due to an accident alone that he was saved from the serious consequences which would have followed his trial here. While journeying from Houghton to London to stand trial, he broke his leg and before he was able to appear before the judges, Queen Mary died, the reformers were in power, and he had nothing to fear. In those turbulent times Bernard, contrary to the custom, went unarmed and fearless, and was noted for his unflinching devotion to the people and to what he considered his duty. On one occasion upon entering a church he saw a gauntlet suspended in midair--a challenge of some trooper in the building. Taking the glove with him he said during the sermon, "I hear there is one among you who has, even in this sacred place, hung up a glove in defiance," then displaying it he added, "I challenge him to compete with me in acts of christian charity." He established schools and was a spiritual guide beloved by old and young alike. Another one of Edwin's sons, William, from whom the present branch of the family is descended, married the sister of George Washington's great grandfather. [I have not been able to verify this statement. V.A.] Kentmere remained in the family until the civil wars in Charles I's time, when members of the family were fighting on both sides. As was often the custom, the estate was conveyed by George Gilpin to one of his wife's relations, in trust to prevent its sequestration. Being hard pressed by his enemies he was forced to leave the country, and as his heirs could not get hold of the proper deeds the estate was lost to the family. Part of the tower and walls still stand; but in a sadly dilapidated condition. During Cromwell's time again we find members taking different sides in the controversies. Thomas of Warborough was colonel on the republican side in the Battle of Worcester; but afterwards, along with his brother in law Thomas West, he joined the Society of Friends and was a preacher for forty years. He was a son of Thomas, of Mill Hill, whose daughter Ann was the grandmother of Benjamin West, who succeeded Sir Joshua Reynolds, as President of the Royal Society. While Thomas was fighting for Cromwell, his cousin Richard was opposed to the "round heads"; but too conscientious to appear to desert his religious scruples, which would not permit him to subscribe to the act of uniformity

Colonel William Daingerfield (1710-1769) was the son of Colonel William Daingerfield (1680-1735) of Greenfield, Essex County and his wife nee Elizabeth Bachurett.]

ONTAGUE, THOMAS TARELEY married 27 October 1801 in Middlesex County, his cousin, Elizabeth Montague, Middlesex County Marriage Register #1, p. 63, 154.
[Thomas Tareley Montague was the son of Captain James and Winifred Griffin (Tareley) Montague (q.v.), p.135.]

ONTEITH, THOMAS [GENTLEMAN] (circa 1694-1746/7) married by 1737 Phillips [Tells] Gallop, daughter of Robert Gallop who died testate in Richmond County in 1720. On 30 July 1714 Thomas Montcith, Merchant of Glasgow, gave a power of attorney to Thomas White of Hanover Parish, Richmond County, authorizing him to recover certain debts due to him and transact other business. Thomas Montcith, Gentleman, appears frequently on the King George County records from 1721 until the time of his death in 1746/7. He died testate but his will is in now lost King George County WB#1 (1721-1752); however, the surviving records show he left four infant children at the time of his death, viz: (a) Magdaline Montcith who m(1) Anderson Doniphan [they were ancestors of President Harry Ship Truman] and m(2) Jonathan Fimall of Stafford County; (b) Elizabeth Montcith; (c) James Montcith and (d) John Montcith. [Bond dated only 1763: Richard Parker, guardian of Elijah Moore, son of William Moore, who has a legacy due to him from the estate of his maternal grandfather, Richard Lawson, deceased. Richard Lawson seems to have died testate in Richmond County in 1761. WB#6, p.249.]

ORE, FRANCIS (1660-1718) married 1707 Ann, probably nee Harbin; this surname appears inconspicuously on the Richmond County records. Francis Moore, merchant of Dublin, Ireland, and owner of the Dublin Merchant, imported many indentured servants into Virginia beginning in 1681. He appears frequently on the records of Rappahannock, Essex and Richmond counties and in 1703-1706 in Essex County was granted certificates for thousands of acres of land for the transportation of hundreds of indentured servants into Rappahannock River. On 10 May 1705, stating his age to be "45 or thereabouts," he made a deposition in Essex County in regard to certain "servants ..." he brought into this Colony ... in the ship called the Dublin Merchant ... in March 1699. In 1701 he acquired a plantation in Essex County and dying intestate in 1718, this descended to his eldest son and heir, Francis Moore (1711-1796); he sold it in 1739. Francis and Ann Moore had four children, viz: (a) Colonel Francis Moore (1711-1796) who appears prominently on the records of Orange County; (b) Harbin Moore (1717-1802) who died testate in Culpeper County; (c) a daughter who married Thomas Pattey, Jr. of Orange County and removed to Lunenburg County; (d) Martha Moore who married, as his second wife, Captain David Bronough (1777-1774) of King George County. Ann Moore, widow, married (2) circa 1719, John Naylor, Gentleman, of Richmond and King George counties (q.v.), p.143, and she died testate in Orange County in 1744. COB#3, p.368; MB, p.4; also Essex County COB#3, p.54, 164, 232, 233; DB#10, p.96; DB#22, p.60; W&D#12, p.92; WB#3, p.34; COB#5, p.133; Orange County WB#1, p.317.

MORGAN, ANDREW married circa 1771 Winifred Pursell Murray alias Pursell [Pursell], daughter of Tobias Pursell and Mary Ann Murray [Murray, Murray &c.]. COB#15, p.313; COB#17, p.268; WB#6, p.201. See notes under TOBIAS PURCELL, p.164.

MORGAN, ANTHONY and Ann Dunkin, license July 1711. DB#6, p.275

[Martha W. Hiden in her account of Anthony Morgan of Old Rappahannock County in 25T270 fails to fully account for the many Morgan - Morgan records in Rappahannock and Richmond counties. COB#10, p.394; WB#5, p.598; and others.]

This collection of marriage records includes the names of over 300,000 men and women married in the state between 1740 and 1850. In addition to providing the names of bride and groom, researchers will find the date of marriage and county in which the ceremony was performed.

Most early American marriages were recorded by the county (except in the northeastern states) and this collection provides the county for virtually every marriage.

There are many types of marriage records. Some of these include consent affidavits, marriage banns (this was a religious custom), marriage bonds, marriage licenses, and marriage certificates. The information provided on these records will vary according to purpose and the year in which they were created, but almost all of them will at least list the names of the bride and groom and the date and place of the event. Occasionally the names of the couple's parents, ages of bride and groom, birthplaces of bride and groom, signature of the issuing clerk, and other details will also be found among marriage records.

Use information found in marriage records to lead you to other records. For instance, if the ages of the bride and groom are listed in the record, you can calculate an approximate date of birth, which will then tell you when to begin looking for birth records of these individuals. Try to match the dates on marriage licenses to newspaper announcements of weddings that can fill in extra details. Also, see if there are city directories, church records, or other records of the individual that you have been able to pinpoint being in a certain place at a certain time.

- Edward JONES, memorandum
On 2 Sep 1739, Mr. Edward JONES of NFP, being near his death at his own house, said in the presence of the witnesses who were called as evidence thereto did speak these words, that is to say, that he had sometime before made a will, but desired it should not stand because he had sold lands and a negro out since the making thereof and that would breed confusion and after desired his wife and chil. should live peaceably together and each of them to have an equal share of his lands and living (that he had seven negroes and six chil. and a mother) and if, please God, the negroes lived and did well, there would be each of them one. In testimony whereof

* Killed by Indians.

Father of William Wilson "A SQUATTER" Where State House Stands

In the Spring of 1820 William Wilson's father, Isaac Wilson, went into the center of Indiana with little thought of what that location would become later. As squatters the settlers came into Indiana before the land was surveyed, selected such places as pleased them and built their cabins, with the intention of purchasing from the Government the land that they had selected. There were only about six families who settled in the area that was later to become Indianapolis. In October 1820 Mattias Nowland returned to Frankfort, Kentucky to get his family and move them to the center of the state. On their journey northward they camped near the house of William Wilson at Napoleon where they bought corn and had it ground into meal on a small hand-mill belonging to Mr. Wilson. "Here ended the road and commenced Berry's trace, which had to be cut out before the large wagon could get along. The first house from Napoleon was that of Montgomery on "Flat Rock", about nine miles above where Columbus now stands... From Montgomery's the next house was that of Captain John Berry.. at the mouth of Sugar Creek on Blue River.. The next day we reached the house of Loper, where Berry's trace crossed that of Whetzel's about three miles southwest of Greenwood... and we arrived about twelve o'clock, the fourth day of November, at the house of that good old Samaritan, Isaac Wilson, which was on the northwest corner of the State House Square."¹

Having been a resident of Dearborn County in 1809, Isaac took his family northward and "built his double log cabin-the first house of any kind built on the original town plat" as stated in the book "Sons of The Wilderness". He erected the first gristmill on Fall Creek and was just getting his homestead established there when, on October 10, 1821, the first sale of the town lots for Indianapolis was held at the cabin of Mattias Nowland. Nowland had been with the commissioners when they chose the site for the new Capitol. William Wick who had bought one of the first lots in Napoleon, and of whom you will read later, had the distinction of being the first Judge to hold court in Indianapolis.

From Napoleon to Indianapolis and Martinsville the Wilson's and their circle of influential friends can be traced.

William Wilson and his family returned to Morgan County in 1828 and purchased land on Indian Creek two miles south of Martinsville. His brother Joel and Thomas Hendricks also purchased land near him in Morgan County. At once he proceeded to erect a mill which was known for years as Wilson's Mill and for forty years was the most convenient and accommodating mill south of Martinsville. The first school ever taught on the road from Martinsville to Scott's Ferry was during the summer of 1833. The log cabin in which the school was taught stood in the valley about one and one-half miles south of the I & V Depot and was owned by Joel Wilson. Among the employers were Joel and William Wilson, Thomas Hendricks, and William A. Major.

A fine description is given by Major in "Pioneers of Morgan County" as follows "William Wilson...came to Indiana...settled first near Brooklyn; thence he moved to Ripley County. From this fact he was called "Ripley Bill", to distinguish him from his cousins, "Cuffy Bill", and "Jockey Bill". He afterward received the title of "Hero Bill" because of his many adventures, both successful and otherwise. Mr. Wilson was a man brimful of energy and resources, proposing to overcome all obstacles by persistent effort. This doubtless gave rise to the epithet "Hero". As a wagoner, he stood at "the head of his class". He was a good judge of horses and kept a fine team for many years. When on the road with his team he made it a rule to clean off the mud and rub every horse thoroughly dry before he went to bed. He was a first-class pioneer and lent a helping hand to the breadwinners of the long ago".

It was in Morgan County, December 20, 1838, that William Wilson died. He is buried in a family plot on the Hendricks homestead four miles from the Martinsville courthouse, and right beside him are the tombs of Thomas Hendricks and his wife, Mary Evans Hendricks.

The Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Martinsville organized about 1840 and among the charter members of the church they list "Mrs. Frances Wilson, widow of 'Hero Bill' Wilson". She returned to Ripley County after the death of Mr. Wilson and on July 1, 1842 she and her second husband Edward McKee, deeded 78 acres of land to Archibald Gilliland in the Otter Chapel Church community.

The life of "Hero Bill" Wilson certainly seemed to be one of many accomplishments and the citizens of Napoleon can be proud of him as the founder of their town.

WILLIAM "Ripley Bill" WILSON

The founder of our town, William Wilson, was born in South Carolina on October 11, 1783. The son of Isaac Wilson, William had at least six brothers and sisters that we know of. The family of Scotch-Irish descent was described as industrious, economical and thrifty, and all accepted and followed the religious faith of their Presbyterian parents. After leaving the Carolinas, the family resided for a time in Franklin, Kentucky before coming into the Indiana Territory. William Wilson built a block house on the west fork of Whitewater in Franklin County, six miles above the Brookville dam. Here we find the start of a close-knit group of men and their families, the Wilsons, Majors and Hendricks, who were leaders in the early Territorial Government, working their way through the unknown wilderness.

It was on May 7, 1800 that the Northwest Territory was divided into two separate territories and the western part became the Indiana Territory. William Henry Harrison, then the Governor of the Indiana Territory, appointed William Wilson as Surveyor of Public Lands of St. Clair County on March 10, 1802. And then, "In 1805... Mr. Cobb, Col. Hendricks, (uncle of Gov. Hendricks) and William Wilson selected and blazed the first road from this region to Indianapolis."¹ The region referred to was the Tanner's Creek area of Dearborn County, blazing the way into the area that was later to become known as Indianapolis. On December 2, 1807, he was appointed a Justice of the Peace for Dearborn County.

As can be seen on the 1817 Map of Indiana, the northern boundary line of the area opened up for settlement was the extreme northern line of Ripley County. In the book "Pioneers of Morgan County" Major tells of the Wilson family coming to Indiana in the company of numerous relatives and settling first near what was later to become known as Brooklyn in Morgan County in 1816, and then the Wilsons returned to Ripley County. Wilson and his wife Frances, who was nicknamed "Franky", had three children, one son William W. and two daughters. Their children were all under ten years of age when they came here.

After plotting Napoleon as a town on February 9, 1820, he began selling off the town lots which averaged from $10 to $12 each, and some were deeded "in exchange for work done". In 1821 he deeded Lot 64 to William Riggs with the condition that a horsemill was to be erected. Along with becoming Napoleon's first Postmaster and first Justice of the Peace, a check of the first land transactions indicates that he kept very busy developing the town. Within the first four years he ran on a ticket for State Representative, however, this proved to be one of his unsuccessful adventures. He moved in a circle of very influential men, accounts of which are given later.

WILLIAM "RIPLEY" BILL WILSON

The father of the boy, William Wilson, was born in 1840 in the town of Canton, N.Y. The son of John Wilson, William was the first of six children. His father was a farmer and his mother was a homemaker. William was educated in the common schools of his native town and attended the State Normal School at Albany. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and was active in its work. He was a successful farmer and was also engaged in the lumber business. He died in 1900 at the age of 60.

P.S.
Sorry about my bad copy machine

In the 1820 Census there is a David Wilson in Knox County who is between 18 and 26 years old -- too young to be mine, but probably the one mentioned in the will. In Whitley County is David Wilson between 26 and 45 (he would have been 32).

I am also enclosing information from the Knox County Deed Books. D-95 is quite interesting as it mentions Andrew Evans, whom Joicy married in 1833. There was just has to be a tie-in here someplace.

I think I will write to the Knox County Historical Society to see if they can be of any help. And perhaps start looking for Wilsons in Madison County.

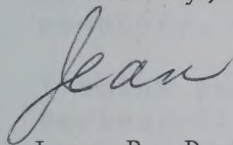

If you have any further suggestions, please let me know!

I've taken quite a break from working on my own genealogy and started on my daughter-in-law's, for my grandchildren. It has been such fun working on the early part where I keep finding information every time I look! I was especially lucky because one of her lines went back to the early Mormons who lived in Nauvoo, IL. In fact, a grandmother's sister was Brigham Young's first wife!

But with the New Year I want to get back to my own, frustrating as it is!

So I'm hoping you are working on Wilson's now, too, and maybe between us we can find something.

Sincerely,

Jean B. Dowdey

P.S. - I don't think I ever mentioned to you that John Wilson is the bondsman on David & Joicy's marriage bond!

January 6, 1992 .

Dear Shirley,

Are you still working on your Wilson line? I keep going back to my David Wilson, determined to work out this problem! Maybe someday it will be solved.

Since I last wrote to you I found the enclosed will of David Wilson of Knox County. I was so excited at first -- until I realized that he died after my David did, so he couldn't be his father! Also, in the Knox County census for 1820 there is a David Wilson who is younger than mine. Are they all related in some way?

The enclosed map shows where David Wilson is buried, near Williamsburg, Whitley County, at #7 the Sullivan Cemetery. Also buried there is John W. Sullivan, 1799 to 1876. In 1847, Joicy Evans sold David's original land warrant to John W. Sullivan. He and James Sullivan were Securities when Joicy was administering David's estate. James Sullivan was married to Joicy's sister Mary (Polly) Owen and was appointed guardian for Joicy's girls. So I feel certain that cemetery is on the David's original Land Warrant.

John Speed Smith was the guardian for their son, John Speed Smith Wilson. I have searched out his genealogy and can find no connection to the Wilsons or Owens. JSS Wilson settled in Andrew County, MO, and Joicy and he are buried at the same cemetery, along with other Todds and Sullivans.

I think perhaps the other David Wilson lived near Barbourville in Knox County.

It seems more likely that David and John Wilson's father was in Madison County. What about the John Wilson in your Kentucky Will Book? How does his will sound?

I'm also enclosing some Shelton information which is full of errors, but someplace along the line are some kernels of truth. David Shelton married David and Joycie's daughter, Frances, and later established the town of Shelton, WA. I love the part about David Wilson's parents coming from England in 1680 -- and he was born in 1788!

It seems like I have searched everything I can find in the Family History Center in Salt Lake and in the Sutro Library in SF (the California Genealogical Library). But there must be something I'm missing!

Dear Shirley,

I can't tell you how excited I've been over your letter. It really sounds like you've found some good clues! And if your people have SEARS for a middle name, the word which has come down in the Shelton line and in mine must not be so far off after all. They were one generation off - they thought Joicy Owen Wilson was a Sears but I finally proved she was an Owen. So it could very possibly be her Wilson mother-in-law who was a Sears.

I'm so interested in your finding the query from Charles R. Wilson on Peter and Elizabeth (Sears) Wilson, from near Cumberland Gap, TN. That bears more searching. However, Peter doesn't show up on the Census until 1820 or the Tax List for Whitley County until 1830.

Tonite I typed up some old notes on the Tax Lists I searched in Salt Lake several years ago. I must have gotten tired because there is less information the further on I went. And obviously I was searching mainly for David. And it sure looks like the David Sr. would be his father, until you check the dates on that will. Wish I had gotten Sears for more years than 1819.

The 1810 and 1820 Census information on the Wilsons in those counties is complete, but I want to check the 1830 again. Someone else gave me that, and the Sears names. So I'll check on those at Sutro the next time I go.

Have you written to Mr. Wilson? If not, would you please send me his address even if it is old and I will try to contact him.

I had never thought to look in Lincoln County, so will send for films for that from Salt Lake. It's so easy to overlook something like that! Thanks for the maps. I've seen those, but never copied them so I could study them.

Thanks for the will of John Wilson of Bourbon County with the son, David. I don't know what to think about him.

I'm still curious about the John Wilson who was in Madison County. Somewhere in the Old Kentucky Surveys and Grants I saw John Wilson had land on the Little Muddy Creek in Madison County. Joicy's father, Barnett Owen, had his land on Muddy Creek, which makes me wonder about the Wilson connection there. What were our Wilson boys doing getting married in Madison County if they didn't live there? How would they have met the girls otherwise?

Did you notice on the Tax List for 1826 that it said "John S. Wilson?" Some of the Johns in other years are probably also him.

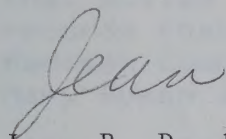

Thanks also for the "Cherokee Country" map which shows the Cumberland Gap. What brave people they were!

I think this Thursday I'll see what Deeds and Wills they have for Lincoln Co., KY, and order those from Salt Lake. Perhaps I should be checking Bourbon County, too, for that David Wilson. The one mentioned in the deposition could very well be the one mentioned in John Wilson's will. My friend, Virginia, and I go to either the Mormon Church in Santa Rosa or to the Sutro Library in San Francisco most Thursdays. We make a day of it and have dinner out on our way home. We've gotten our husbands trained that we'll be gone that day, so now they always expect us to go!

I'm so sorry to hear about your husband's health problems. But I am glad you'll be nearer the library at Ft. Wayne! If we work together on this perhaps we can solve our problems!

I'll let you know what I find -- and look forward to hearing from you again, too.

Sincerely,

Dear Shirley,

Thank you for your great letter and all the information you sent. I really do appreciate it!

And I'm like you, if your David has a daughter Joicy, they must be the same Wilsons. Also, Joicy's son was named John Speed Smith Wilson. This was after a John Speed Smith who was very active in Richmond Lodge No. 25 (Masons) in Madison County, KY, and he was named guardian of John when David Wilson died.

Joicy's daughter, Mary Susan, who married Hudson Bevens, also had a son named John Speed Smith Wilson Bevens and a daughter Joicy Bevens who married a Marshall Simpson in Oregon, among many other children. Am enclosing their FGS.

I received an almost identical family group sheet on Barnett Owen from Pat Howard, 2704 E. McKellips, Mesa, AZ 85203, who is descended from Patsy (Martha) Owen who married William Thornton. Are you also descended from Barnett Owen, or is that your husband's line? I would be very interested whether his cousins know anything further back on the Owen line, as all I know is what's on that FGS.

David Wilson died in Whitley County, KY, 17 Nov. 1829, and is buried at the Sullivan Cemetery in that county. I just happened to pick that up in a cemetery book in Salt Lake. So that solved part of my mystery. Then I found in the marriage records that Joicy Wilson married Andrew Evans 4 Nov 1833 in Madison County. By 1837 they were in Clinton Co., MO, when Mary Susan's older sister, Frances, was married.

Family history has it that David Wilson, Sr., served in the Revolution and that his wife was a Sears. That's all I know, and it's not necessarily correct.

Hudson and Mary Susan (Wilson) Bevens came to Oregon from MO in 1854. I think they came alone with three wagons and seven children.

So none of this line for me went to Indiana or Illinois--but I wonder how many of them got together in Oregon?

Maybe between us we can find this David Wilson yet! Perhaps your library in Ft. Wayne has more than ours does in San Francisco, although it seems they have a lot of information. I'll keep looking here and hopefully I'll go back to Salt Lake again next spring.

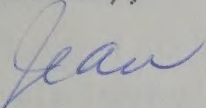

A girlfriend and I have made three trips to Salt Lake. It's such a lark for us to stay in a hotel and eat all our meals out, in addition to doing research for 6 days! But do I ever come home exhausted!

I'm constantly trying to find the grandparents of my Hudson Bevens. His father was Truman Bevins (Bevan, Bevin, Bivens, etc.). The first record I have for him is an 1802 tax list in Madison County, KY, and their 1803 marriage there. His parents were supposed to have been massacred by Indians. I don't know if they came from South Carolina, Maryland or Virginia. Everyone says something different.

If you really don't mind looking at your Abstracts of Wills, etc. for me, I'd appreciate anything you could find with any Bevins, etc., name. I don't remember seeing that book -- altho that doesn't mean much with my memory! I'm sure you've looked for David Wilson there, but if you see anything you think I might like on the Wilsons, please send it, too. You are so generous to offer to do this and I certainly do appreciate it.

I will keep all of your information in my Wilson file and trust we'll be able to be of additional help to each other. Thank you so much for all the information which you sent.

Sincerely,

Dear Jean,

It was certainly nice hearing from you again. I had put aside the Wilson material and was working on other lines, but since hearing from you I am going through the data on hand and may have found another connection.

My John S. Wilson was in Bath Co. KY in 1820 and I had copied close neighbors. There was an Elizabeth Noe living two doors away from John. In Kentucky Genealogy & Biography Vol. III by Westerfield, there is a bio on a William Noe whose mother was Eliza A. (Wilson) Noe, d/o John H. who was the s/o Josiah Wilson, a soldier in the RW and one of the first settlers of Kentucky. Wilson's Station was named for Josiah. I must do some more research on this Noe family to see if there could be a connection.

Neither my husband or I are Owen descendants. Maurice's cousin Vernetta is the Owen descendant. Maurice's father and Vernetta's father were brothers. Vernetta's mother was the Owen. I'm enclosing a copy of an Owen genealogy put together by a Marjorie Brannon. Vernetta and her husband Bill say there are many, many mistakes in it. Vernetta's aunt also put together an Owen family history which also contained many mistakes, so this was their reason for trying to correct the information in these two histories. They will be publishing before long.

Do you have a copy of Walter Owen's will? We just had a letter from Bill and he said it was in Lunenburg Co. VA Will Bk.2 p.260 (Mormon tape 03241) and named four sons: Barnet, William, David and Joseph. David is Vernetta's 4th great grandfather. Bill and Vernetta's address is: William E. Nichols, 905 Royal Blackheath Ct., Naperville, IL 60540. I thought you might wish to contact them. I really don't know if they have Walter's father's name or not.

I'm also enclosing the Index to Madison Co. KY Book of Wills, ect. If there are any you would like to have copied, let me know. I'll be happy to do so.

In my miscellaneous Wilson material I had this copy of the Bourbon Co. KY will for John Wilson. A David Wilson was the executor. I'm wondering if this is your David, Sr? Also enclose is some data concerning what I think is the same John Wilson. Maybe there will be something here that is meaningful to you. There are miscellaneous wills that may help you sort out KY Wilsons.

We do not know what the "S" stands for in our John's name. We also have a William "D" (John's son). Could this be David? I have lost William D. in Iowa. If I could find a death record, it might contain some helpful clues. My Benjamin Wilson named a son James David, so that may be significant.

The Ft. Wayne Library has the 2nd or 3rd largest genealogical collection in the US. Newberry Library in Chicago used to be 2nd, but someone told me that Ft. Wayne was 2nd now. They do have the RW Pension and Bounty Land Indexes. I'll check for your David. There is also a book on KY RW pensioners - I can't recall the exact name of it, but I'll check that for David and Josiah.

The library also has many genealogies. I'll check to see if I can find any on your Bevans/Bivens, etc. I will also go through the Clinton Co. MO Census to see if any of my family is there with yours. I do not know where my John S. or Benjamin was in 1850. I searched through all Iowa-Missouri border counties, but to no avail. Clinton Co. is not too far from Decatur Co. Iowa. John S. was there in 1853 when his son, James Lynn, stopped to visit him on his way to Oregon. By 1860 John was back in Fulton Co. IL. I never ceased to be amazed at the way these ancestors traveled around. You know it wasn't an easy task.

We have a Mormon branch library in Ft. Wayne, but I haven't had too much success using it. It is operated by volunteers and they don't always open the library when they are suppose to. Some of the volunteers are not familiar with the films or how to order, so it has really been a disappointment to me. I know they have so many records on film that would be of great value if I could have access to them.

I will keep working on these Wilsons at this end and keep you posted as to any good "finds". We surely will find we are related. I have sent your lineage to Maurie Klimcheck. She descends from William Wilson who married Elizabeth Orchard in Madison Co. KY. She just may have additional information. I'll let you know.

Until later -

Sincerely,

Shirley

A CALL FOR KENTUCKY - Revised July 1998

In the early days of settlement in Kentucky, at the first sign of danger, the pioneers sent out runners to their nearest neighbors for help. It was very seldom, almost never, that this call went unanswered. It was this willingness to help each other, in the time of need that allowed the settlers to survive the dangers they faced. As a Director of Logan's Fort Foundation I am asking for your help today. The danger we now face is that real estate development threatens to destroy the site of the most significant fort in Kentucky's history.

The year of 1777, was often refereed to as the "Bloody Seven", or the "year of war" by the early settlers of Kentucky. The state was held by a handful of determined people, confined to three forts. The forts were Fort Harrod, Fort Boonesborough and Logan's Fort. The early history of the state would have been greatly altered if any of these three forts had not been in existence. Fort Harrod and Fort Boonesborough draw thousands of people each year to Kentucky. Books and old records are great, but they can't compare to standing on the site and pondering (that's Kentucky talk) the past. My hat goes off to the people of this state who had enough foresight to reconstruct these forts. BUT WAIT! The job is not complete. What about Logan's Fort? Although smaller in size, its important historical significance surpasses that of Fort Harrod and Fort Boonesborough.

Logan's Fort was located on the western edge of the town of Stanford in Lincoln County, less than a mile from the present Courthouse. It was the most southern of the three forts, and was the first defense against the Cherokee Indians coming up from the south. It's location on The Great Road (Wilderness Road) was critical in the early days. Here the Cumberland Trace (road to Nashville, Tennessee) began and the Wilderness Road, Harrodsburg Trace, Hickman Trace all merged on this little outpost in the Wilderness. One could be safe in saying that all roads leading into Kentucky from the south, passed through Logan's Fort. This is with the exception of Boone's old Trace. If you live in one of the counties, that lies south of the Kentucky River, west of the Cumberland Gap and east of the Jackson Purchase then the following should be especially important to you. The counties and pieces of counties included in Lincoln County in 1780 were Harlan, Leslie, Bell, Clay, Owsley, Breathitt, Lee, Perry, Knox, Whitley, Laurel, Jackson, Estill, Madison, Garrard, Rockcastle, Pulaski, McCreary, Anderson, Mercer, Boyle, Casey, Russell, Wayne, Clinton, Adair, Taylor, Green, Metcalfe, Washington, Hart, Barren, Cumberland, Monro, Allen, Warren, Edmonson, Butler, Simpson, Logan, Muhlenberg, Todd, Christian, Hopkins, McLean, Webster, Henderson, Christian, Union, Crittenden, Caldwell, Trigg, Lyon, Franklin and Livingston. A total of 55 (which includes Lincoln) counties must come to Lincoln County for their early courthouse records from 1780 until their county formed.

The Virginia Land Commission opened their first office at Logan's Fort on October 14, 1779. This was the first opportunity the early settler had to claim the land he had struggled so hard to defend. If a settler had settled on property prior to that date and had made improvements on that land, he was entitled to Settlement Rights. He could travel to Logan's Fort and claim 400 acres of land at no charge. He could also buy a preemption of 1000 acres adjoining this land. This little fort was always busy with settlers coming to make their claims.

The Lincoln County Courthouse contains all the records of Old Lincoln County. They are among the oldest in the state. A few of the older records were written on sheep skins. Court was held from 1781 to 1783 within the walls of Logan's Fort. The attempted court martial of Daniel Boone took place at Logan's Fort. The holding of court here added to the many people visiting the fort. It is important to add that the court orders prove that the first two sessions of court in Lincoln County were held at Fort Harrod and at the second session the pioneers decided to move the court to Logan's Fort for it was a more convenient place. Isn't this an interesting decision??

James Harrod married the young widow Ann McDonald at Logan's Fort in February 1778. She was living there with her father Samuel Coburn. They were married by Robert Todd, one of the justices of the peace for Kentucky County.

We have done extensive research on this project. We have documented our findings with deeds and the court orders of Lincoln County. We have read the Journals of many of the pioneers: Capt. John Floyd, Col. William Henderson, Daniel Trabue (who was the commissary at Logan's Fort), William Whitley and William Twetty and many others. We gave a presentation on Logan's Fort to the Kentucky Genealogical Association and they were convinced of our research and documentation. We used a computer cad program to draw all the early land grants and pieced them together to show the land as it was in the 1770's and then did overlays as the land is today. Using overhead projection one will see that our maps are on the mark. Fort Harrod was built a very long distance from its original site. Fort Boonesborough was built $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile from its original site. Logan's Fort could be built on or within 50 to 100 feet from its original site.

On, Saturday and Sunday, September 7 & 8, 1996, David Pollack, Director, Kentucky Archaeological Survey and Staff Archaeologist for the Kentucky Heritage Council with Dr. Steve McBride, an historical archaeologist who has worked on several frontier sites, conducted an archaeological survey. With this information in November 1996 we were awarded a grant from the Kentucky Heritage Council for an archaeological dig which took place in the late summer of 1997. This dig lasted three weeks. We confirmed the activity in the fort and we uncovered the skeleton of one of the men who was killed during the Indian siege in 1777 and buried inside the fort.

It is the plan of Logan's Fort Foundation to reconstruct Logan's Fort and build a visitor center which will house a Museum & Research Center for the thousands who will come back to see the place of their ancestors. The Fort will offer a "picture to the past" with living history exhibits. We want to have reenactments of the siege at Logan's Fort where the settlers in Logan's Fort stood off the Indians in the longest Indian siege in Kentucky history. There is an ideal area for a park adjacent to the site of Logan's Fort. Footpaths to the famous old Buffalo Springs along St. Asaph's Creek will add beauty to the natural surroundings of the area. Every famous pioneer that came to Kentucky mentioned THREE Kentucky forts in their journals: Fort Harrod, Fort Boonesborough and Logan's Fort. It would be a true testament to the pioneer spirit of our early statehood to have the final jewel of this Triple Crown of Kentucky's History come to fruition.

Genealogy is the number one hobby in America today. If you are into genealogy, tracing your ancestors, researching to write a book of early Kentucky History, you will find that all roads lead to Logan's Fort in Lincoln County. It was in Logan's Fort that the most early records of this state had their beginning. Visitors will come and see the fort and spend several days researching their family history. We have a Web Site on the Internet to draw interest for Logan's Fort. Already we have had E-mail from folks in the western states supporting our endeavors and offering money.

In January 1997 we were awarded $100,000 grant from the Federal Government. Now, we need to raise $25,000 for matching funds which will give us a total of $125,000 to be used for purchasing of the property. This grant contract arrived in July 1998. While raising this match we will continue our archival research. We plan to continue the search of deeds and court orders, and reviewing the journals of the early pioneers. We will do an extensive search of the Draper Papers for references to Logan's Fort. We need your help, please donate to this project.

All contributions are made payable to Logan's Fort/Lincoln County and sent to P.O.B. 1775, Stanford, KY 40484.

Today millions of American Citizens descend from settlers who came through Logan's Fort. These folks live in every state of our great Nation. We can pay tribute to all those pioneers, who traveled over the Wilderness Road and other trails, with the reconstruction of Logan's Fort. Millions of visitors will come back to see this mighty little fortress. They will learn more about the early history of Kentucky. They will learn that the road to statehood began at Logan's Fort. This Fort had a great impact not only on the making of the Commonwealth of Kentucky but the making of our Nation. It was one of the most important gateways to the west. We need your financial support. This mighty little fort is important to all Americans because it is our Heritage and "Our Heritage is the Key to Our Future".

Reference: Grant #3, Book 7, page 284 in Greene County 1784.

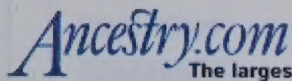

This information is of record for him is on file in Tennessee State Archives, Nashville, Tennessee. This Major David Wilson who was granted 2,000 acres for his service during the Revolutionary War then came into the Western district of Sumner County, North Carolina (now Tennessee) to lay claim to it in 1784. This Major David Wilson has been miss-portrayed, for his nephew David Wilson, the son of his brother Samuel Wilson (Sr.) and Mary Winslow Wilson. The State of Tennessee Archives shows his birth year as 1752, however I estimated to be ca.1749. Have not checked thoroughly the sons of Samuel Wilson (Sr.) and his 1st wife Mary Winslow but this David Wilson was the fourth child and second son born ca.1749 to them who has been portrayed wrongly as the Major David Wilson, his father's brother. This brother Samuel Wilson (Sr.) and his 1st wife Mary Winslow who had this son, David Wilson born ca.1749 goes on to marry Sallie McConnell in Rowan County, North Carolina and never came into Tennessee, in fact he helped handle his own father's estate after his death in March 13, 1778. This David Wilson born ca.1749 who then died there in 1820 was the David Wilson who had been portrayed as Major David Wilson who died December 29, 1803 in Sumner Co, Tennessee. All this can be seen and verified by records found in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina.

On the 21st of April 2003, my client, his wife and their three children were involved in a ghastly auto accident along Sagbama Express Road, and fortunately, all Occupants of the vehicle lost their lives.

Since then I have made several enquiries to your embassy to locate any of my client's extended relatives, this has also proved unsuccessful.

After these several unsuccessful attempts, I decided to track his last name over the Internet, to locate any member of his family or any close name to his, hence I contacted you. I am contacting you to assist in repatriating the money and property left behind by my client before they get confiscated or declared Unserviceable by the bank where this huge deposits were lodged, particularly the ACCESS BANK where the deceased had his account valued at about USD$5.3million dollars.

The bank has issued me a notice to provide the next of kin or have the account confiscated within the next twentyone official working days.

Since I have been unsuccessful in locating the the relatives for over 4 years now, I seek your consent to present you as the next of kin of the deceased since you have the same last name so that the proceeds of this account valued at USD$15.3.5 million dollars can be paid to you and then you and I can share the money according to any agreed ratio.

All I require is your honest co-operation to enable us see

What Can I Find in Kentucky Marriages, 1851-1900?

This volume includes the details of "white" marriages in Kentucky counties between 1851 and 1900. It includes many types of marriage records. Some of these include consent affidavits, marriage banns (this was a custom), marriage bonds, marriage licenses, and marriage certificates. The information provided on them will vary according to purpose and the year in which they were created, but almost all of them will at least include the names of the bride and groom and the date and place of the event. Occasionally the names of the couple's parents, ages of bride and groom, birthplaces of bride and groom, signature of the issuing clerk, and other information will also be found among marriage records.

Remember that an index entry is only a reference to more detailed information found in the marriage records themselves. It is important that researchers consult the actual marriage records to which these indexes point. The source information for your particular county of interest provided in the extended description on the page of this database to locate your ancestor's record.

About Cretan Diet

On an international scale there is much discussion about, and deep interest in, finding the ideal diet, which will improve the health of human beings warding off illnesses. Ever since antiquity, the traditional diet of Cretans seems to be just such a one, including all the right ingredients.

The Greek island of Crete has always been identified with healing and regeneration.

And once again, an ancient culture may offer lessons to the people of today!

Following scientific research and statistical analyses, the Cretan nutrition and diet proven to promote health and longevity. It consists almost exclusively of products people of Crete produce naturally. Products that only the island of Crete and its ideal conditions can offer.

it is not only the unique in taste and quality products but also their combination, with an enormous nutritional value and care in every Cretan dish.

A comparative study among several countries, which began in 1960 on behalf of the World Health Organization, has a group of about 700 Cretans living in the countryside under medical observation, checking the state of their health: so far this group had the lowest percentage of deaths caused by heart attacks and different kinds of cancer.

this study has also shown the Cretan population to be the longest living one. In 1991, thirty one years after the beginning of the study, the Social Health Science University of Crete undertook the medical checkup of the group, about 50% of them were still alive as opposed to the rest of the six participating countries where there was only a single survivor (even in the rest of Greece)! Until recently the diet was simple and consisted mainly of olive oil, which counted for the 1/3 of the individual's daily need in energy, but mainly bread, pulses, vegetables and fruit and, to a lesser degree, cheese, milk, and a little red wine with every meal.

Taking into account the conditions of today's life, we would recommend a return to traditional Cretan eating habits.

If someone decides to incorporate a Cretan-like diet, it is good to know the following

John Eye & his son had settled on Big Poplar Creek ^{now} in Whitley Co. were attacked by Cherokees in 1793. His boy was killed & he was wounded. Contrary to the accounts of Ky. historians, Eye killed several of the Indians & guarded the body of his son until help arrived. Eye had several musket balls which assisted him in repelling the Indians. It is said another son, Joshua Eye, who later helped defeat the British & Indians at the Battle of the Shames, would kill every Indian he met.

John Tye - land surveyed

The last two above indentures (deeds) were recorded on behalf of the orphans of Nathan Smith by Thomas Tench, who was one of the persons mentioned above as receiving payment from the estate of Richard James.

In the 1669 and 1703 documents, this land was called James His Chance; in the other two it was called Thornton's Park.

1707 rent roll for Dan shows:

290 acres Thomas Tench, Esq., for Nathan Rigby

100 acres Abraham Symons

Identifying John Turner is probably not possible. Skordas shows 12 men named John Turner who came into Maryland in the 1600s.

1. Mary James; m/1 3 Nov 1694 to Teague Tracy; d. by 18 Jun 1712 Baltimore Co.; m/2 by 22 Jul 1713 George Hitchcock; d. 1747; children from St. James Parish and Baltimore County Families:

GENEALOGY of the FAMILY of GIDEON GILPIN, Grandson of Joseph Gilpin, of Dorchester, in the County of Oxford,
England, who settled in Chester County,
Pennsylvania, in the year 1696
by Joseph Elliott Gilpin,
Baltimore, July, 1897

Richard de Gylpyn, to whom, in the reign of King John about the year 1206, the Baron of Kendal, who could neither read nor write and had taken Richard to Runnymede with him as secretary, granted the estate of Kentmere in Westmoreland County, was the first of the family of whom we have authentic knowledge. This grant, situated about ten miles from Lake Windermere, containing about four thousand acres, was a reward for the signal courage displayed in slaying a wild boar which had committed great devastation in Cumberland and Westmoreland Counties. He adopted for his arms "In field Or a Sanglier or Boar, statant, sable, langued and tusked gules." It is probable that the first of the family, which is of Norman origin, who settled in England came in the train of William the Conqueror, for we find the following record of its origin in an old poem:

Bert de Gylpyn, drew of Normandie
From Walchelin his gentle blood;
Who haply heard by Bewleys sea,
The Angevins' bugles in the wood.
His crest, the rebus of his name
A pineapple--a pine of gold.
Was it his Norman shield,
Sincere in word and deed, his fame extolled.
But Richard having killed the boar,
With crested arm an olive shook
And sable boar on field of Or
For impresse on his shield he took.
And well he won his honest arms,
And well he won his Kentmere lands.
He won them not in wars alarms,
Nor dipt in human blood his hands.

The name was gradually modernized by dropping the "de" and changing the "y" to "i". They have always been prominent as statesmen, warriors, and divines, and have had considerable influence in the advancement of learning and art. Many of the ecclesiastical writings of Bernard and others were held in high esteem and are examples of a masterly presentation of the subject. The estate was increased in the reign of Henry III by the grant, by Peter de Bruys, of the Manor of Ulwithwaite to Richard the grandson of the first of that name. This grant, written in Latin, is still preserved by the English head of the family, Edwin, who married Margaret Layton, was the father of ten children, two of whom won great renown, one as a diplomat, and the other as a minister. George, the first of these, was Minister to the Hague during Queen Elizabeth's reign and was commissioned to form an alliance with the Dutch [one and

"At once there rose so wild a yell,
Within that dark and narrow dell,
As all the fiends from heaven that fell,
Had pealed the banner cry of hell."

At such times the whole air seemed to be filled with the vibrations of their most infernal and diabolical music. The wolf was not only a midnight prowler here, but was seen in the daytime, singly or in packs, warily skulking upon the outskirts of a thicket, or sallying cautiously along the open path, with a sneaking look of mingled cowardice and cruelty.

REMINISCENCES.

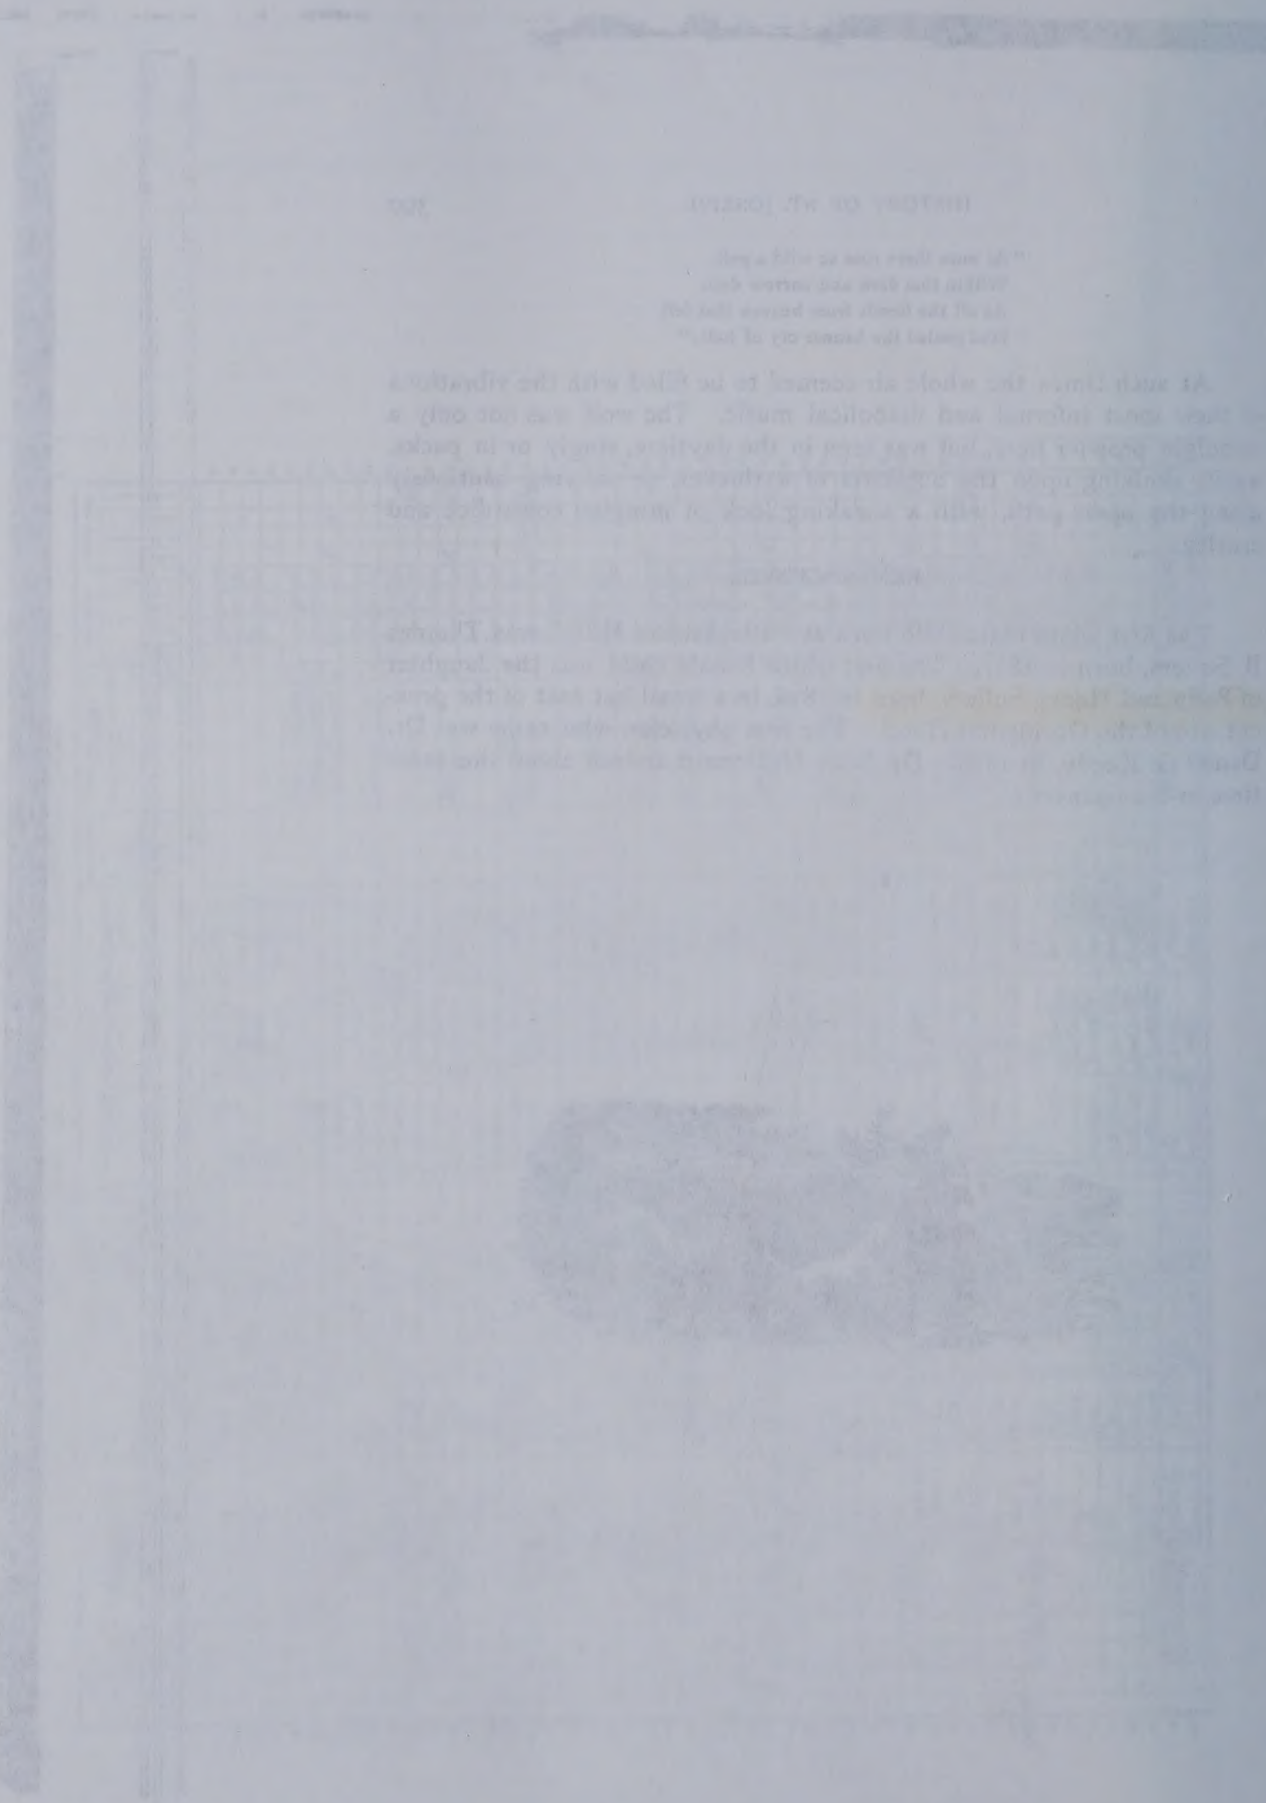

The first white male child born at "Blacksnake Hills" was Thomas B. Sollers, born in 1837. The first white female child was the daughter of Polly and Henry Sollers, born in 1838, in a small hut east of the present site of the Occidental Hotel. The first physician who came was Dr. Daniel G. Keedy, in 1838. Dr. Silas McDonald arrived about the same time in the county.

industry, he could the more successfully increase his own store and provide a competency for old age.

What must have been the nature of his lonely musings during the long and weary years of his isolation from early friends and associates, it is difficult to imagine. Suffice it to say, with a fortitude unsurpassed, and a tenacity of purpose which knew no defeat, he patiently bided his time, never dreaming in the early years of his voluntary exilement, that he was destined to be the founder of a populous and prosperous city.

For many years, the solitary log cabin of Joseph Robidoux was the only evidence of the presence of civilized man within a radius of fifty miles. Time rolled on. With every puffing steamer, that ascended the turbid waters of the Missouri, came the emigrant and the adventurer, seeking homes in the wilds of the far west. Embryo settlements had been made along the banks of the great river in Jackson, Clay and other counties.

Northwestern Missouri, including what was afterwards known as the "Platte Purchase," had been seen by the emigrant. Favorable reports had been made of its great beauty, its rich prairies, its fertile valleys, its bountiful supply of timber, and of its perennial springs and numerous water courses.

A few families from Franklin County, Missouri, consisting of Thomas and Henry Sollers, Elisha Gladden, Jane Purget and a few others, ventured hither between 1834 and 1836, and located near the post.

One of these pioneers who came in 1834, was immediately employed by Mr. Robidoux.

ROBIDOUX' HOME.

The only building that stood upon the present town site of St. Joseph, at that time, was the log house of Joseph Robidoux. It occupied the spot where the Occidental Hotel now stands—on the northwest corner of Jule and Second Streets, and was a building of considerable magnitude. It stood east and west, was a story and a-half high, and contained nine rooms, three of which were above and six below. A covered porch was built on the south side, extending the entire length of the building. On the north side was a shed, divided into three rooms. The west room of this shed was used by Mr. Robidoux as his sleeping apartment. His store-room was the middle room of the main building, the entrance to which was through a door at the east end, first passing through an outer room to reach it.

He had in his employ at the time, fifteen or twenty men who were French. These men were regularly sent east on mules toward Grand River, or west beyond the Missouri, for the purpose of trading with the Indians and bringing in furs.

Yes, I do have a backup. Will I need to reinstall my files from the backup and if so, how do I do that? I have Windows XP and it doesn't seem to be as compatible with BK as Windows 95 and 98. We have lost power before and I had no problem, also last week I lost the files in my database after sending a gedcom file. This makes me wonder about Windows XP. Is there any way to prevent this from happening?

Thank you!

Shirley Hannaford

Are you using BK5 or BK6? BK 6.1 is better with Win XP

To restore files, pick File, Restore database

You should never loose files, so when you say you lost files after sending a gedcom file, do you mean you got an error or do you mean you can not find your database? If you can not find it (if it says 0 names) then let me know and I will help you find it.

	Name	age	Born
123-123	Edwards, Martha	55	N.C.
	" Joseph H.	19	Ill.
	" John W.	17	"

Martha states that she is widowed. Also that both parents were born in North Carolina, also. Joseph H. is a farmer and his father was born in Va. and his mother in N.C. Same for John W.

125-125	Isaac W. Edwards	31	In.
	Mary E. "	26	ILL.
	Alsi (?)	4	"
	Estillie	2	"
	John A. L.	6 mo.	"

The above Isaac is Robert's older brother. He too says that his father is born in Va. and his mother is born in N.C. I have finally decided that John was born in Va. West Virginia that is. Probably not a brother to the Isaac Edwards that came up to Clay Co. from Orange Co., In. John might very well have lived in Lawrence Co., In. for the length of time he lived in Indiana. But still, it may have been Orange Co.

Im still wondering about the given name of Roby. That has been used twice. I did work on a Roby line that migrated from Maryland to Bourbon Co., Ky. I believe this Edwards ^(sins) line lived for a few years in Ky. before moving to In. In 1830 there was an Isaac and a Thomas Edwards in Boubon Co. But that doesn't necessarily mean anything. So, I guess we'll just have to wait and see.

WHO'S TALKING

Many subdivisions now nestled among original land grants

What were North Carolina land grants? Where were they located, and who were entitled to them?

Tennessee was a part of North Carolina until it became a state in 1796. At that time North Carolina extended all the way to the Mississippi River. Its western lands were largely unpopulated. When the Revolutionary War began to wind down, it became apparent that the colonies were going to win their independence. North Carolina found its coffers drained and its soldiers unpaid. It hit upon the idea of awarding them land in the western part of the state in exchange for military services.

North Carolina selected an area in Middle Tennessee, which it called the Military Reserve, in which to award land grants. In included what is now all of the Middle Tennessee counties. In 1783, the North Carolina Legislature set up the mechanism for awarding land grants to its soldiers. The amount of land depended upon the soldier's rank. The basic size was 640 acres, a square mile, for privates. It went up from there. It is not to be assumed that the land grants were free. Indeed, they were awarded for military service. It came to be that land grants were offered to services rendered in the state of North Carolina for services other than military services. There were surveyors, chain carriers, guards, cooks and other people who were also paid in land.

Not all of the soldiers who received land grants were interested in moving to Middle Tennessee. Many of them sold their rights to receive land grants. They sold them to people who were interested in moving. Selling land grants became a brisk business. Some grants were subdivided into small tracts, making them more salable. Henry Coffee received a 640-acre land grant along what is now Concord Road in east Brentwood. He divided it into three tracts and sold them to would-be settlers. The west tract went to Gensham Hunt. It is now Chenoweth and other subdivisions along Edmondson Pike. The middle section went to John Edmondson. It is now Beech Grove subdivision. The east tract went to Nimrod Fielder. It is now Bonbrook subdivision.

Those who had money were able to accumulate large tracts of land. The Crockett brothers — Andrew, John and James — bought at least five 640-acre tracts. Those tracts included what is now the Brentwood Country Club, Brenthaven, Crockett Springs, Crockett Park and other subdivisions. Green Hill was a major in the North Carolina Militia. He received several hundred acres for his military service. He chose not to settle on any of those tracts of land, however. Instead, he bought land that is now Liberty Downs and Indian Point.

Robert Irvin was a general. He received a huge tract of land. He was comfortable in his North Carolina home. So, he gave a part of that land to his daughter Eleanor, who had married James Moore. They brought their family to Brentwood. Their son built the

Some North Carolina land grants were given to the heirs of those killed in Indian raids. Such was the case of James Leiper. He was one of the earliest settlers of Nashville. He married Susan Drake in the first marriage ceremony east of the Allegheny Mountains. He was killed in the Battle of the Bluffs, an Indian raid on newly settled Fort Nashboro. His daughter received his land grant. She married Alexander Smith. They had daughters who built the Paul Harmon House (Twenty Six Trees), Ashlawn on Franklin Road and Green Pastures, the Cal Turner place.

The Mayfields were one of the few families who settled on land actually awarded to them. It was on what is now Old Smyrna Road. They built a fort there. But their tenure did not last long. James Mayfield was killed in an Indian raid. Mrs. Mayfield found another husband, sold the property and moved on.

Another important kind of land grant in the Brentwood area was the Preemption Grant. They were awarded to the first settlers, who were on their land by 1780. They were mostly people who had come with the Donelson and Robertson groups in 1779 and 1780. They came with the understanding that they would get land from the Transylvania Co., the sponsor of the groups of settlers. It turned out that the Transylvania Co. was not able to get good title to land. Accordingly, the settl could not get good title either. In order to rectify the situation, the North Carolina Legislature passed a law saying that anyone who was living on land in 1780 and had made improvement, such as building a house, would get a pre-emption grant to the land. So North Carolina families were close to the legislative process got wind of the fact that the grants were going to be made. In order to take advantage of the situation, they would send a family representative and occupy the land and build a house, thus entitling them to a pre-emption grant. Some of those who got pre-emption grants in Brentwood were James Henderson, Andrew Crockett, John Crockett, James Crockett, John Crockett, Daniel Dunham, Christoph Funkhouser and James M. Field.

There were lots of shenanigans associated with the North Carolina land grant system. There were fraudulent schemes and illegal deals. The period is called the North Carolina Land Grab.
